Through the labrynth of the laboratory moves the myopic mind of man

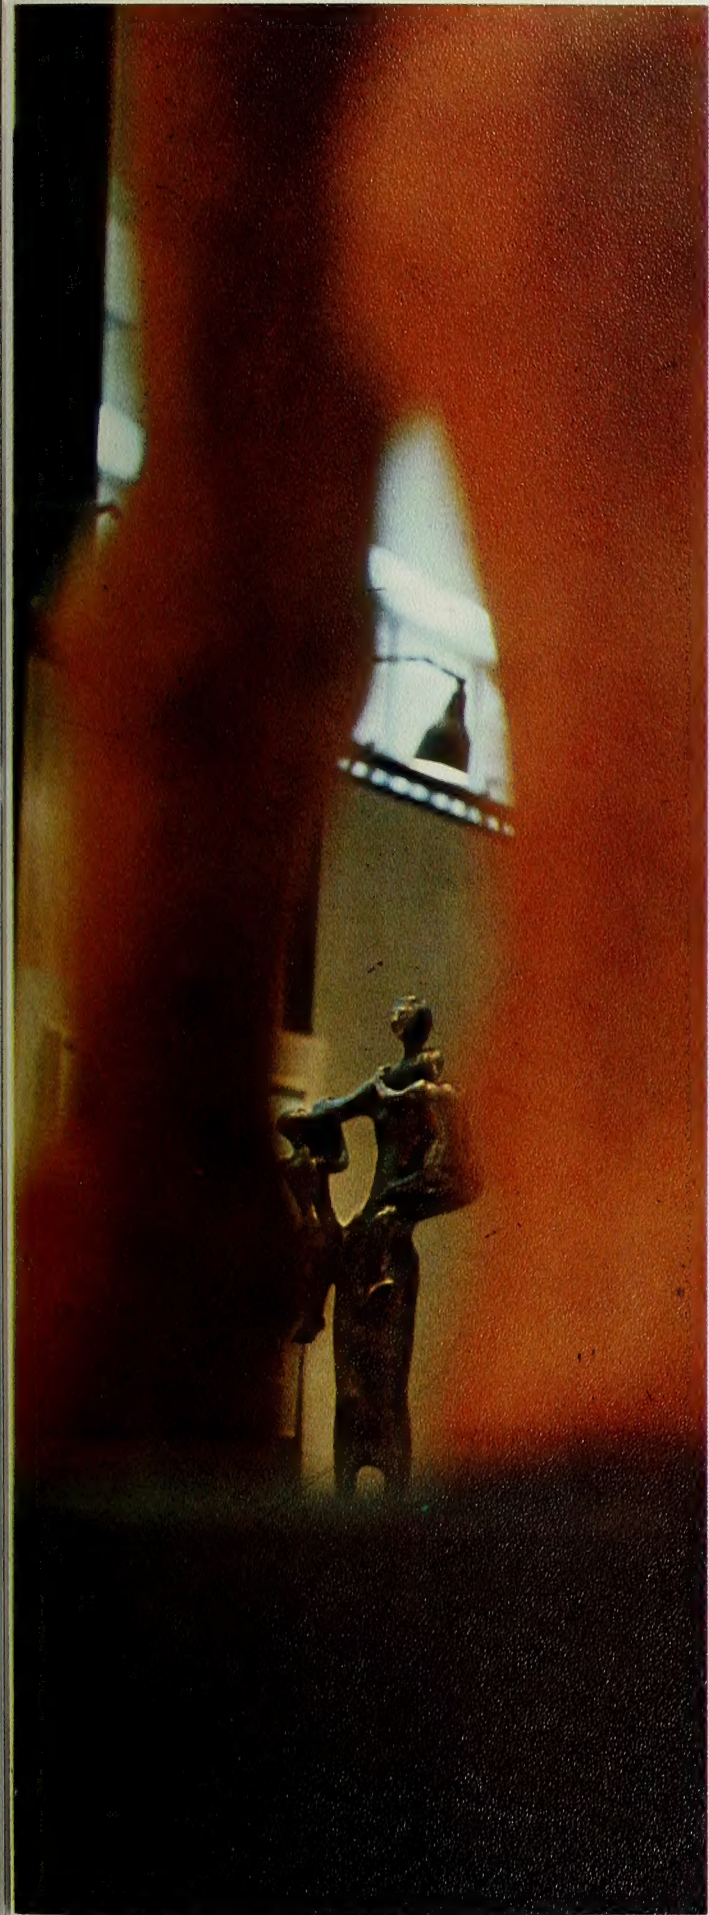

The mind and muscle of man are molded to maturity

From the stuttering symphonies of the amateur have developed artists progressing to perfection

Through his contributions man increases his capacity to contribute

Through his hours of relaxation he relieves his academic anxieties

in a special moment the spell of emotion may excite or subdue the mind

Through vivid spectacle the student may be stirred from apathy to awareness to action

From the shadowy recesses the soul expands beyond the infinite inanities

Spirituality spans the chasm from unpretentious pride . . .

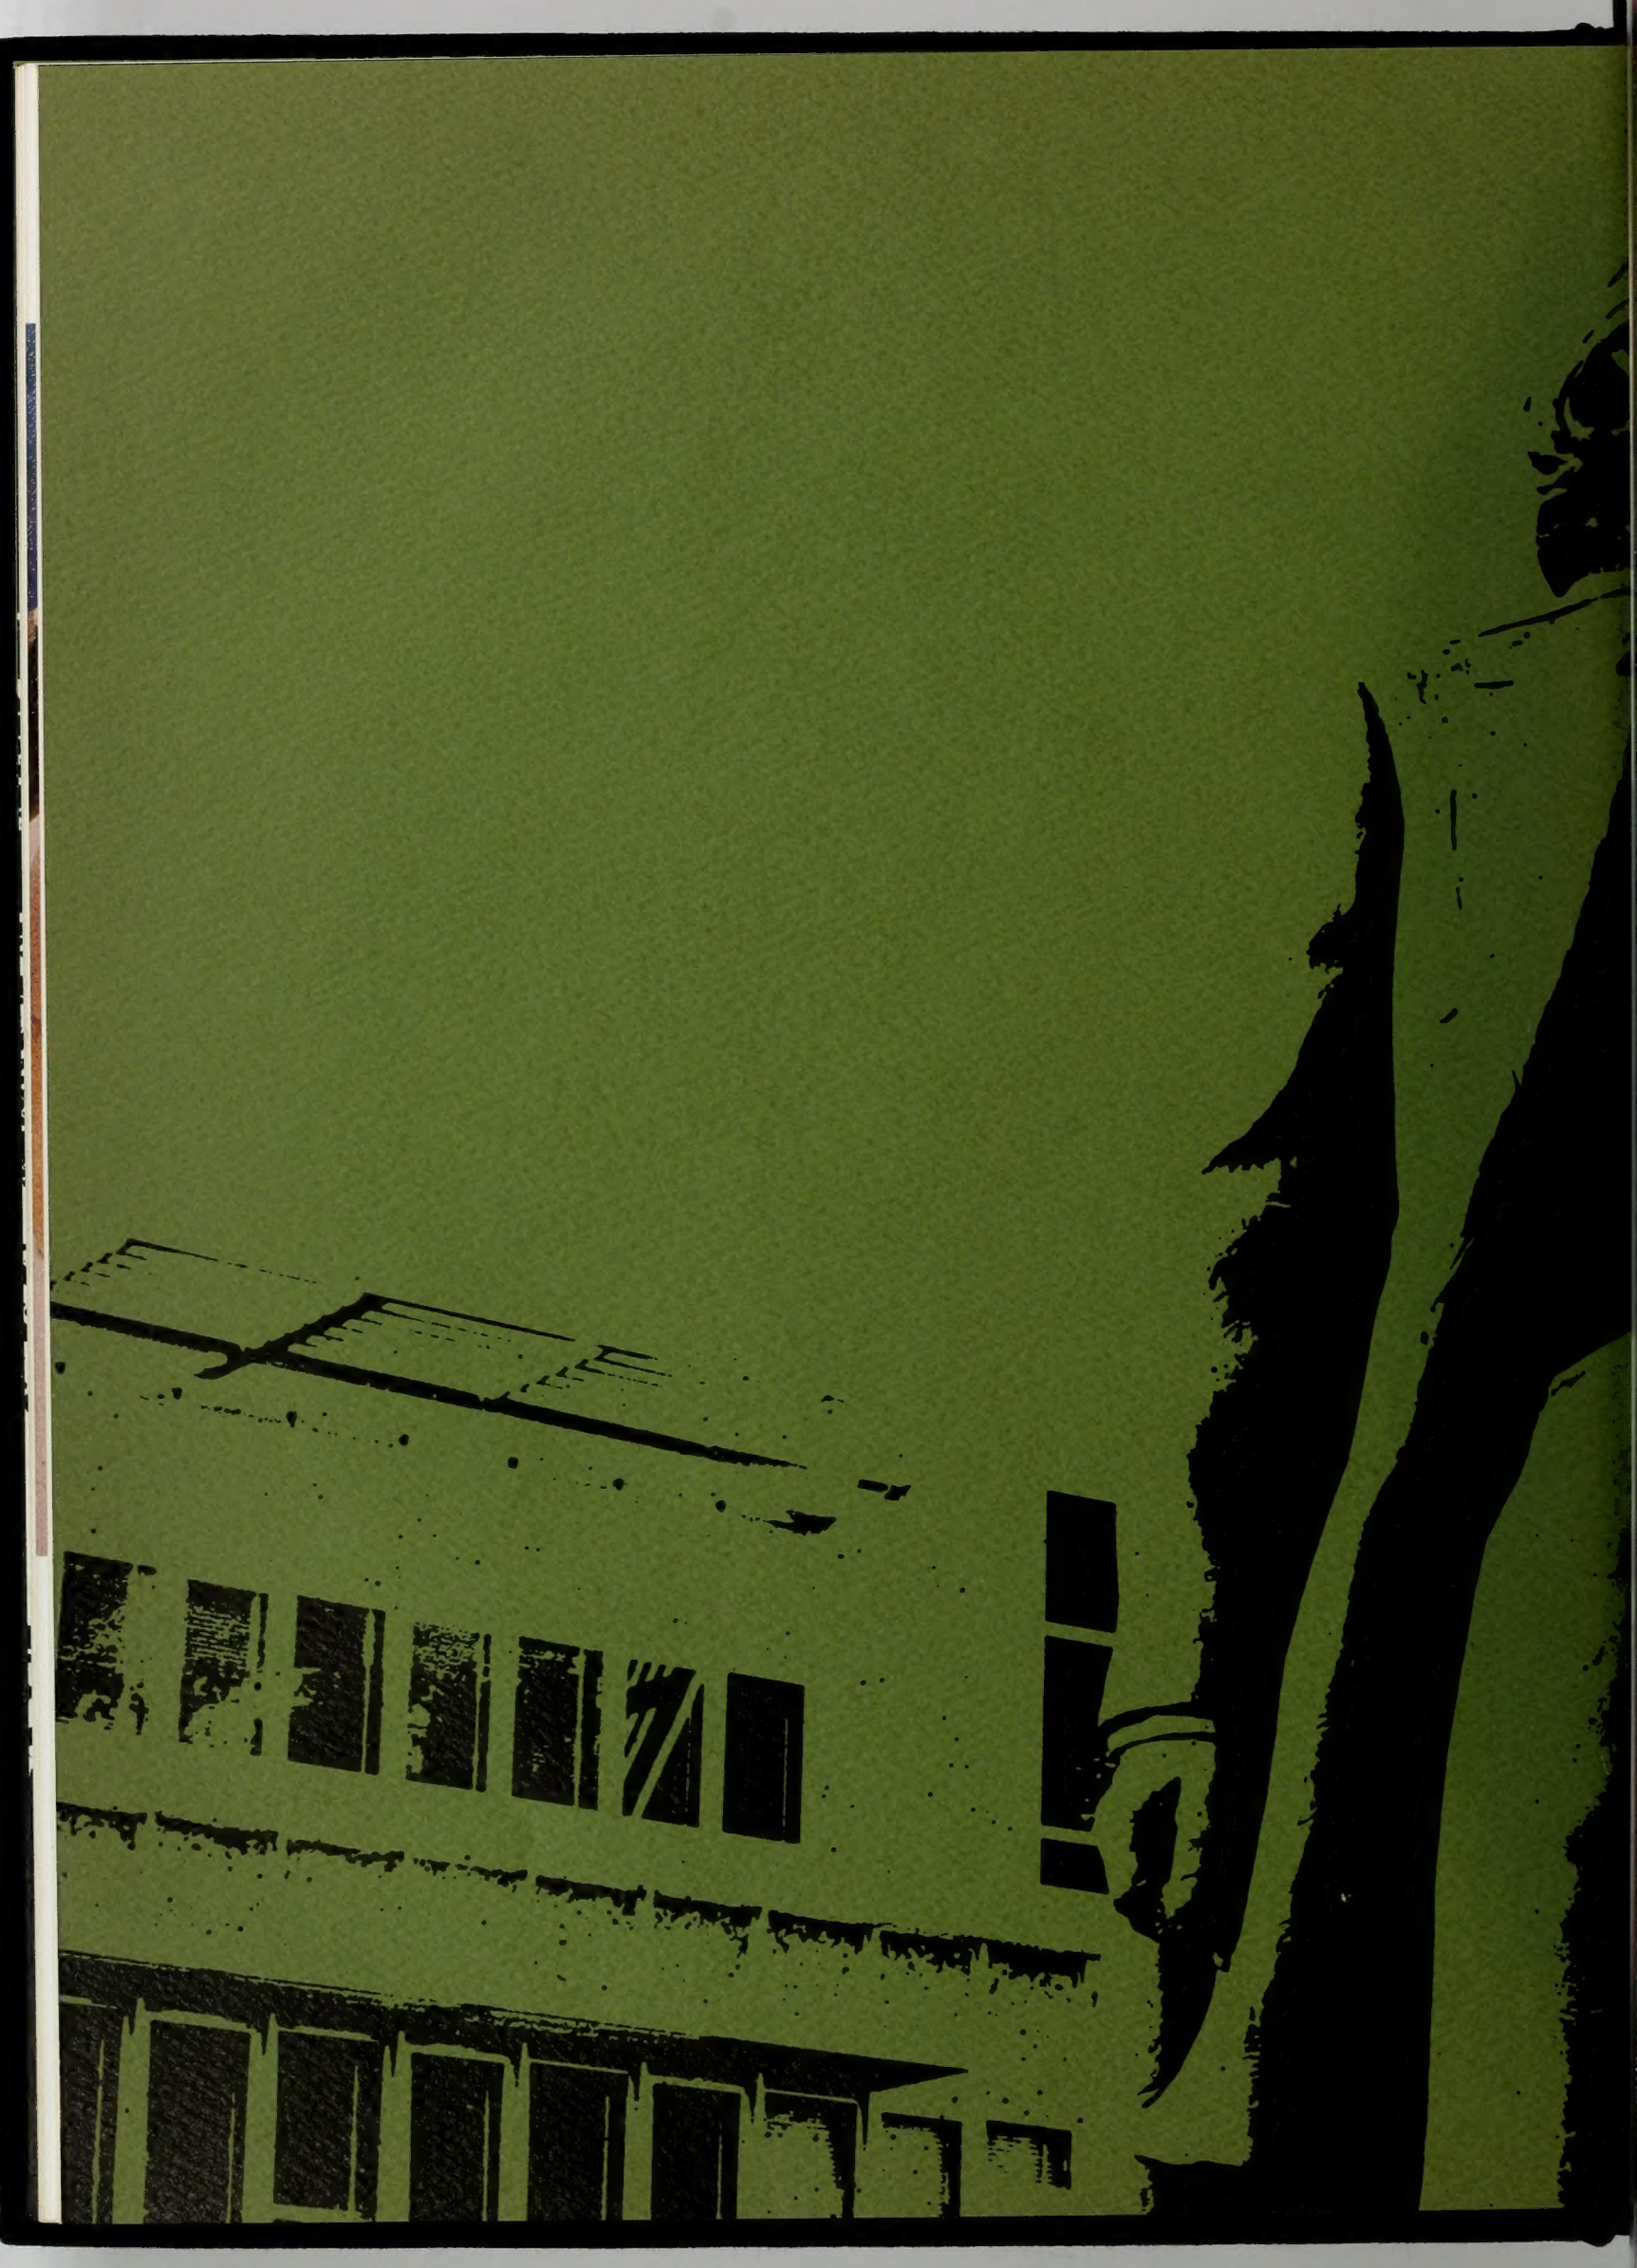

to prayer.

PRESIDENT McKAY

The brief facts of President David O. McKay's life began with his birth in Huntsville, Utah in 1873. There he grew in stature until 1893 when he left the family farm to earn a degree from the University of Utah. He then served an LDS mission to his ancestral home of Ireland and on his return, married his sweetheart, Emma Ray Riggs in the Salt Lake Temple in 1901. Continuing his service to the church, he became President of the Saints at the age of 78.

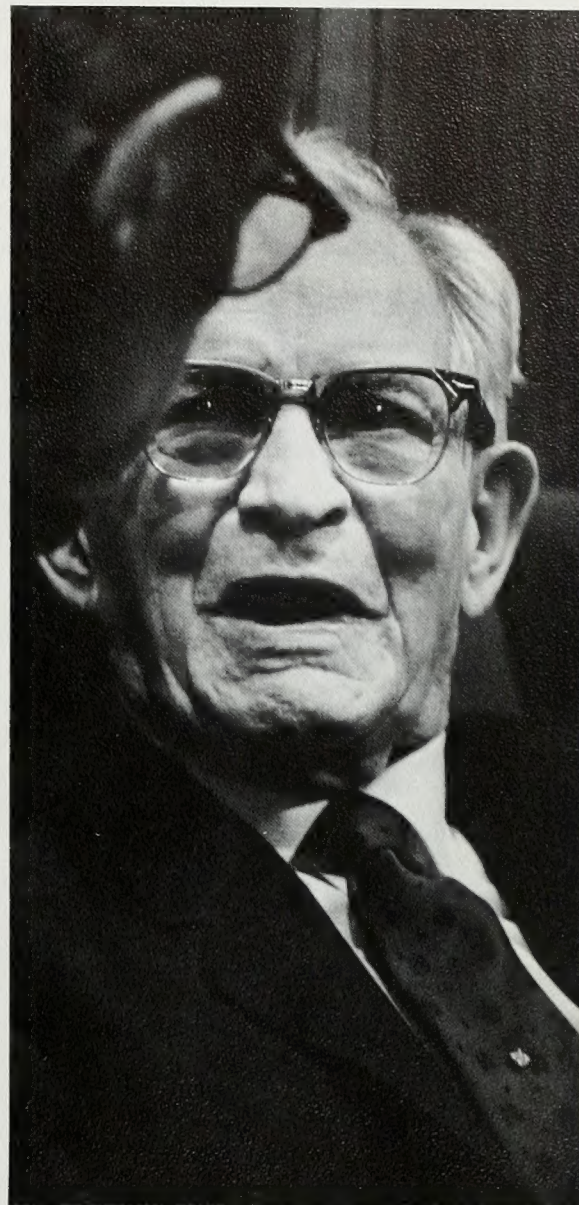

But this was not how BYU students knew President McKay during the year of 1968. We knew him as the man-example. He represented the ideal family man, the enduring friend, the devoted educator, the gentle but fervent executive, the untiring spiritual leader. Although his 93 year old frame was weakened from his abundantly active life, his mind, wit and spirit were strong and vigorous examples to us.

To the students of BYU he was an edifice of encouragement throughout the year. "There is something within each man which urges him to rise above himself to control his environment, to master the body and all things physical and live in a higher and more beautiful world. There is in man a divinity which strives to push him onward and upward."

President David O. McKay's life has spanned a generation of fantastic change. He saw as a boy the day of the horse and buggy and as a man the world of space exploration. From his youth, President McKay watched the world revolve from peace to war to peace. He heard philosophers cry "God is Dead." The pace of the world steadily increased but in the face of all this distraction he never lost sight of the eternal values.

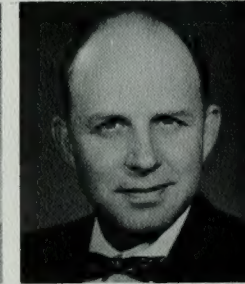

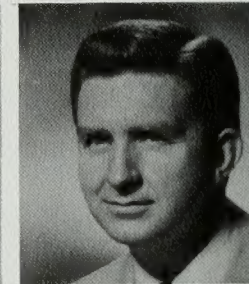

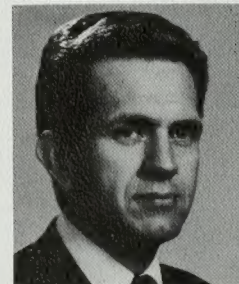

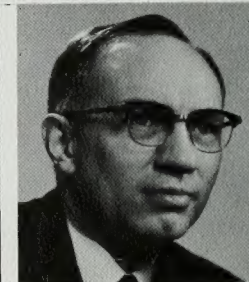

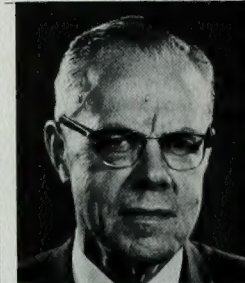

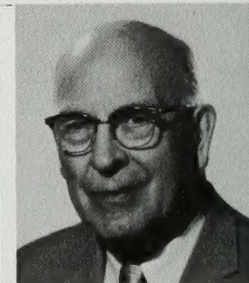

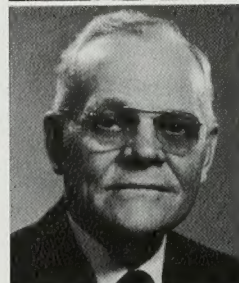

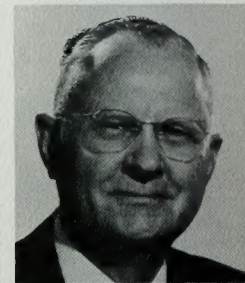

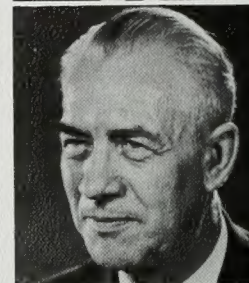

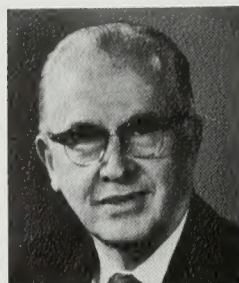

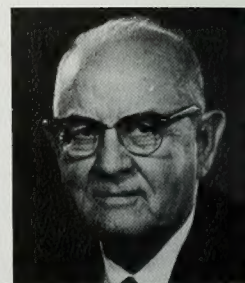

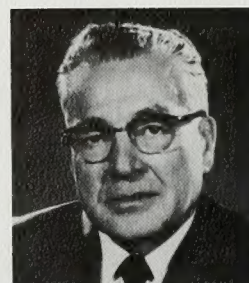

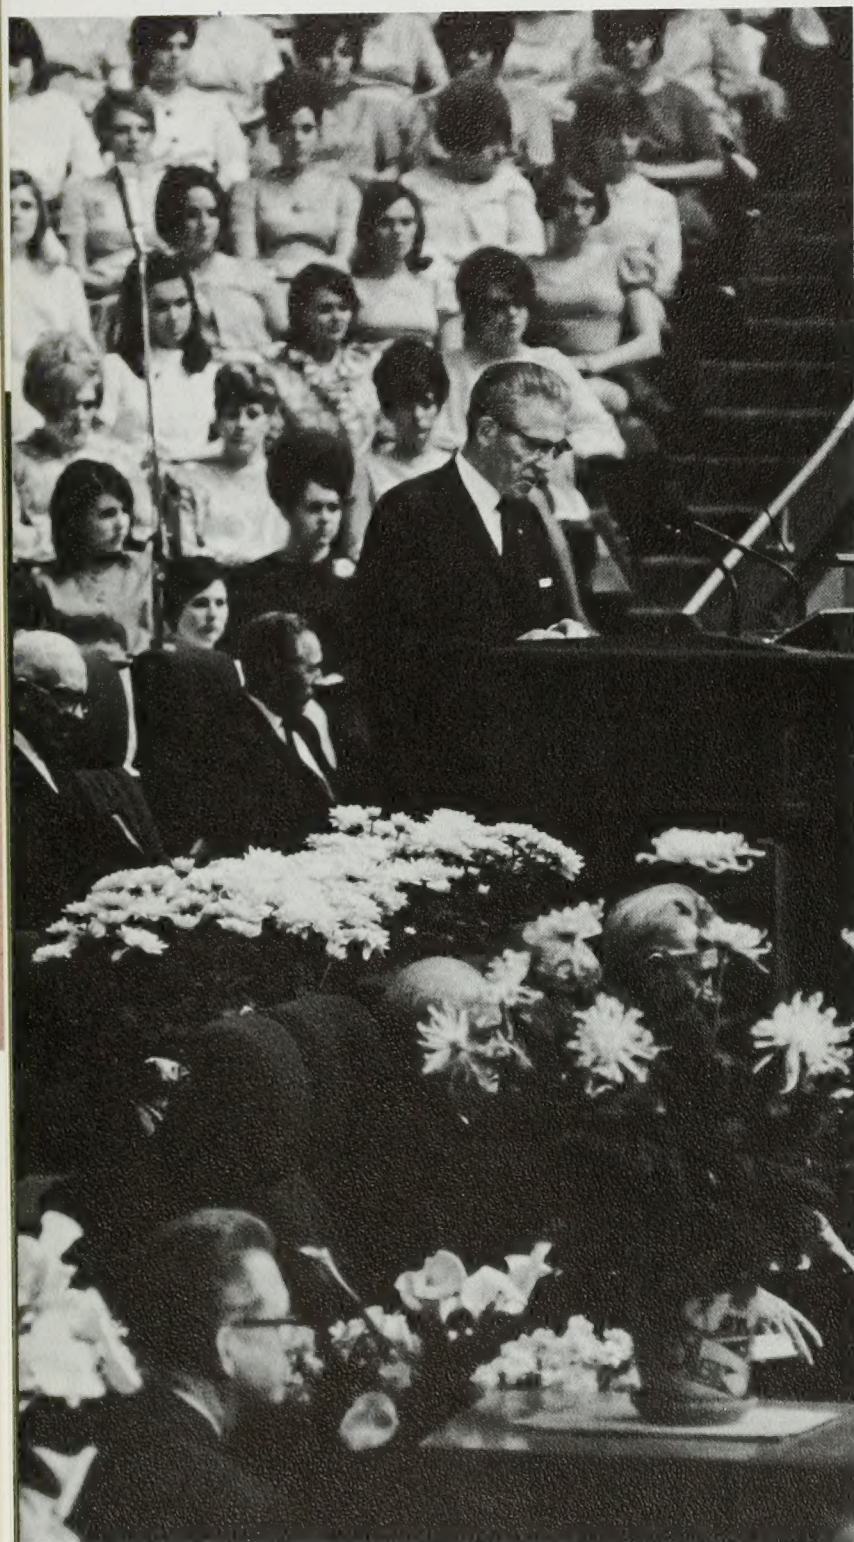

This man is David Oman McKay, President of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. When he taught in a classroom his students found him a constant inspiration. As one of his students wrote: "Fortunate are the students registered in his classes; for when he taught religion he gave truths he believed and had proved in practice. His moral teachings had behind them all the force of a perfect, moral life."

This is Emma Ray Riggs McKay. Of her, on their 50th wedding anniversary he said, "But some things grow sweeter as years come and go. For in essence they're really divine. . . . For these virtues transcendent are thine."

UNIVERSITY DIRECTED BY SPIRITUAL MEN

Of wide experience, the men of the Board of Trustees are a unique guiding body for Brigham Young University. Being men of God, they set the spiritual tone for the University. The First Presidency and the Council of the Twelve Apostles make up the Board of Trustees with President David O. McKay serving as chairman. The Board formulated policies and oversaw the operation of school affairs. Watching over the tremendous expansion of educational facilities during recent years, the Board of Trustees tried to provide the best in continued intellectual and spiritual growth for the multitude of students who attended the University.

WILKINSON: THE MAN WHO BUILDS BYU

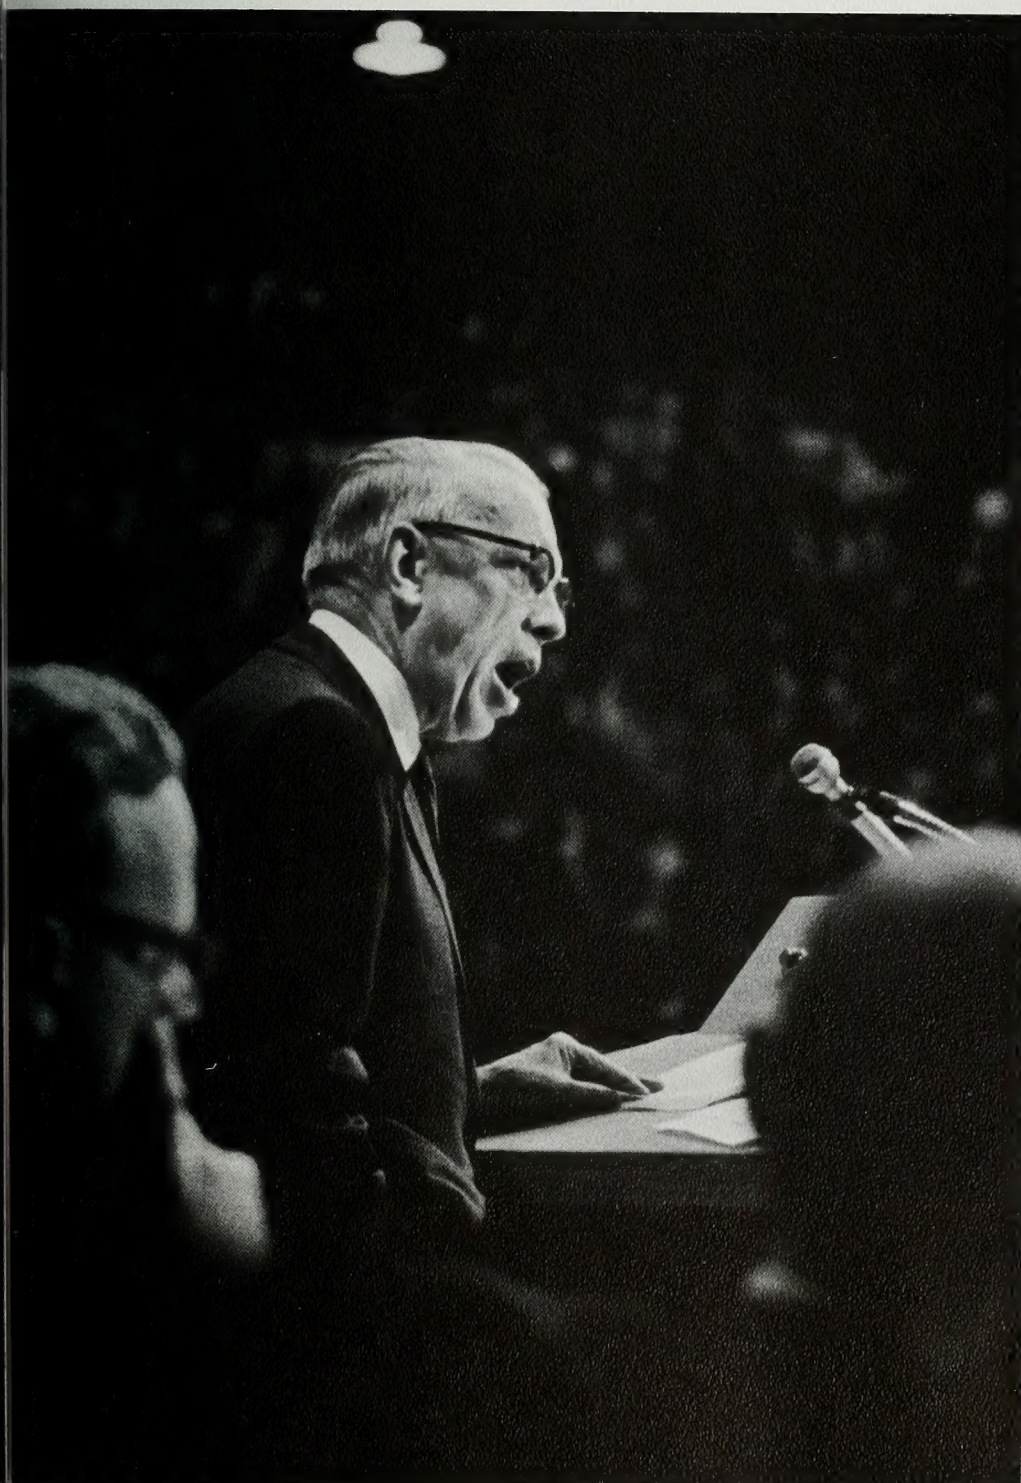

President Ernest L. Wilkinson was a man of tireless dedication. He was an educator and a friend of the twenty thousand students that he directed at BYU. He had a keen interest in politics, affairs of state, and sports.

A 1921 graduate of Brigham Young University, a summa cum laude graduate of George Washington University Law School, Dr. Wilkinson received his doctorate degree from Harvard University and then practiced with a law firm in Washington, D.C., for many years.

During his administration, BYU has become the largest university in the Great Basin and the largest church-affiliated university in the nation. President Wilkinson has placed great emphasis on scholarship by completely revising curriculum and expanding the original five colleges to thirteen.

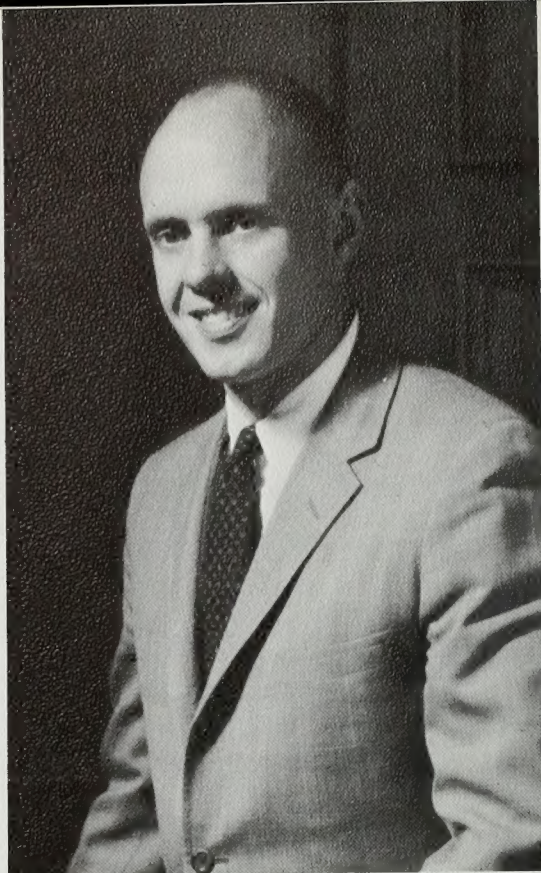

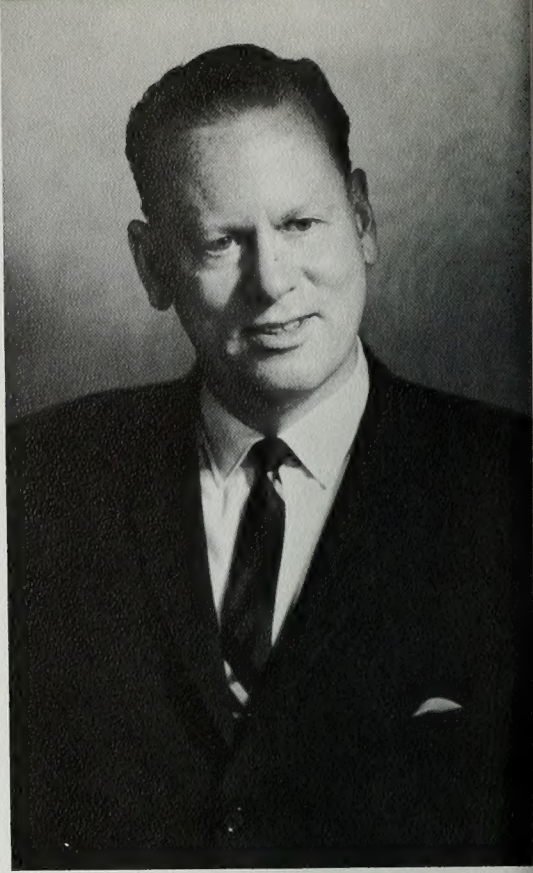

President Wilkinson counsels: "Grasp all of the opportunities that present themselves. Don't shrink from decisions; but do it cautiously and prayerfully, with all the advice you can get: But don't shun it." And: "I want to bear you my testimony that if you develop the habit of work, it will be the most invigorating, satisfying, even relaxing and greatest blessing of your life. The opportunity to work is God's greatest blessing to mankind, and this means six days of each week."

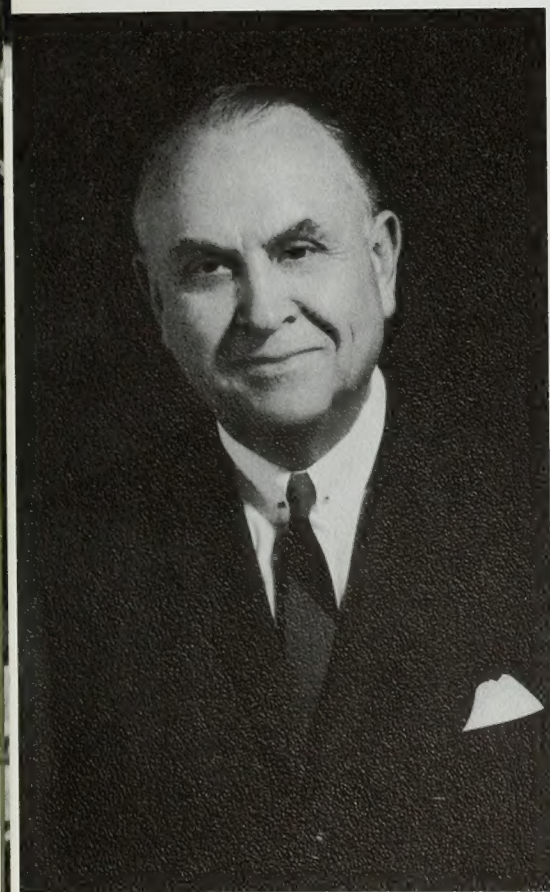

A former ASBYU president, Ben E. Lewis serves as Vice-President of Business Affairs at BYU. Besides being President of the East Sharon Stake, he heads a family of three children.

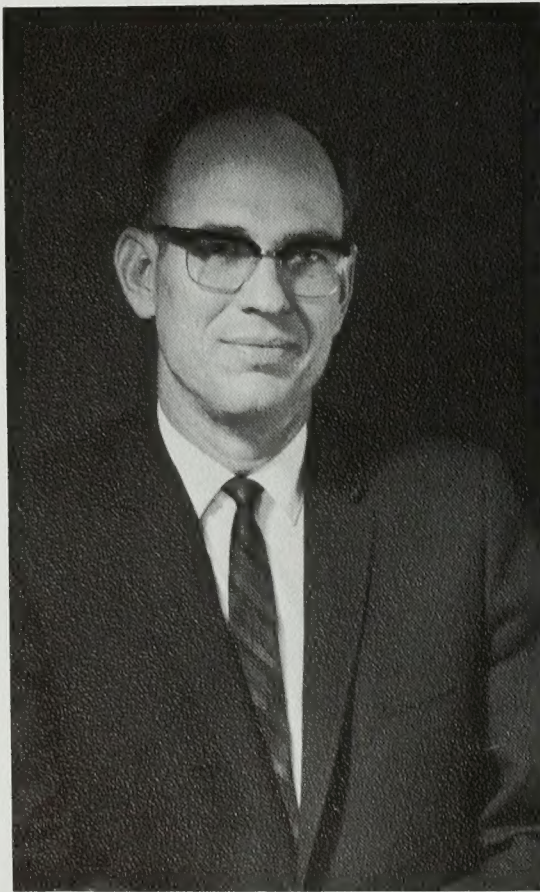

Former head of the Irish Mission Stephen R. Covey is Administrative Assistant to the President and Director of University Relations. This post graduate of Harvard has five children.

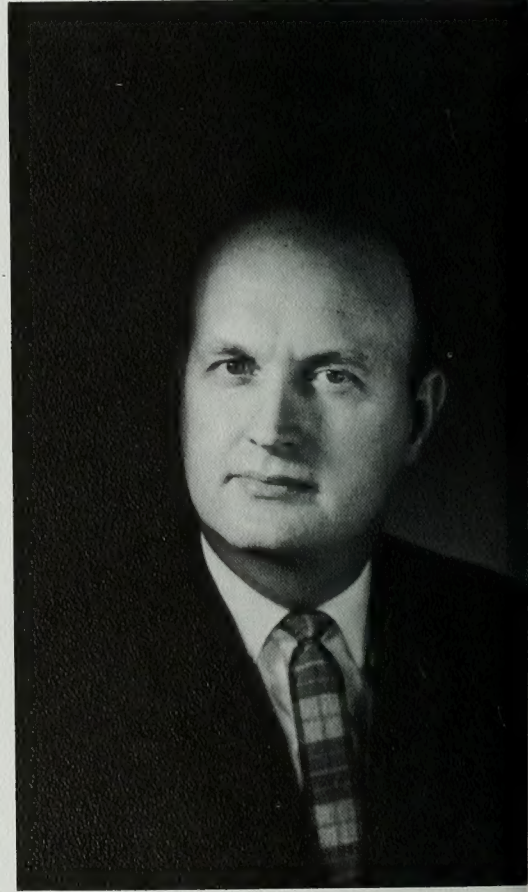

Composer of "The Old Y Bell," Clyde R. Sandgren fills the position of Vice-President and General Counsel. Father of six children, he also serves as BYU Second Stake President.

For twelve years Assistant to the President David B. Haight served as President of the Palo Alto Stake. This former mayor of Palo Alto has three children and 9 grandchildren.

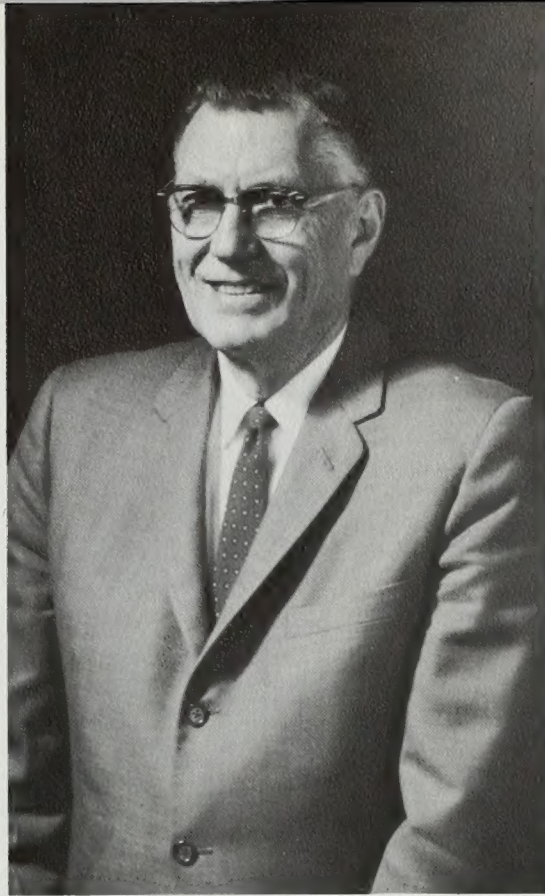

Director of University Development Raymond E. Beckham received the alumni Distinguished Service Award for his contributions. He is BYU First Stake President and father of five children.

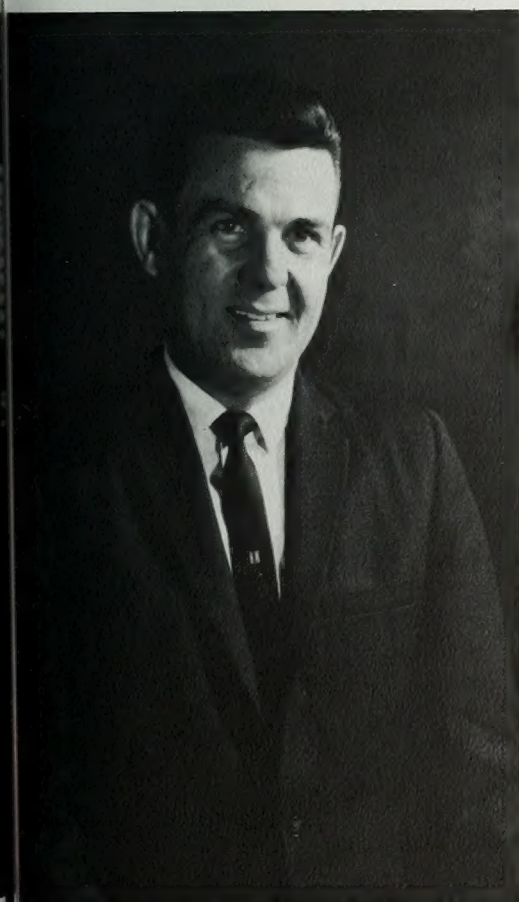

Recipient of the Karl G. Maeser Award for Distinguished Teaching, Professor of English Robert K. Thomas directs the Honors Program as Assistant Academics Vice-President.

Dean A. Peterson, father of six, was head of the Norwegin Mission before becoming Administrative Assistant at BYU. He is also Director of Summer School and BYU Seventh Stake President.

Academic Vice-President since 1957 Earl C. Crockett resigned his post this year to return to teaching economics. A former legislative consultant, he is the father of four children.

With administrative experience from San Jose State College, William R. Siddoway is Dean of Admissions and Records. This President of the BYU Fourth Stake also has three children.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES COORDINATED BY STUDENT SERVICES

For us it begins with registration, but we feel the presence of the Student Services' personnel throughout the year. Sometimes it is difficult to recognize because it comes in so many varied forms. Remember the trip to the health center for flu shots, or that little slip of paper on your car for parking in the three minute loading zone? Some of us may recognize the long white envelopes from academic standards, but there are some more difficult to see. The huge library in the center of the campus is often taken for granted. It, too, is under the direction of the student services.

J. Elliot Cameron, Dean of Students, serves as coordinator of this group, and recommends any needed policies and procedure changes in student life to the President and his Administrative Council.

EXPANDING COLLEGE DOES EXTENSIVE RESEARCH

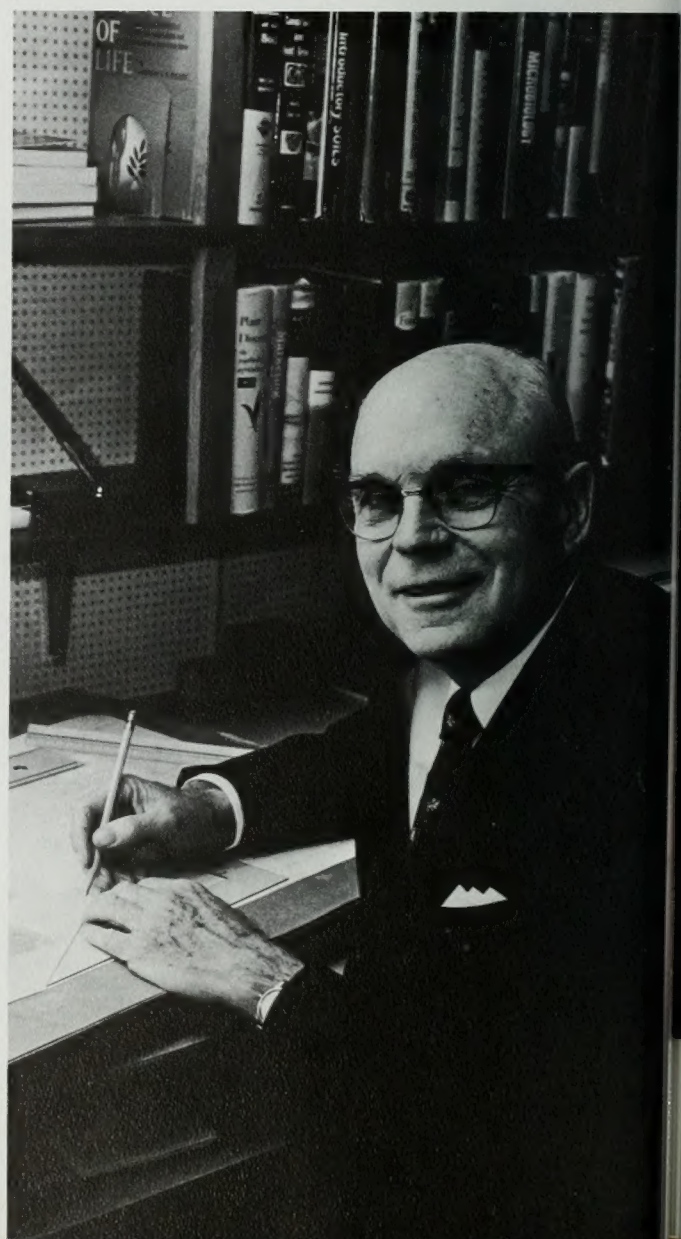

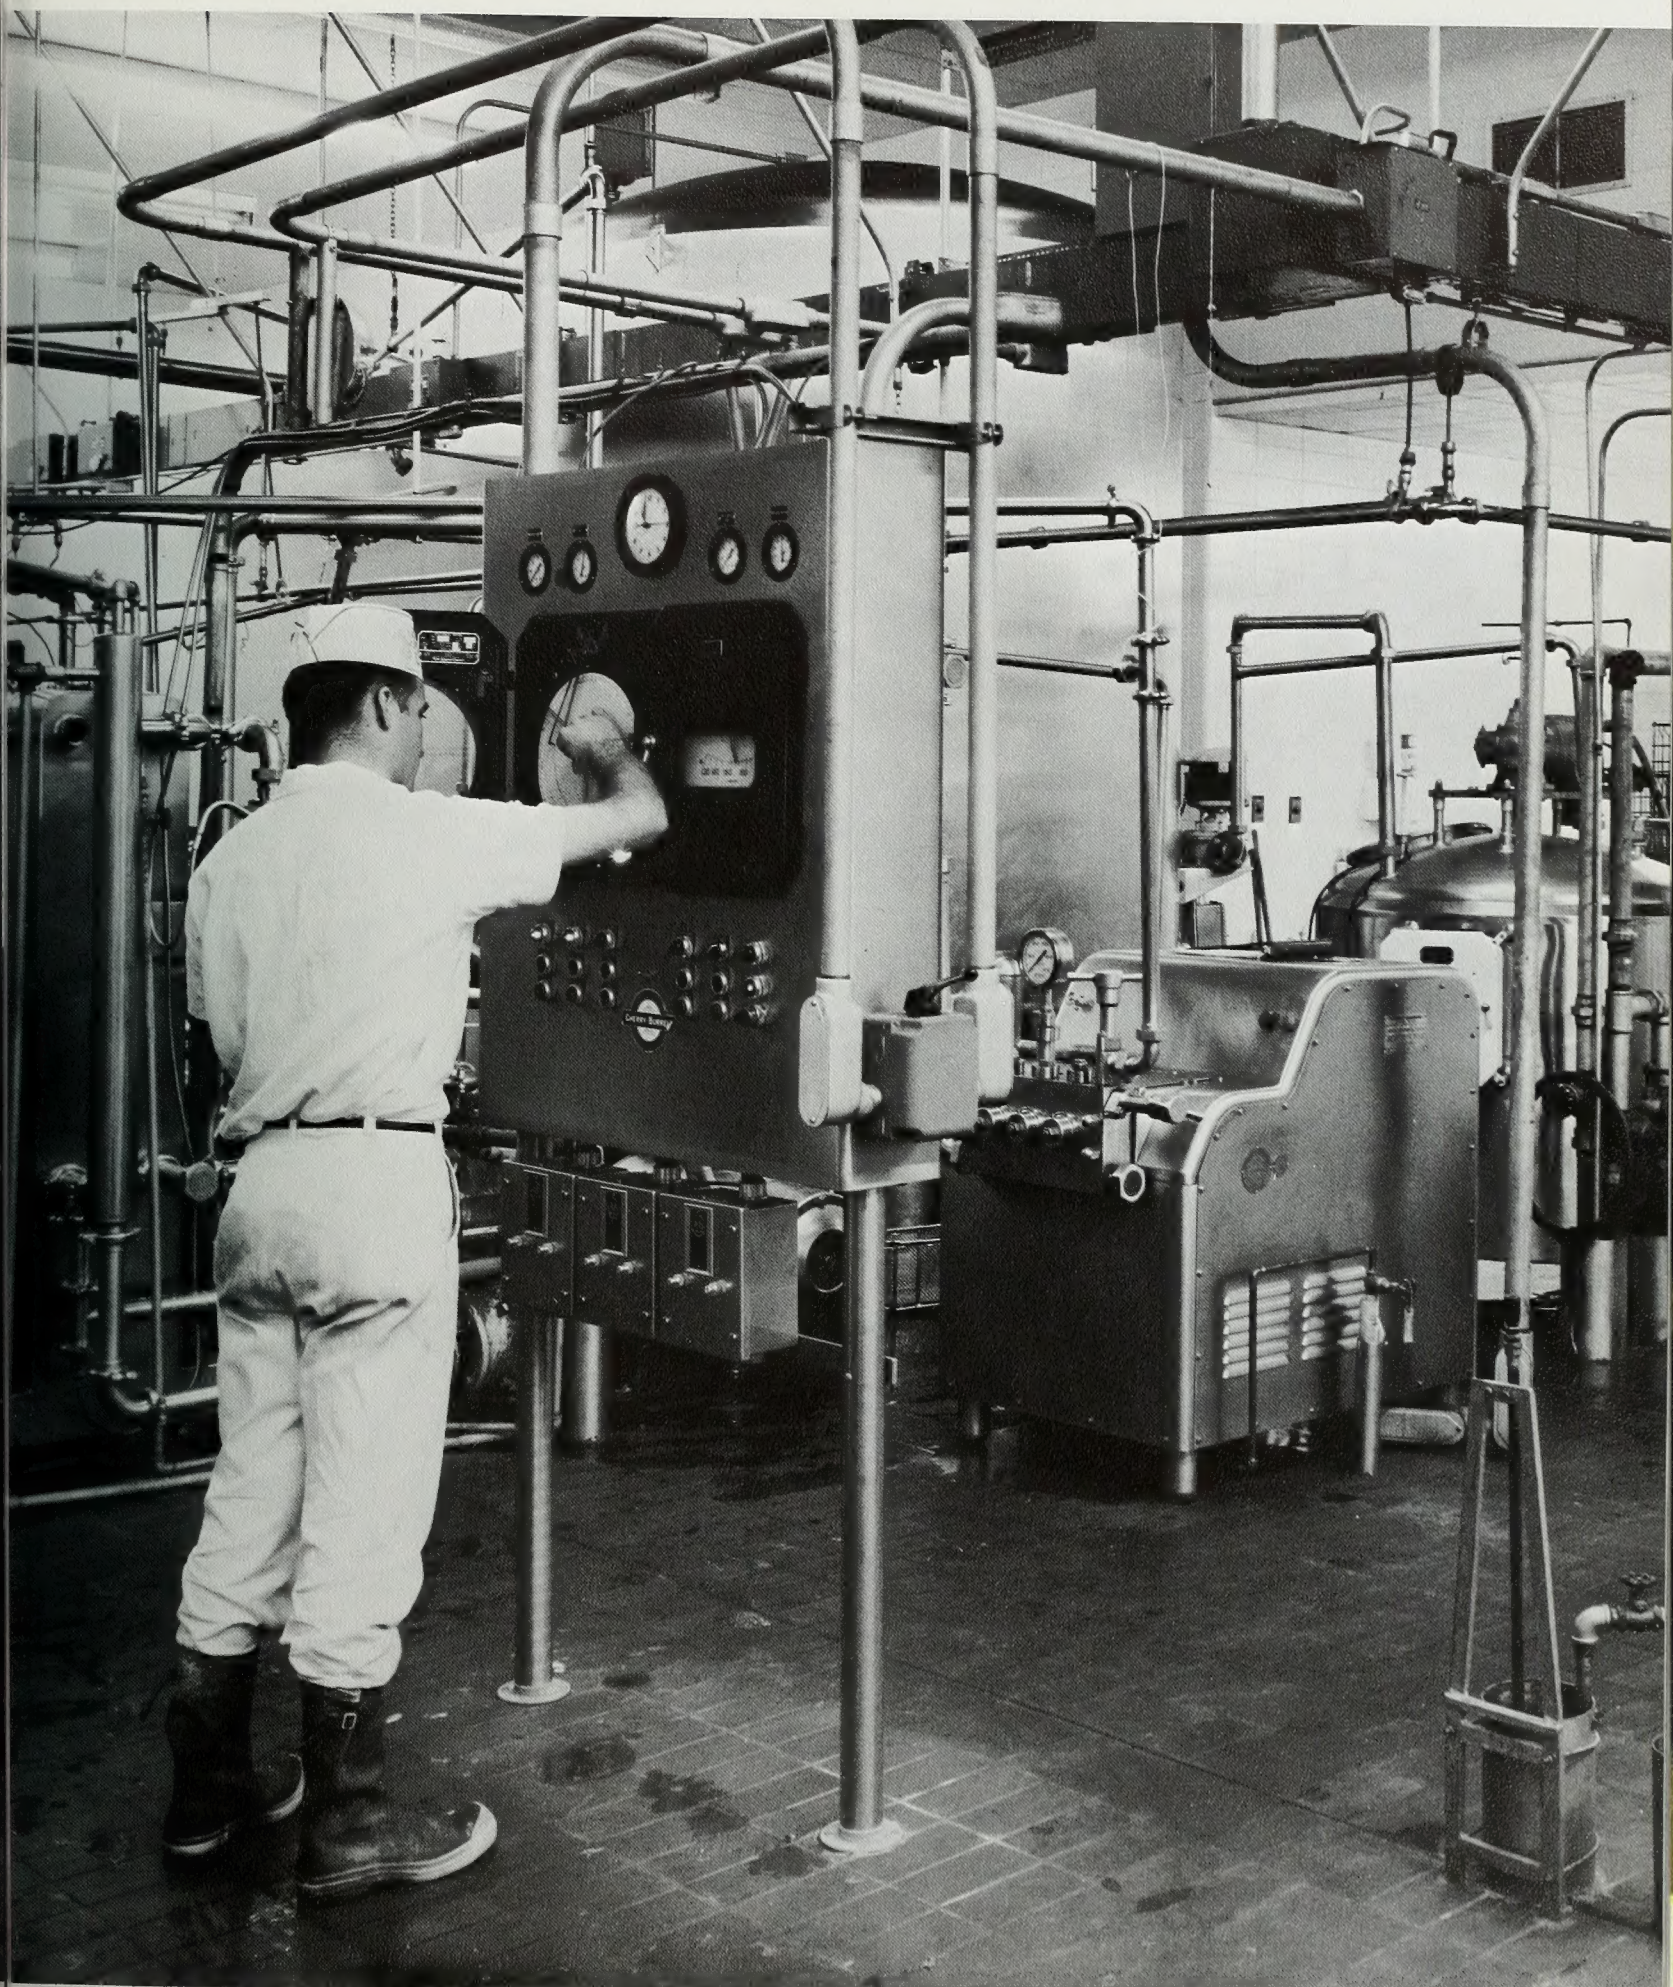

(Top) Elementary boys stare in awe at the beautiful flowers nurtured in the BYU greenhouses. (Above) The tiny world of etomology comes alive under the careful scrutiny of a microscope. (Right) Dean Rudger Walker.

With the new extension on the Benjamin Cluff Plant Science Lab, and future planned greenhouses, the College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences is making notable advancements in the field of Agricultural Education, Animal Science, Bateriaology, Botany and Zoology.

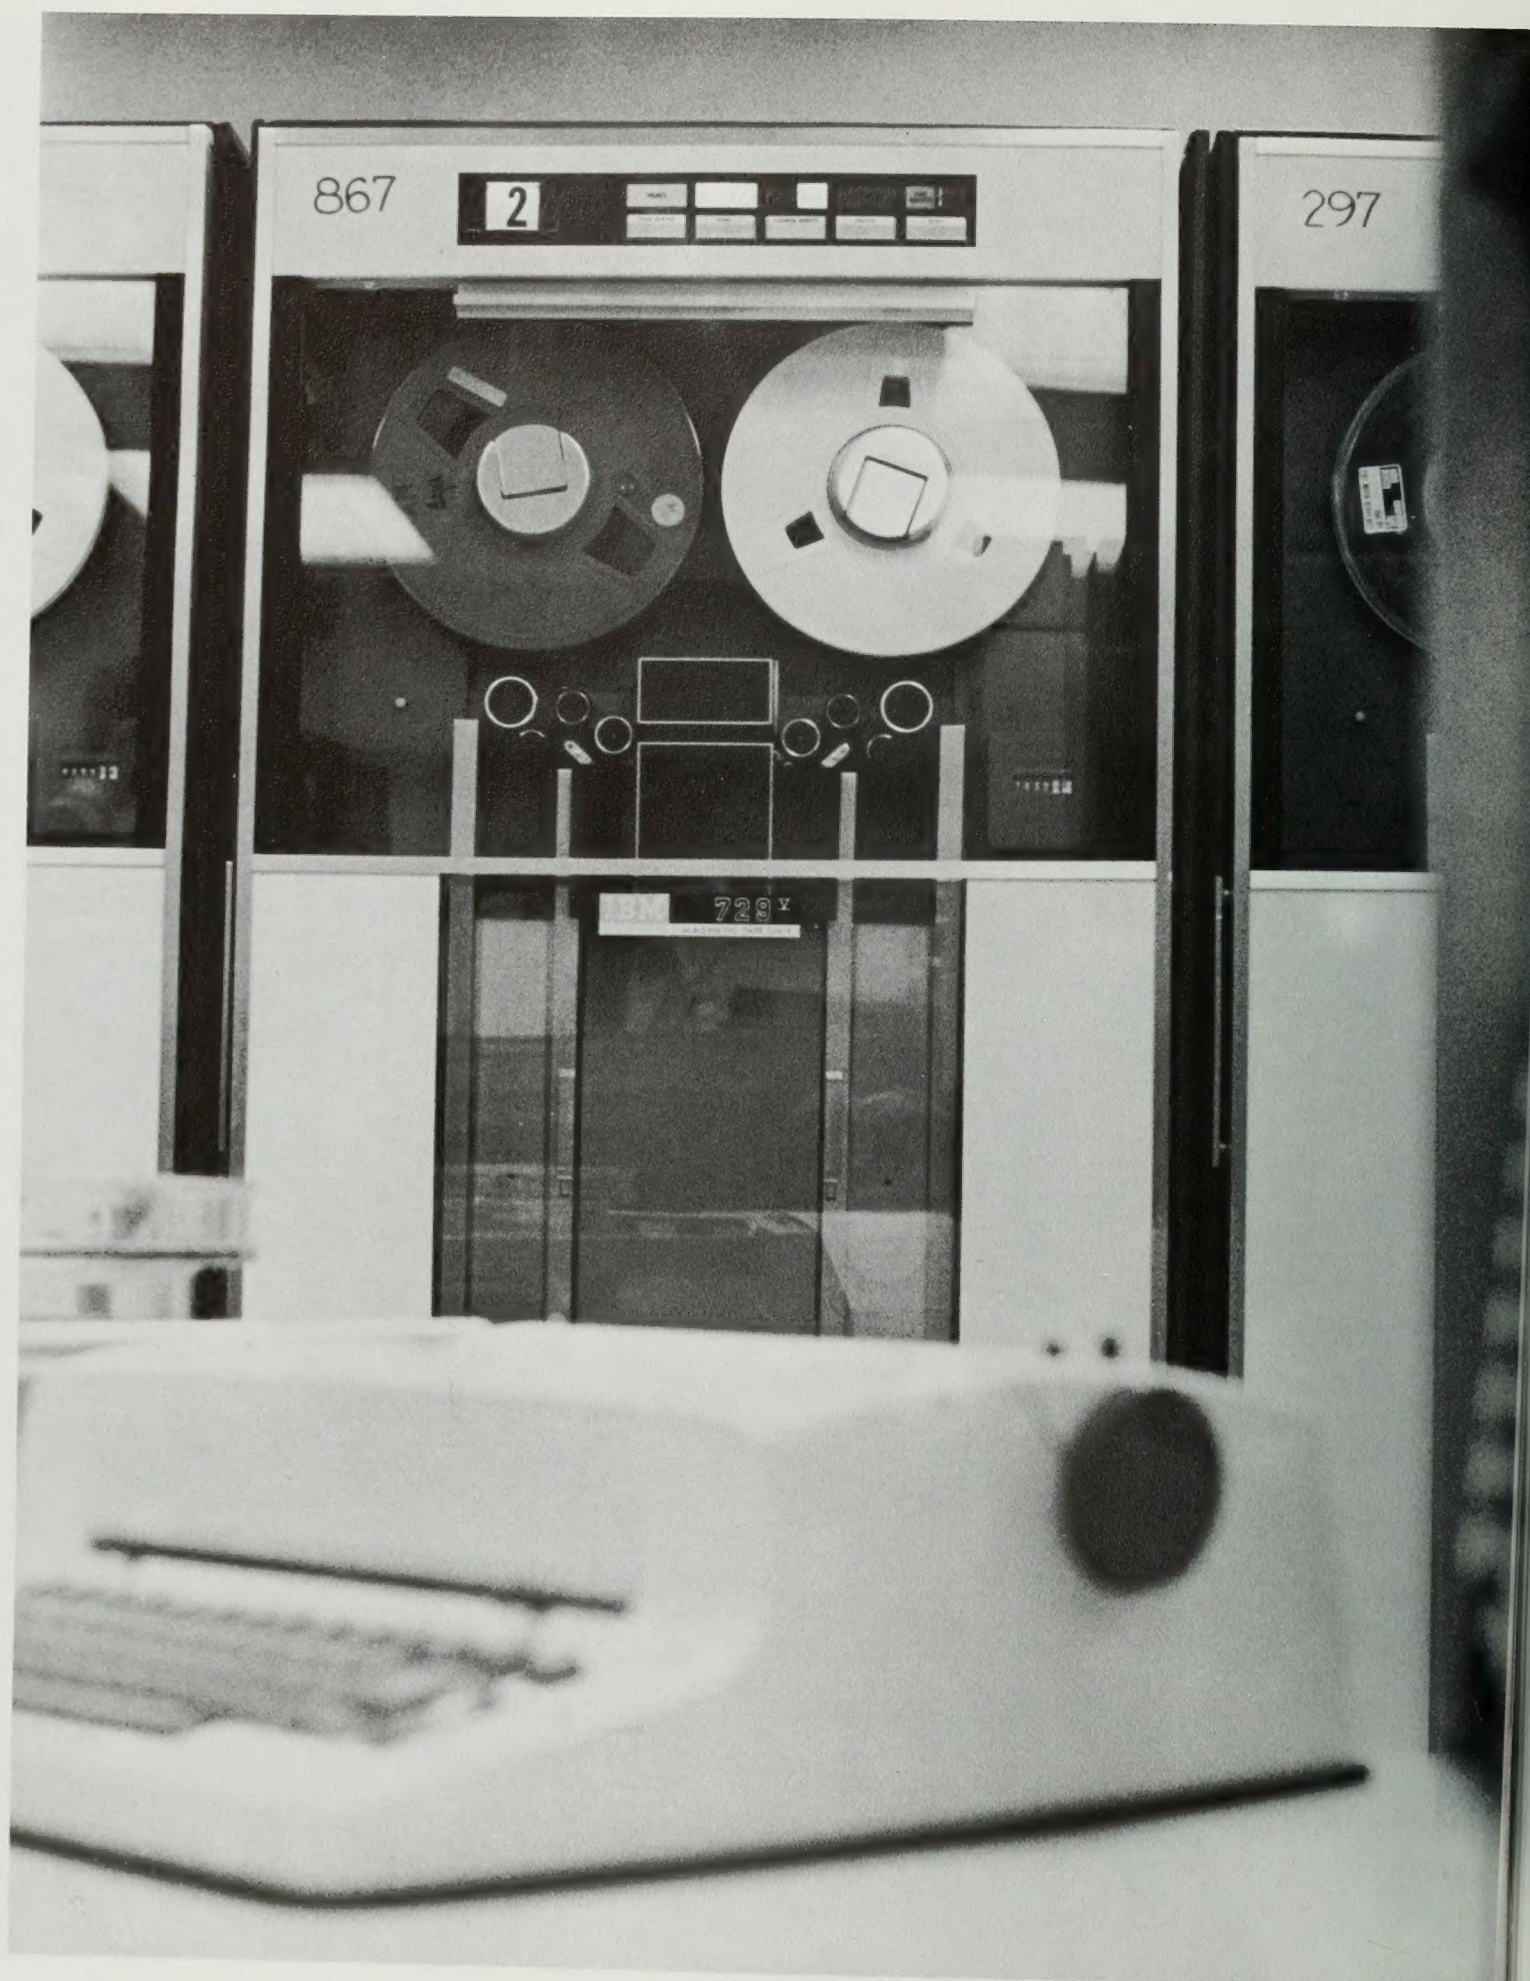

These additions, equipped for modern science, are a part of the extensive research presently being conducted in all of the departments of the College. Nutrient soil deficiencies, prevalent in much of the Church owned land, has become the point of study for possible improvement. The Public Health Department also stands to benefit from a project being conducted to determine a feasible method of dissolving minerals causing a great deal of pipe clogging. The atomic effects on the plant and animal life in the Nevada Dessert, an acological survey of atomic reactors in the Arco, Idaho area, and the cancer virus are but a few of the many projects in progress within the College.

The horizons of agriculture and medicine are constantly being widened by persistant study of 1,200 majors in College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences.

COMPUTER RESEARCH CENTER GREAT ASSET

BYU's vast and efficient IBM system was introduced to the campus by the business and accounting departments. Beginning with small computers in the Maeser Building, the program developed into the larger Computer Research Center which was a great asset to the College of Business as it trained the fourth largest number of accounting graduates in the nation. Certified public accounting firms, national business firms, the Internal Revenue Service, and several other government agencies sought after these graduates to join their various staffs.

Dean Weldon J. Taylor directed a well qualified business faculty which instructed an expanding masters program as well as a full undergraduate program. Of this 15 member faculty, 12 hold CPA certificates, and 8 have their doctorates. Ten graduate assistants completed the staff which offered thorough training in the skills and knowledge required.

QUALITY TRAINING

A demand for excellent teachers and professors to pass on the vast yet continually growing body of learning, was largely supplied by the BYU College of Education. The quality of the training available in this college was exhibited in the department of Special Education which was concerned with teaching of exceptional children. The aim of this program was to provide those learning experiences which will bring these children closer to an equal basis with others.

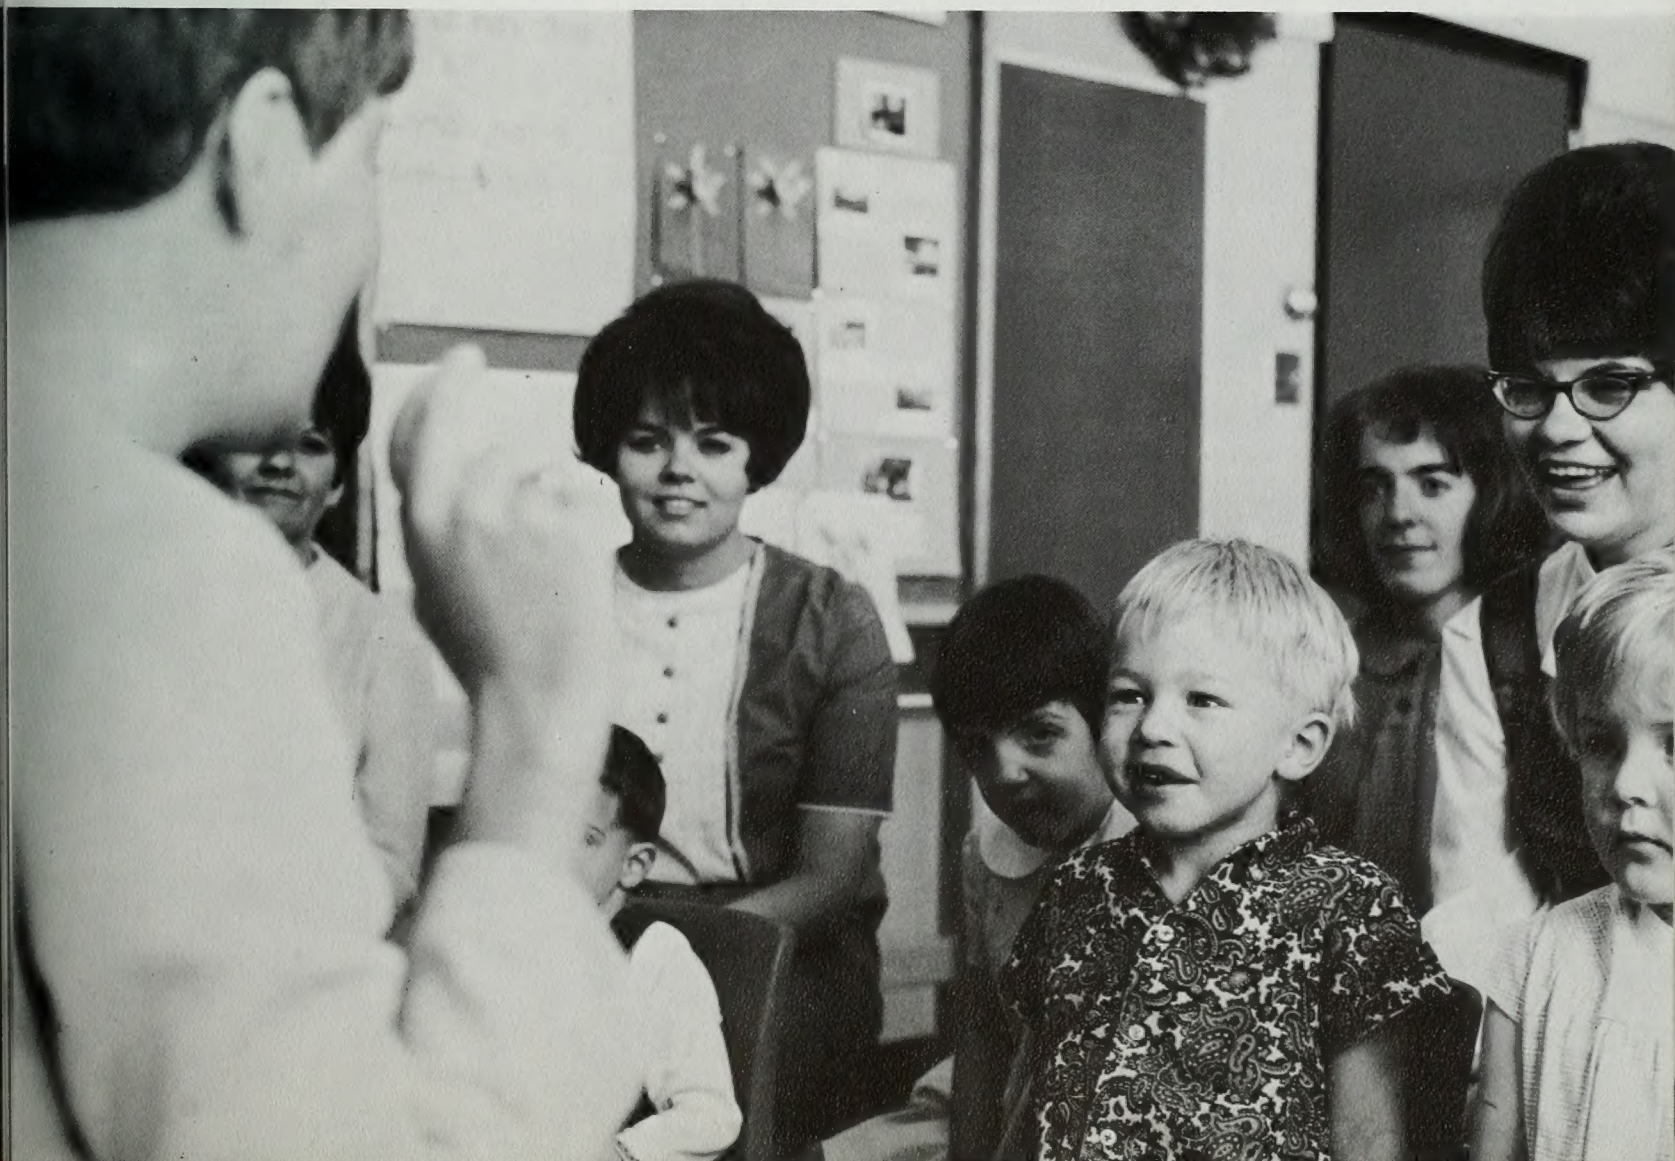

In the fields of mental retardation, emotional disturbance, unusually and orthopedically handicapped, gifted, neurologically impaired, speech, and hearing defects, children require special training methods, environment and classroom procedures which are not effectively presented in a regular classroom. The BYU students were specially trained in these fields to work with children six to eleven years of age, but with a mental age of three to six; and to give them an opportunity to become equal to their peers. The current demand for 55,000 teachers gave BYU graduates variety of opportunities in the field.

SCIENCE, BUSINESS REQUIRE FOOD RESEARCH

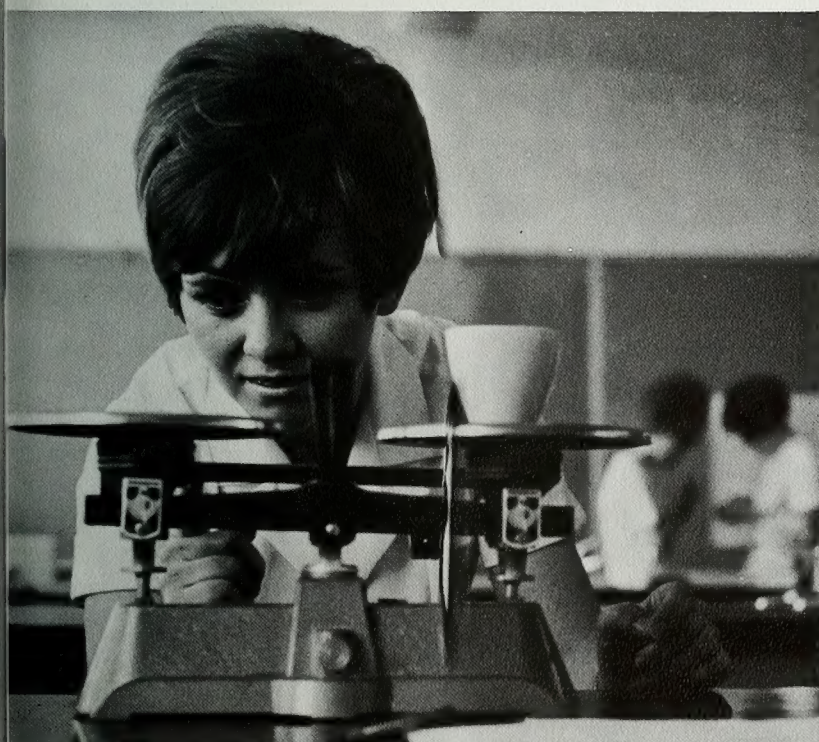

A 1954 addition to the College of Family Living was a department of Food and Nutrition. This year three majors were offered in this area: Dietetics which required a year internship and apprenticeship with the ADA; Food in Business which included test kitchen work, food photography and writing articles about food; and Science which trained for food science research and college training jobs. With more women and men in the department, ten students graduated with a master's degree and took positions with such companies as General Foods Kitchens and the Primary Children's Hospital.

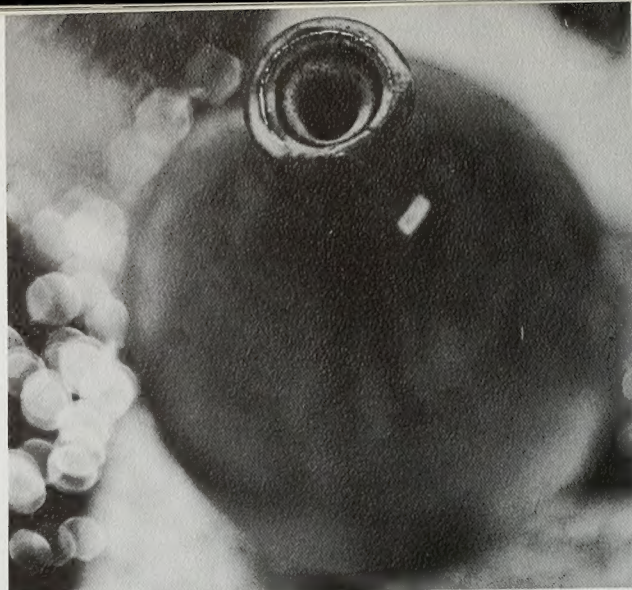

The Elizabeth Dining Room in the Smith Family Living Center was operated by the students who served lunch and gained experience in managing food services. Further projects of the department included food research by faculty members and graduate students. Studies in flour storage, weight reduction through diet and exercise, changes in blood, thiamin adequacy in college students and changes in highly heated fats were examples of the department's exciting and challenging activities.

ARTS ELEVATE COMMUNICATION AMONG MEN

Numerous hours of concentrated study are spent by students in preparation for concerts and recitals.

Art deals with the spiritual nature of man in his most expressive pursuits," commented Dean Wheelwright. There were approximately 1,700 students majoring in the arts, pursuing music, broadcasting, or one of the various art professions. These students sought to elevate the communication among men.

The College of Fine Arts and Communication was responsible for producing and directing a great number of productions: Masked Ball by Verdi, Shakespeare's Macbeth, an original play produced by Doug Stewart entitled A Day, A Night, and A Day, and The Sound of Music. There were over 200 concerts given during the course of the year in the Harris Fine Arts Center alone.

The Harris Fine Arts Center housed the displays of outstanding student work in various fields, from modern art in brilliant paints, blocks of wood and nails, to a feature on stone prints and odd ceramic pieces.

As one teacher commented "the real purpose of the arts is to fulfill a need in society." Those students who majored in any one of the arts actually fulfilled a need not only in society, but of "self" in a pursuit to communicate effectively a particular form or interpretation in any of the wide variety of arts offered at BYU.

GUIDANCE FOR CAREER SELECTION AVAILABLE

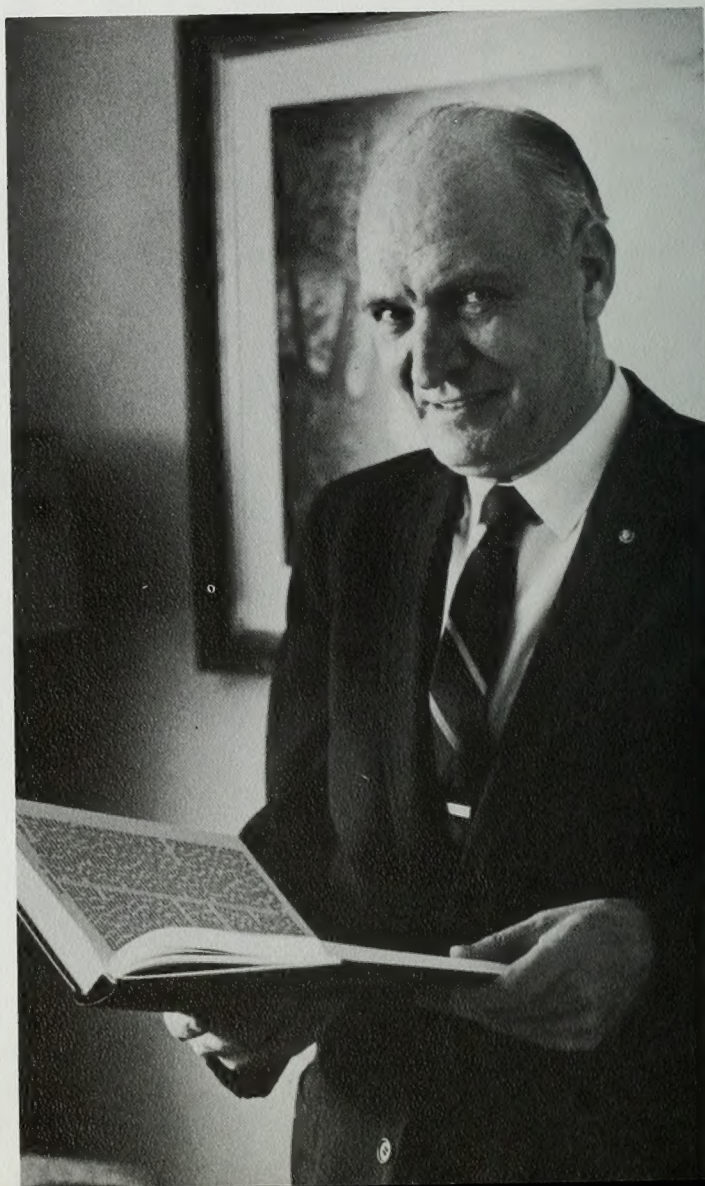

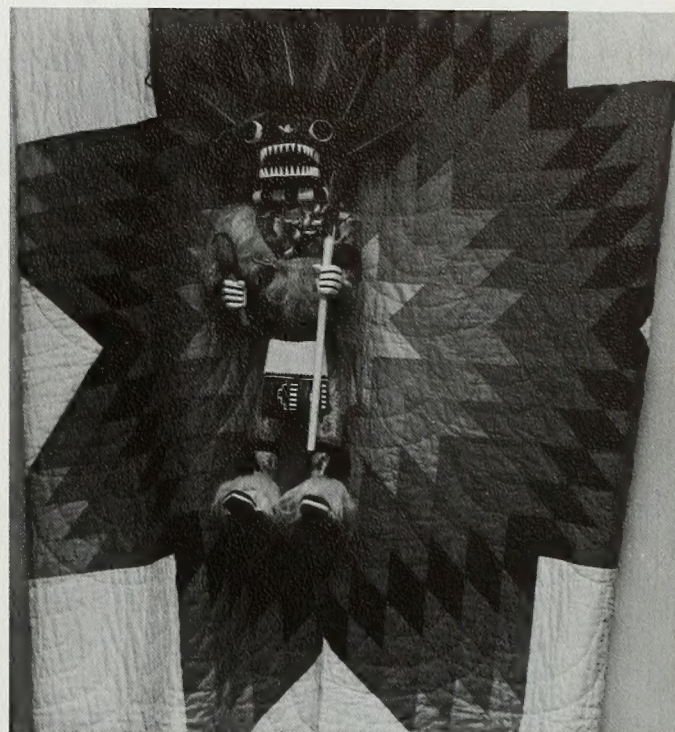

BYU offered guidance courses to 131 Indian students.

The General College program is designed to help students develop responsible citizenship, to acquaint them with their cultural heritage, and to provide them with a two-year preparation for useful and productive lives. Students not planning to qualify for a bachelor's degree entered one of the three divisions: American Indian Education, offering vocational, technical, and semi-professional courses specialized to the Indian Culture; Department of Guided Studies, developing more effective abilities and skills for the student on academic warning; and the Division of Provisional Registration, guiding undecided students in a general program and in a selection of their major field.

Requiring 64 semester hours of credit, the college offered size-limited classes which allowed the students to progress at their personal rate. A 2.00 grade point average had to be maintained by the students who studied in a wide variety of fields.

Without the General College's special department, Indian students would not have found such a favorable atmosphere for their education.

UNDERSTANDING OF WORLD CULTURES STRESSED

Increasing understanding of the cultures of the world is the aim of the College of Humanities with a strong emphasis on our own rich English culture. Teaching English as a second language was a new departmental program which further broadened the studies of the 788 majors and 100 graduates studying the English language and its literature. Non-English speaking students are especially attracted to this program to increase their cultural understanding and to teach English after returning home.

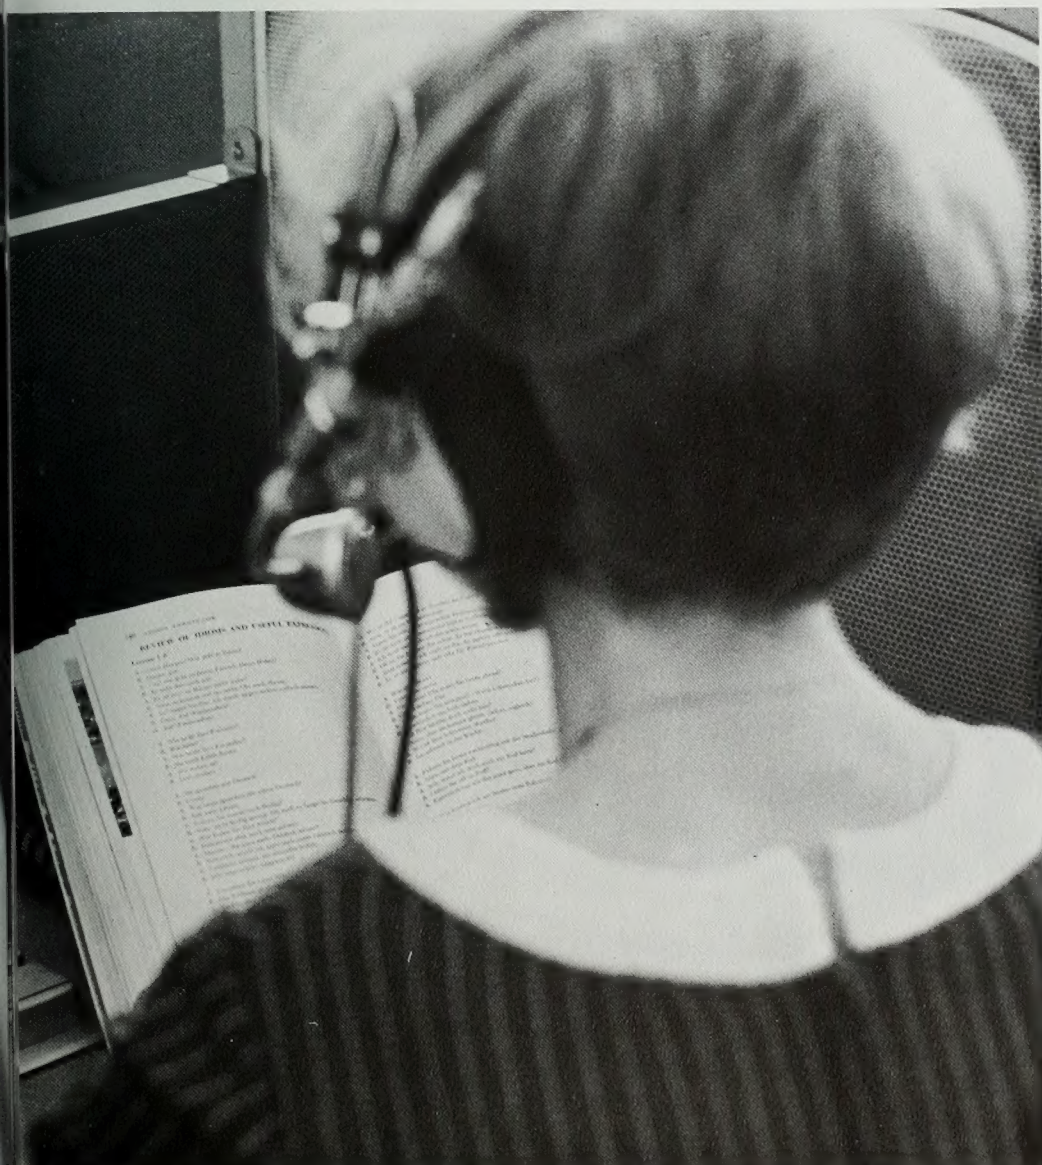

New classes in folklore and a technical writing course emphasized concrete expression for engineers has been added to the already expansive curriculum which includes studies in the Bible, Shakespeare, creative writing, poetry, myths and European literature.

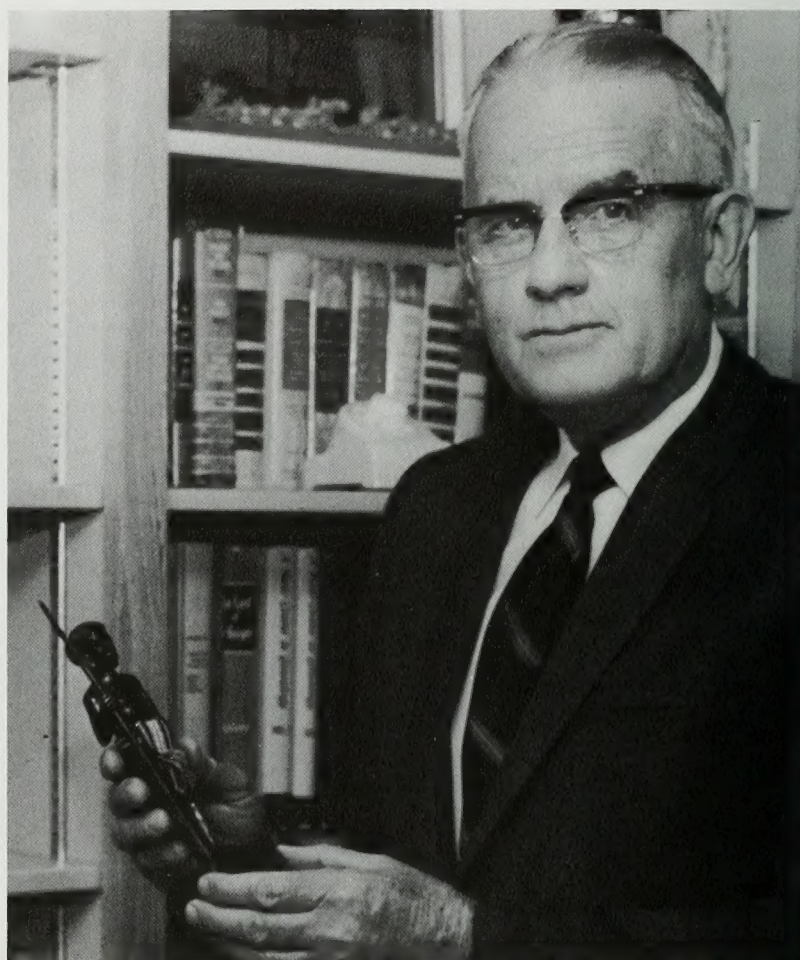

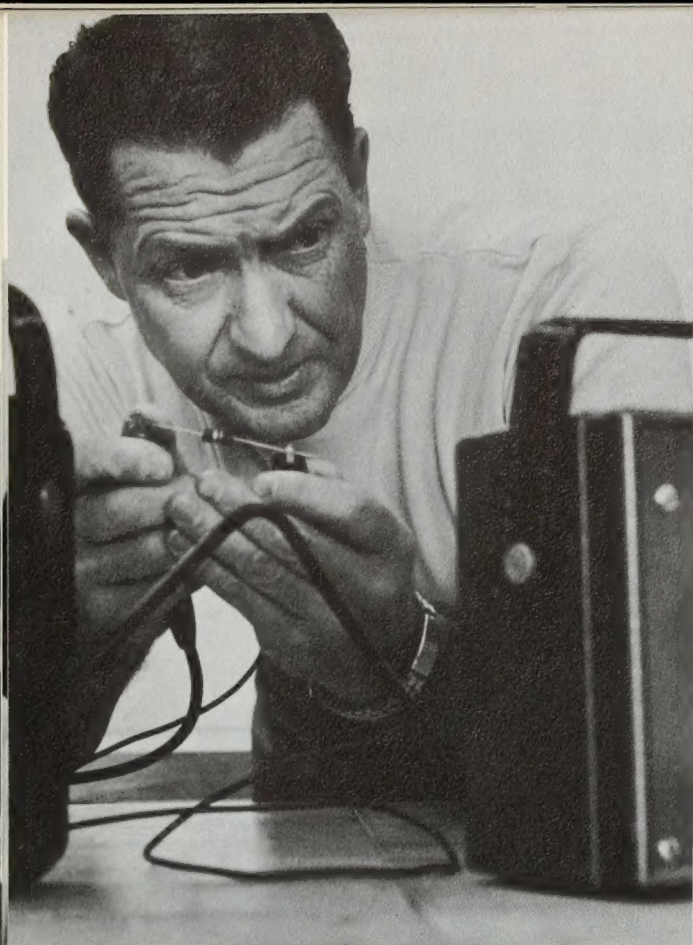

Evidence of the higher quality of English students currently in the department was seen in the fact that remedial English was dropped and the 181 sections of Freshman English were reduced in class size so as to foster an improved atmosphere for creative writing.

This large and intensive discipline was adequately directed by Dean Bruce R. Clark with the cooperation of 73 full-time faculty, thirteen part-time instructors and fifty graduate assistants who also do graduate work.

NATION'S INDUSTRIES DEMANDS "Y" GRADUATES

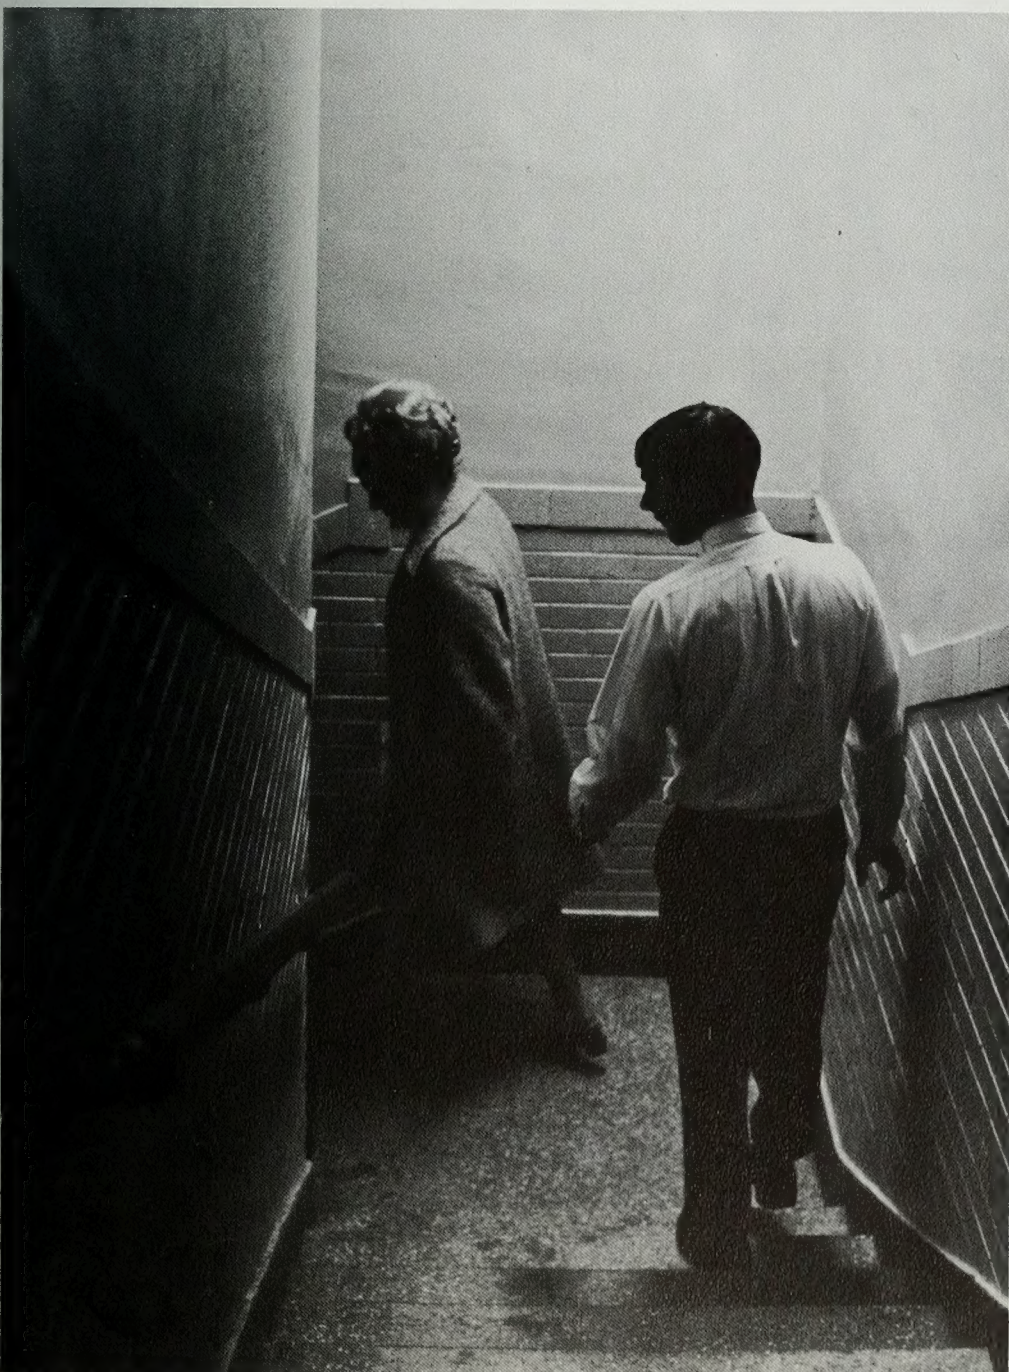

BYU has the best design and draft program," and "we wish we could hire all their graduates" were comments given by some of the nation's biggest industries in praise of BYU's College of Industrial Technology. Thirty-nine companies wanted to hire 12 graduates the demand was so great. Dr. Ross McArthur stressed that this program should be recognized as middle management instead of factory workers or machine operators. His goal of having the top program in the U.S. for preparing leaders in industry came near attainment in 1968.

STUDENTS USE THERAPEUTIC SKILLS IN "PSYCH"

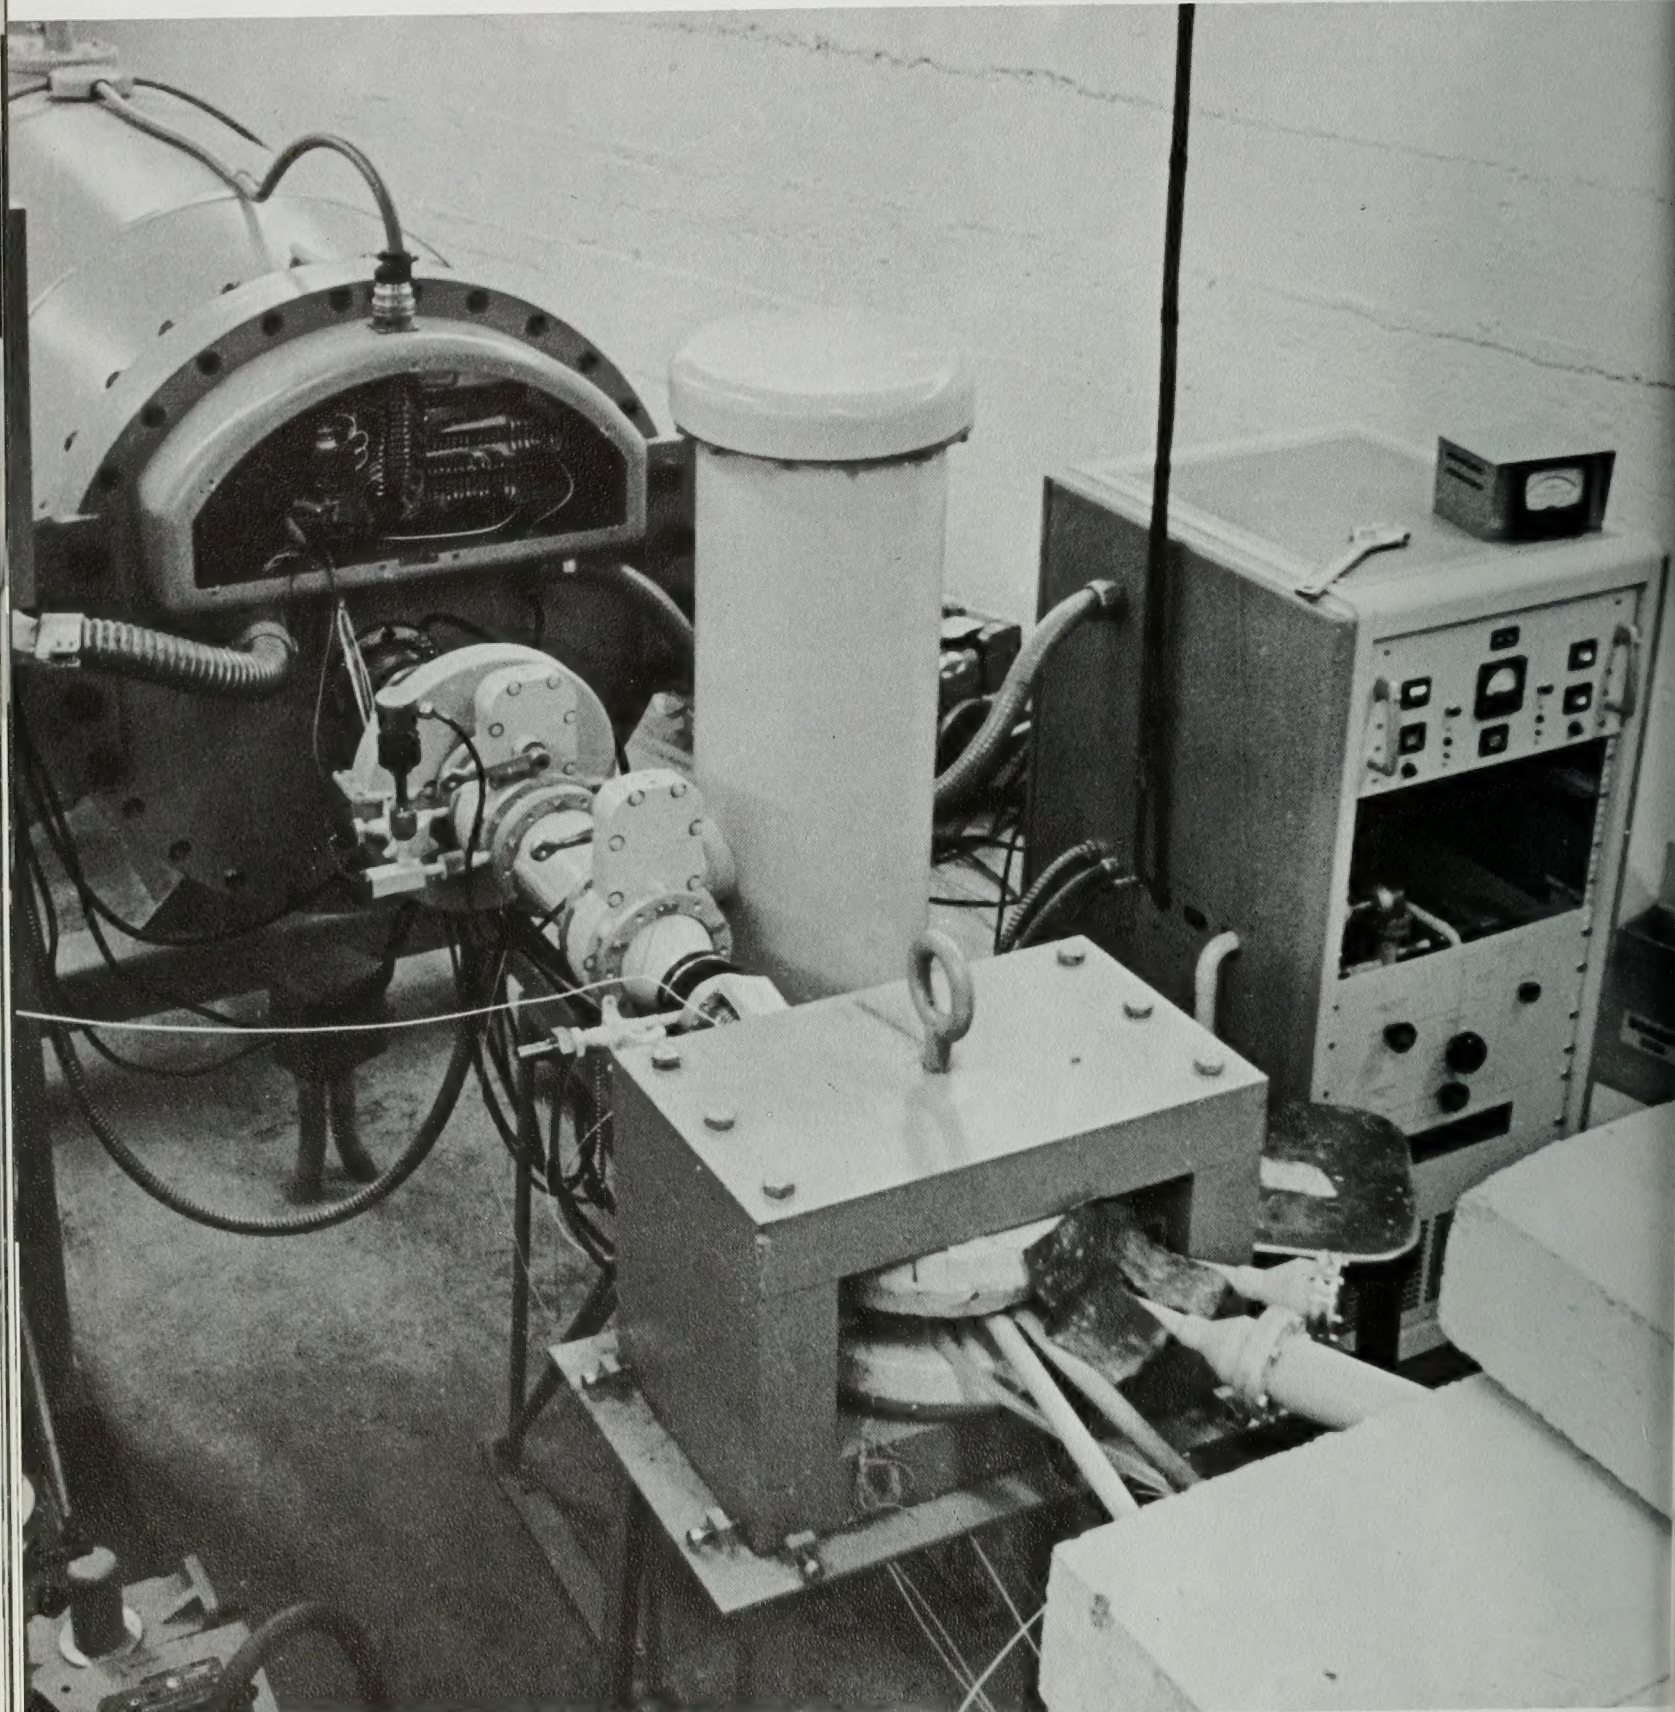

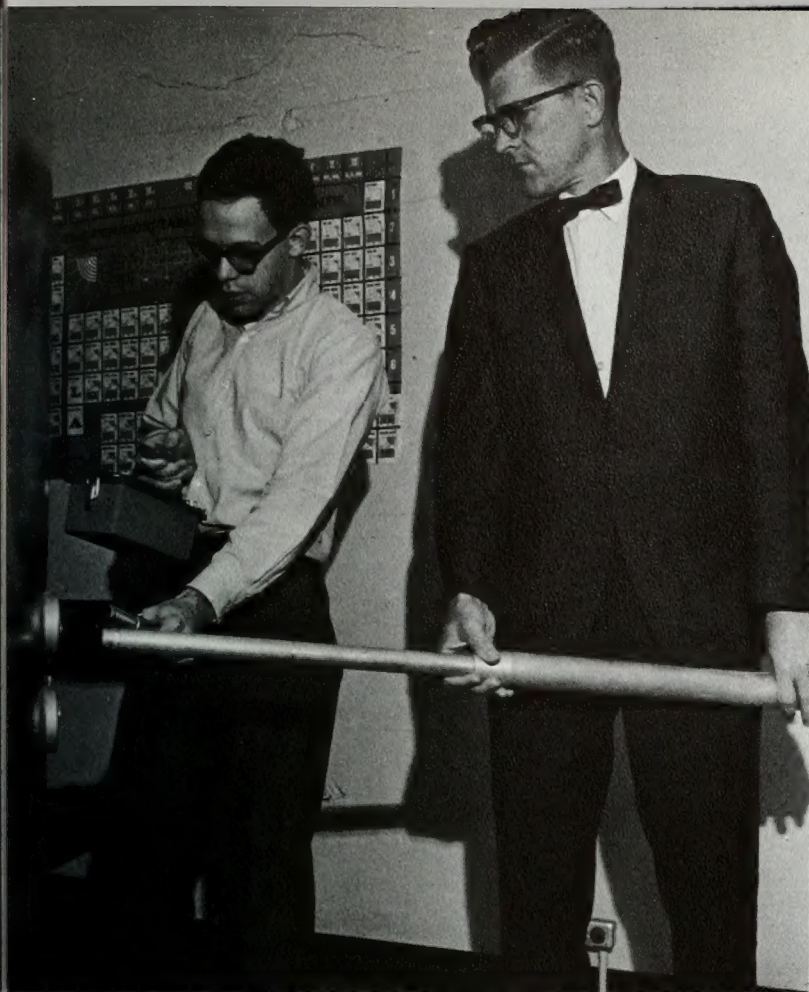

An unusual opportunity and a valuable learning experience was afforded the students who majored in nursing at BYU. What is commonly called "psych" was an eight week experience in mental nursing at the State Hospital located in Provo. The students spent from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. four days a week working with different units of the hospital. They acted as members of the mental health team in an attempt to use their individual assets to become good therapists. They, therefore, had a chance to be involved in rehabilitation planning and follow-up care of patients in the community. In this program the student put to practical use the classroom knowledge gained studying theoretical concepts basic to understanding psychiatric nursing care of the mentally ill or retarded patient.

NEW REACTOR AIDS TEACHING AND RESEARCH

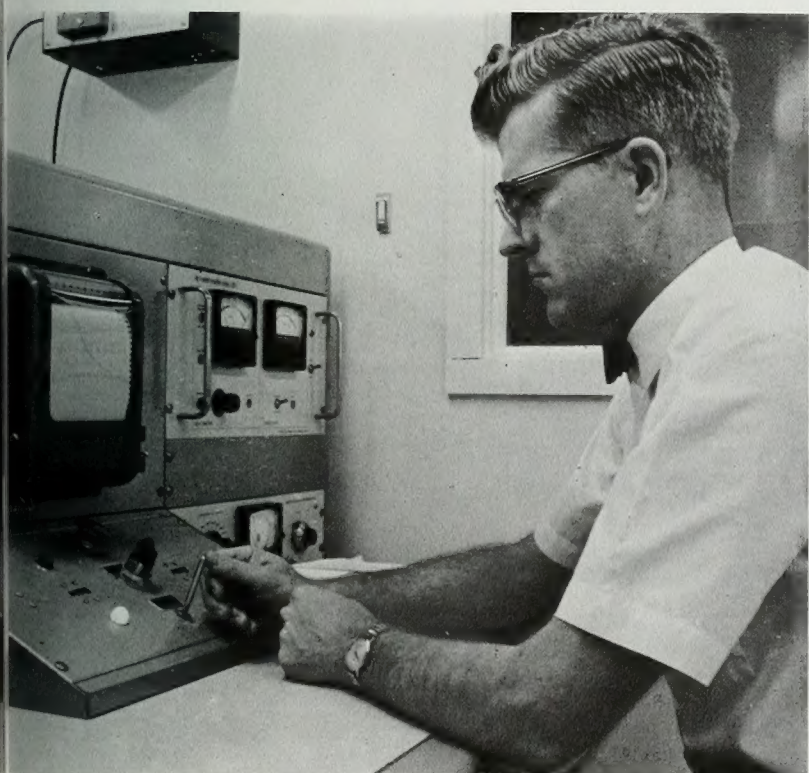

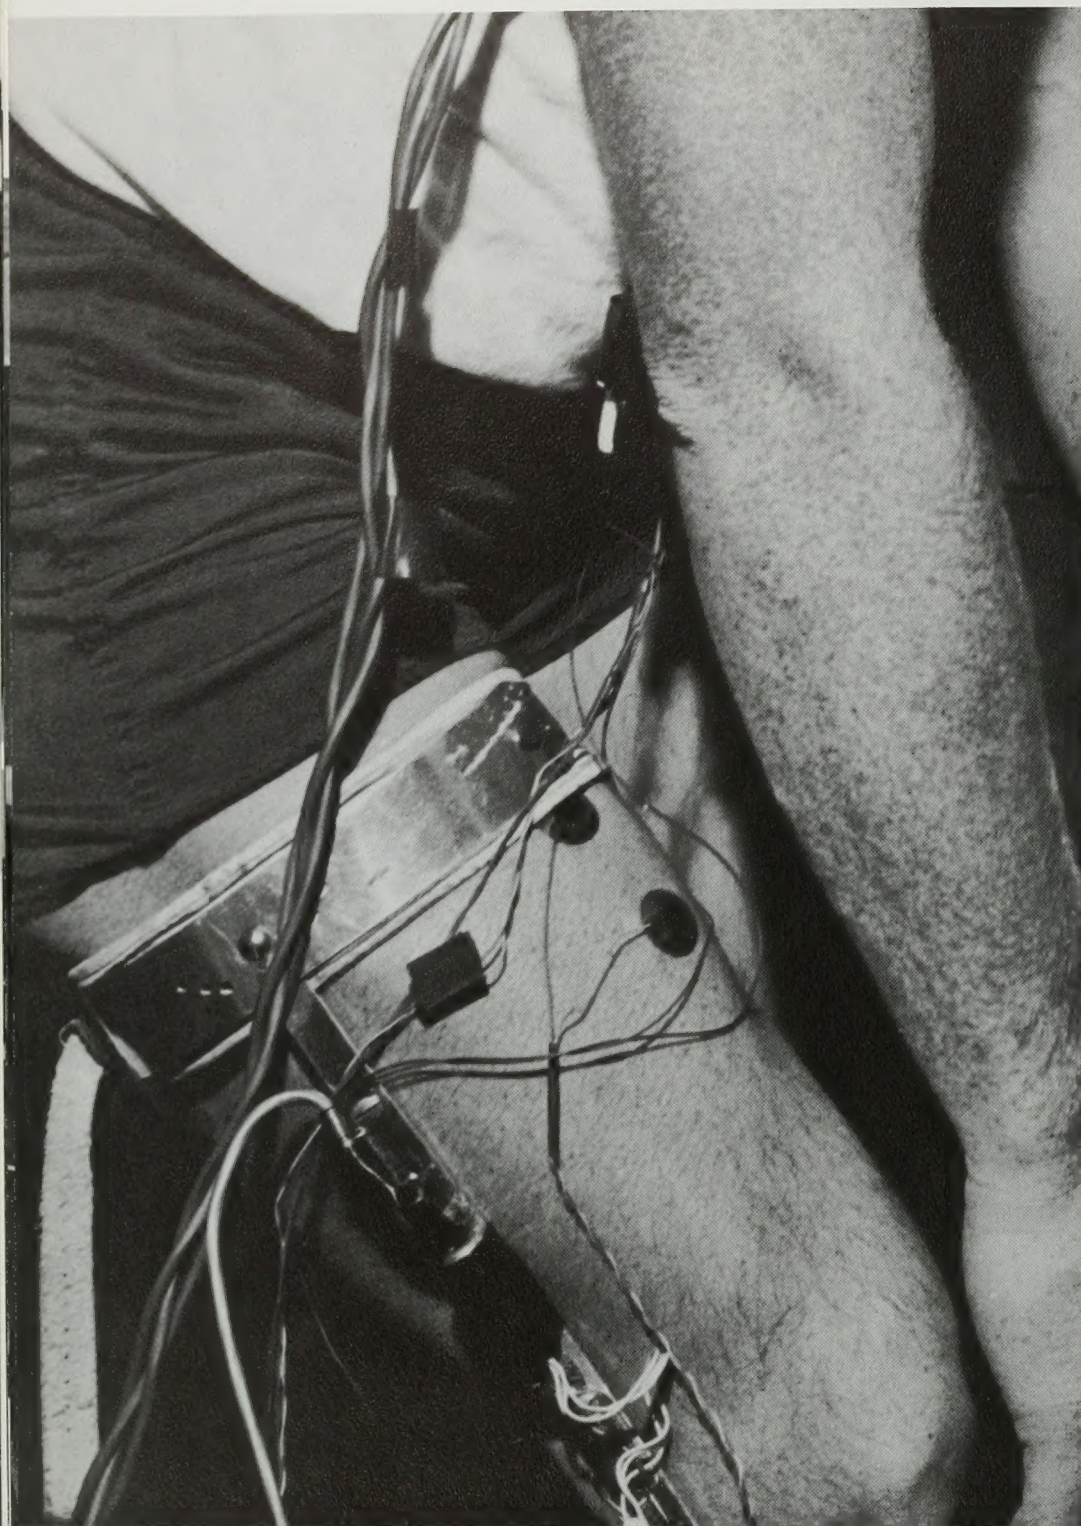

Four integral departments; chemistry, geology, mathematics, and physics combine to form the College of Physical and Engineering Science.

Perhaps the most important occurrence in the college was the arrival in September of the L-77 Laboratory Nuclear Reactor to add to the inventory of scientific teaching and research instruments at BYU. The reactor, licensed by the Atomic Energy Commission to operate at a maximum of 10 watts power, was manufactured by Atomics International of Canoga Park, California. Members of the Physics Department faculty, students and an engineer from Atomics International combined efforts to prepare the reactor and the laboratory for insertion of the fuel and subsequent operation. Detailed procedures governed the reactor operation and, with the extensive built-in safety features, eliminated any hazard to campus and surrounding areas.

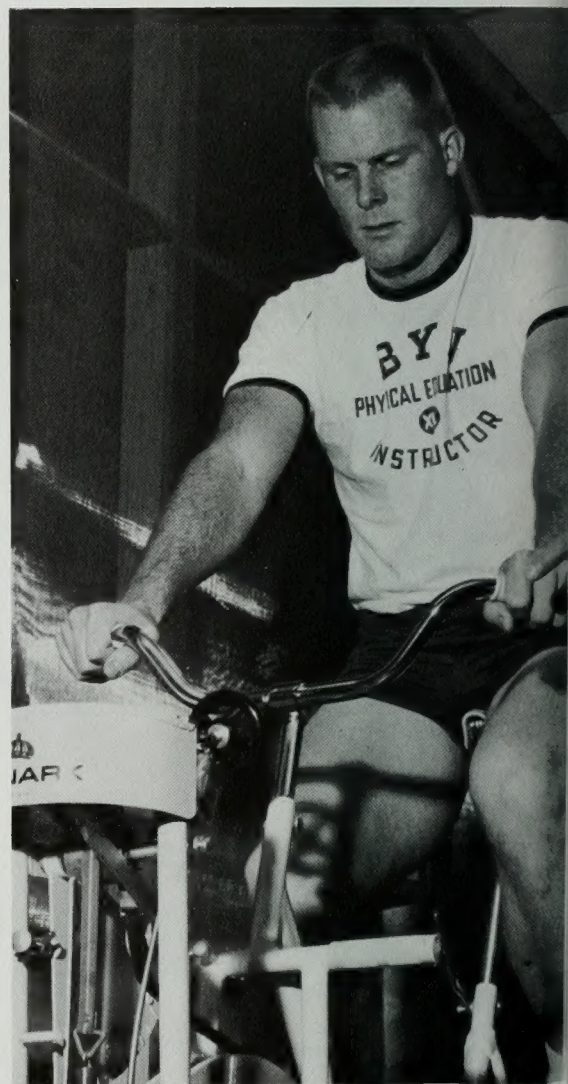

Experience with the reactor was useful to virtually all physical science and engineering students in view of the prominent position in the scientific community occupied by the study of the field of atom and atomic energy.

COLLEGE INTRODUCES NEW SKILL-TEACHING TECHNIQUES

Students who are currently enrolled in six areas of the College of Physical Education were given a wider selection of course study and were introduced to new concepts in skill-teaching techniques.

Those students involved with Graduate Education Research experimented in Nutrition labs studying food storage, in Ergometry labs finding energy and fatigue levels, and in animal kennels determining the affects of alcohol and caffeine on rats and rabbits.

17,000 STUDENTS STUDY DIVERSIFIED COURSES

There were 17,000 students registered in the College of Religious Instruction. These students were enrolled in classes offered to help them meet the sixteen hour religion requirement of the University. In such a large university program, a great variety in courses must be available for student choice. In undergraduate classes the number offered was approximately 50 and in graduate studies about 90. These courses included instruction in the four standard works of the LDS Church: The Book of Mormon, The Pearl of Great Price, The Doctrine and Covenants and the Bible. Offered also were different studies in Church history, Genealogy, World Religion, Priesthood, Church Government, and Welfare.

One of the recent innovations of this college was the function of television in large Freshmen Book of Mormon classes where as many as 300 students attended. The format was changed in 1968, however, and the students attended TV lectures 1-hour a week and discussed subject matter with individual teachers the other hour.

The college has initiated a "school of professors" for interested faculty. They delve into material from any field. Eleven of these professors planned a trip to the Middle East, Israel, and Jordan, on a faculty study tour of the Bible lands. The Jerusalem semester abroad program for students was also a concern of this college.

COLLEGE ISSUES HISTORICAL NEWSLETTER

Out of the nineteen full-time teachers in the College of Social Sciences, eighteen had their doctoral degrees. Several had international reputations and many published books and articles regularly. The faculty members were involved and active in many organizations including the Organization of Western Historians.

The department balanced the emphasis on Western history with an added emphasis on the Renaissance and Reformation and Modern Europe. Other classes include International Relations, Asian Studies, and a new European Studies and Latin American Studies class. The new program emphasized modern Europe and the Middle East.

A historical newsletter entitled Historians of Early Modern Europe was also published by this department. It contained information on recent acquisitions by museums and universities all over the world and discussed the different projects noted historians were working with.

EXPANDING PROGRAM

Graduate work at BYU follows the University tradition of rich and diversified educational opportunities. Expanding on the initial four year program, the graduate school offers master's degrees in 81 fields, distributed through 41 departments. There are 31 doctoral degree programs available in 14 departments. The student may pursue his graduate education in a wide choice of areas—biological and agricultural sciences, business, education, family living, fine arts and communications, humanities, physical and engineering sciences, industrial education, physical education, religious instruction, and social sciences.

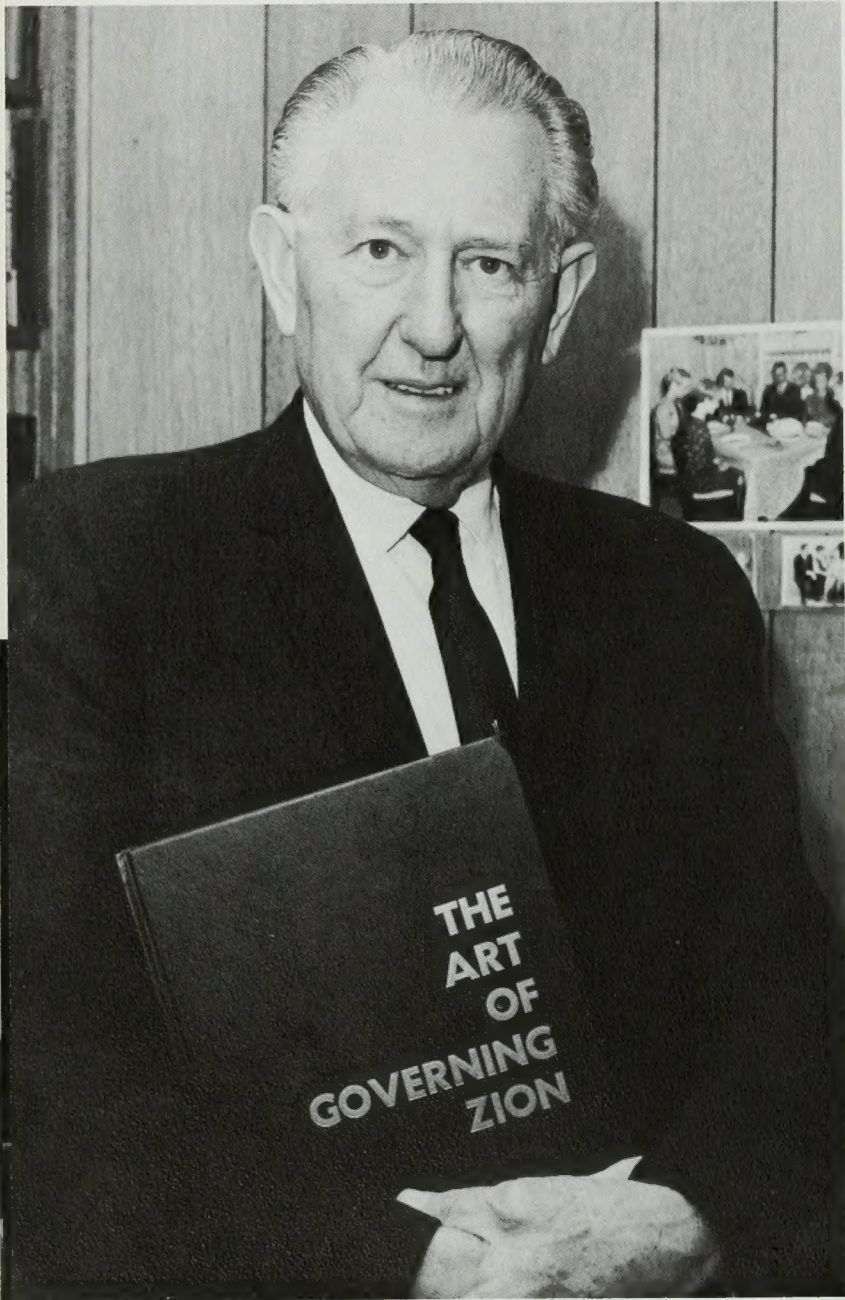

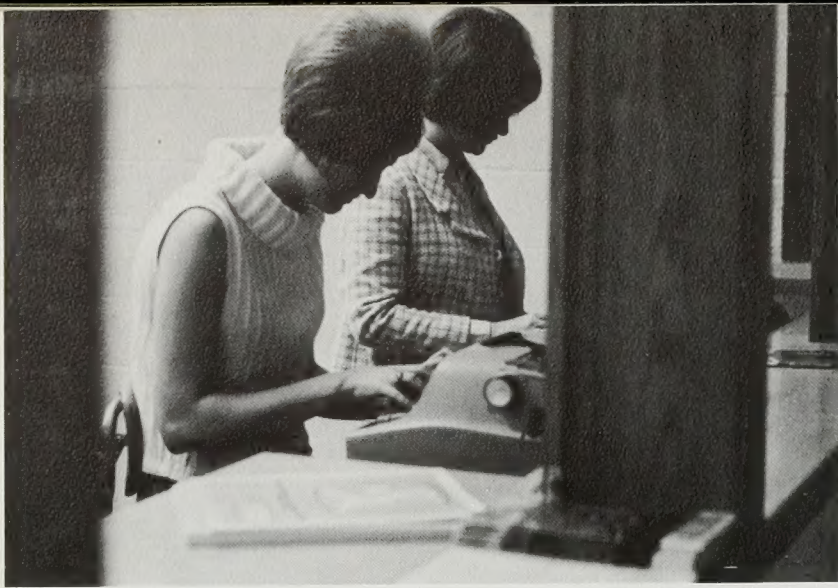

Directing and coordinating these diversified activities is Dean Wesley P. Lloyd, who also is President of the Western Association of Graduate Schools. The dean, authorized to "execute policy and procedure" of the graduate school is continually expanding the program to further improve the excellence of higher educational opportunities offered to date to aspiring students.

CONTINUING EDUCATION ENCOMPASSES WORLD-WIDE PROGRAM INCLUDING VIETNAM SERVICEMEN

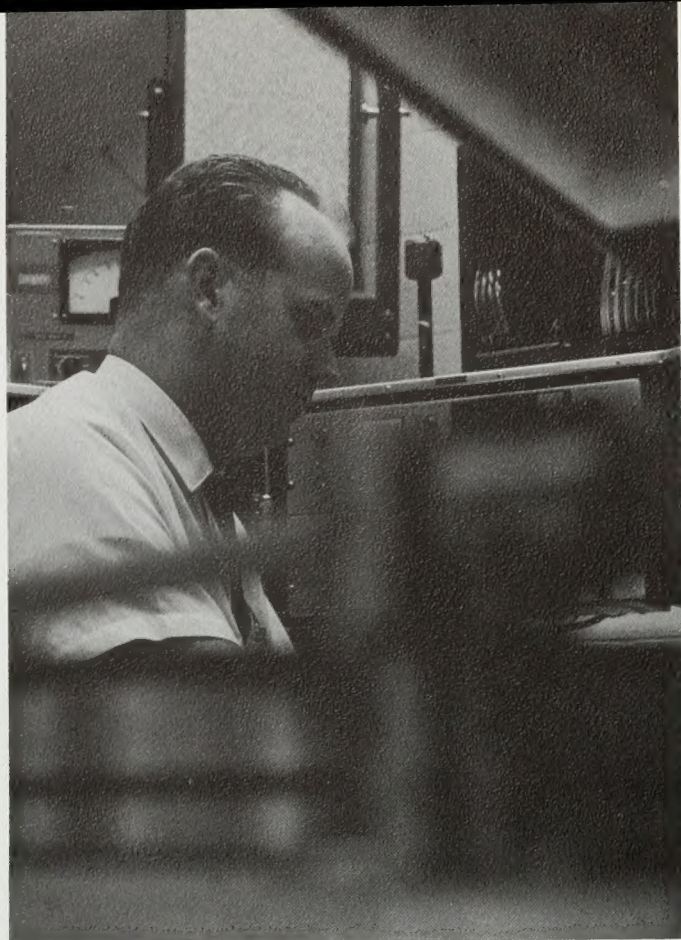

The purpose of the Division of Continuing Education since its establishment in 1921 has been to provide educational opportunities for those who cannot advance through regular study. The division ranges from on-campus programs including Special Courses and Conferences, Home Study, and Evening Classes to off-campus programs including Lectures and Courses, Education Weeks, and Travel Study.

Vast opportunities for students are provided by the Travel Study program which encompasses Semesters Abroad in Grenoble, France; Salzburg, Austria; Mexico City; and new this year, a semester in the divided city of Jerusalem. Through their foreign studies the students may gain a richer understanding of the problems facing these countries.

As an extensive continuing education program, the division has made contributions in educating the community and nation.

AUDIO-VISUAL OPERATION GIVES ASSISTANCE TO BYU

The Brigham Young University has a number of business units which operate as part of the services provided for students and faculty. As a matter of general policy these business units operate on a self sustaining basis. They include functions such as housing, feeding, printing, motion picture production, purchasing, warehousing, receiving, mail service, creamery products, laundering, bookstore, farm management, and communications.

All the communication service agencies on the campus have been brought together to provide a broad spectrum of support to the communication programs of the Y. These agencies include: Broadcast Services, Communication Systems, Educational Media Services, Motion Picture Production, Photo Studio, and University Press. The graphic arts, the printed and spoken word, the still and motion picture arts, and the televised story are all unified to provide a modern approach to both Church and University programs. The Audio and Video Operations section operates the campus public address system, the campus audio and video communications cable systems, and the audio recording studios, as well as the reproduction and distribution of recorded tapes.

PLANNING OF EVENTS HELPS TO DEVELOP

Beginning the year with an MIA officer's workshop at Aspen Grove and a breakfast, the eleven wards of the BYU First Stake distributed their special "BYU First Stake MIA Handbook." Following this careful planning, a Young Artist's Music Festival was held in January to highlight the stake's talent. Leading the social events was a Gold and Green Ball, "Magic in the Moonlight" with the Third Stake. Eternal Values were discussed with the Young Married by the stake presidency and with the single students by Brother and Sister John Covey in an inspirational climax to a meaningful First Stake year.

LEADERSHIP SKILLS

First Row: Nephi K. Kezerian, First Counselor; Clyde D. Sandgren, Stake President; Phileon B. Robinson, Second Counselor. Back Row: Gary M. Croft, Assistant Stake Clerk; James E. Stewart, Stake Clerk; Robert F. Bohn, Assistant Stake Clerk.

It is the philosophy of the BYU Second Stake MIA to place emphasis on training people and developing leadership skills in order to make a positive change and growth in the lives of those who are involved. The success of this goal is evidenced in the All-Church Basketball Championship title won by the Second Stake's Third Ward. Positive growth in musical and dramatic talent was displayed in "Let It Rain" which presented Elder Boyd K. Packer's message that the weather need not determine one's attitude. Additional social and cultural activities filled the Second Stake's year of growth and learning.

THIRD STAKE LARGEST AT BYU

Mark Nelson, Clerk; Terrence L. Hansen, Second Counselor; Fred A. Schwendiman, Stake President; M. Carl Gibson, First Counselor

Newly appointed Regional Representative, Grant Thorn was the guest speaker at the November eight-stake fireside hosted by the BYU Third Stake. The largest at BYU, the Third Stake efficiently held all their ward conferences during the first semester and began the new year with their January Regionality Dance. In March, the stake presidency, bishops, high councilmen and their wives joined together for a beautiful and inspirational temple excursion to Manti. The annual elders breakfast and M-Men and Gleaners Awards Night concluded a year of spiritual, social and educational growth for the members of the Third Stake.

WHILE FOURTH STAKE LEADS IN ENDOWMENTS

Growth of the BYU campus caused the birth of the BYU Fourth Stake in May 1964. The four year old stake has since lead the Church in percentage of cash award minimum in Improvement Era sales for the last three years and last year topped the BYU stakes in number of endowments. A MIA program, originated by Norman Wright, was a successful Fourth Stake innovation which attempted to acquaint the members with a variety of fellow students with the same interests. With a challenging motto of "Go Forth!", the stake has achieved a unity and love between its members which brought success and satisfaction this year.

Martin L. Miller, First Counselor; William R. Siddoway, Stake President; Howard H. Barron, Second Counselor; and Kenneth Karren, Stake Clerk.

DEVELOPMENT OF LEADERS

AND PARTICIPATION

GOALS FOR 5th & 6th STAKES

Emphasis of the development of the stake leaders was a prime consideration of the BYU Fifth Stake the past year. A monthly temple excursion by the stake group and several stake leadership firesides unified the nine wards into a stake organization and created a family feeling of closeness among them. Special Sunday School classes were also held for the stake leaders and their wives. Hosting the inspirational Easter musical fireside and promoting the blood bank drive were other activities of the Fifth Stake. In the MIA, the wards have taken over the leadership, and, using the stake only as a resource, have conducted an successfully effective program.

BYU Sixth Stake is unique, being composed entirely of married students and their families. Stake members were excited at the prospect of having a temple within walking distance and early exceeded their temple fund goal. Outstanding events included a special Sisters' Session at the November Stake Conference, Gold and Green Ball themed "Scheherazade," a New Year's Eve Dance "Auld Lang Syne," and a stake fireside addressed by Carl W. Buehner. The six wards have adapted their activities to the interests of the members and have created a "best year ever" for the Sixth Stake.

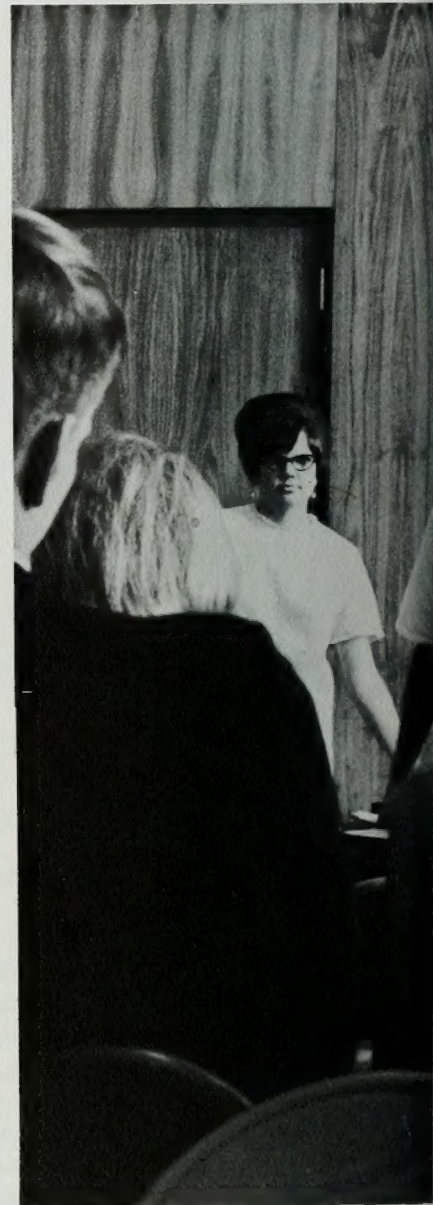

7th & 8th STAKES GIVE EXPENDING SERVICE; PLAN 8-STAKE FIRESIDE

Professional entertainment complementing church activity was the topic discussed at the special BYU Seventh Stake fireside. Broadway personality Melva Niles and her husband, Brother and Sister Barborka, spoke and performed at the March event. Seventh Stake also initiated the eight-stake firesides as they hosted Hugh B. Brown in October. Aiming for greater activity in college orientated programs, the MIA sponsored an "April in the Isles" Gold and Green Ball, a music and drama road show, an Eternal Values Night with Harvey Taylor, and a Music Festival with each of the ten wards sending talented students to participate in the festivities.

(Below) Talented Sunday School teachers present thoughtful lessons.

Rendering compassionate service was a major project of the BYU Eighth Stake Relief Society and Elder's Quorum. Each week throughout the year, groups of three went to the area rest homes to aid the patients in various activities. The stake presidency held a special February evening with the Young Marrieds and socialized in a March "Gay Nineties and Roaring Twenties" Gold and Green Ball. The eight wards exhibited their talent in a May Cultural Evening which featured the best in music, drama and speech while another May event honored standout-students at M-Men and Gleaner Award Night.

Tuesday, 10:00 a.m., carillonic bells, 100 stairs down to the Smith Fieldhouse, 10,000 students—the start of the weekly Devotional Assembly. Through this formula students, faculty and staff found an hour of spiritual pause from studies and work, as members of the Council of the Twelve bore their inspirational messages. Throughout the academic year the Devotional Assemblies presented such prominent Church leaders as Boyd K. Packer, Marion D. Hanks, Bruce R. McConkie, Marion G. Romney, and Paul H. Dunn to speak on topics ranging from prophecy and revelation to marriage and genealogy.

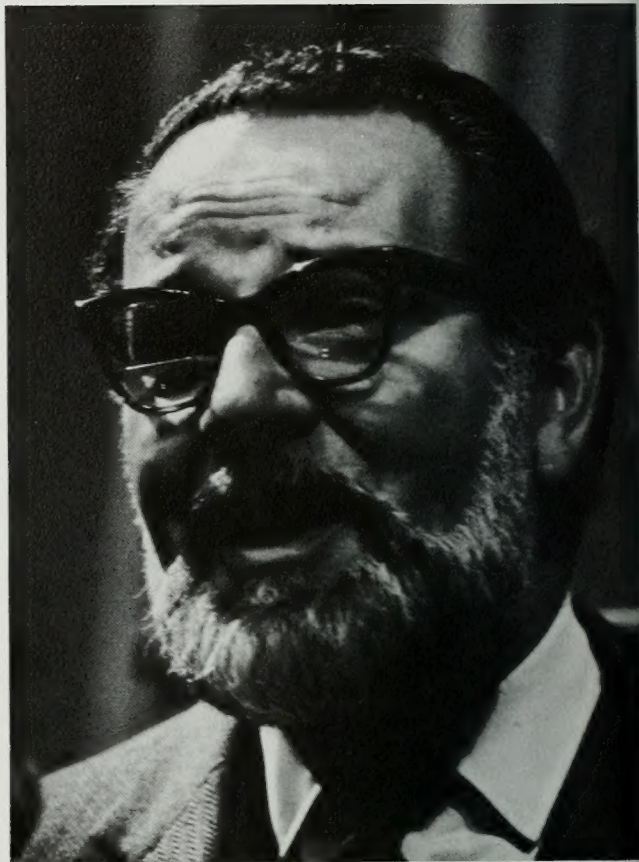

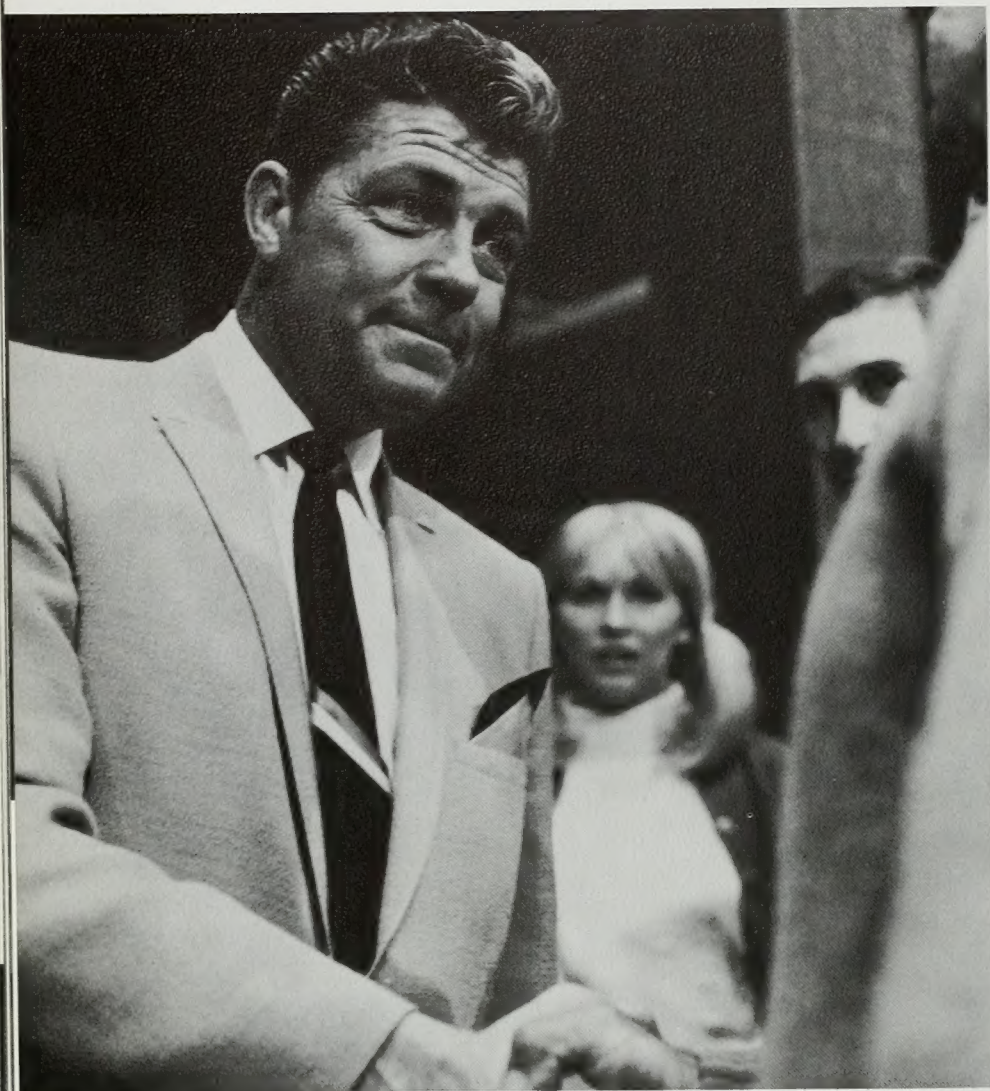

Closed circuit television brought the speakers into the J. S. Auditorium, Varsity Theatre, and de Jong Concert Hall where hundreds more assembled. For some students, attending Devotional was a means of gaining one-half credit towards the religion requirement for graduation. For other, these fifty minutes offered an opportunity to see and hear their leaders.

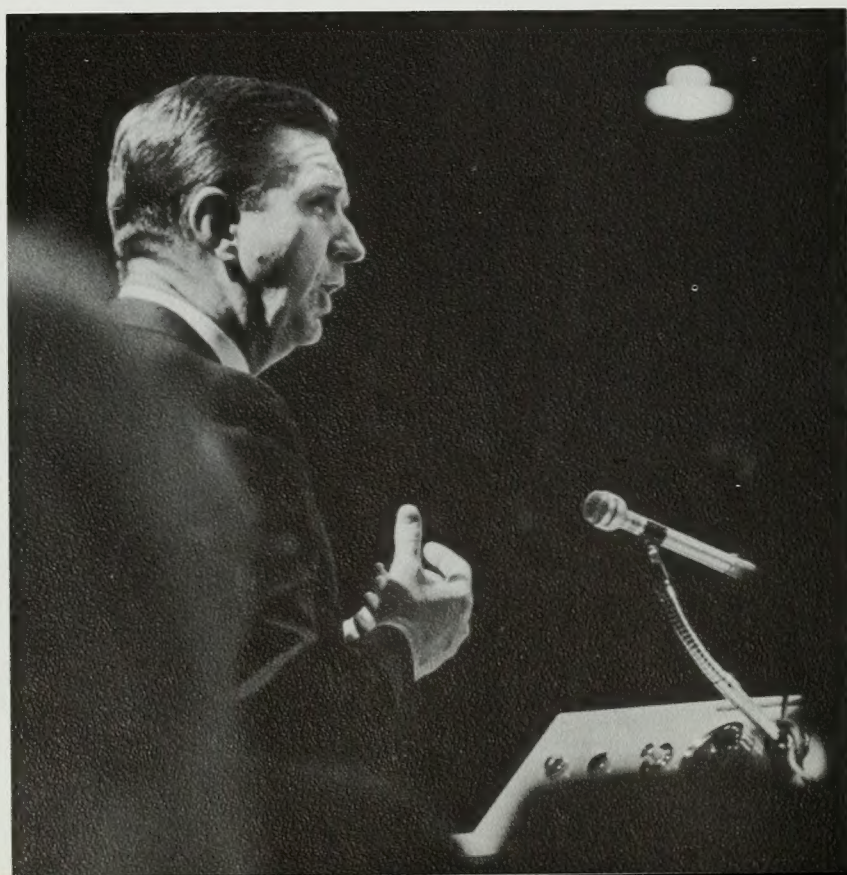

A BYU favorite, Paul H. Dunn spoke to students about baseball, dedication, understanding, skill and enthusiasm. (Below) Boyd K. Packer appealed to the organization part of the students' mind in a talk with quotes such as: "Think about one thing at a time—sing a hymn."

FOUNDER'S DAY CONVOCATION HONORS FOURTEEN WITH MAESER, AULMNI, AND WILKINSON AWARDS

President Ernest L. Wilkinson confers with President Hugh J. Brown before the first Founder's Day Convocation since 1941. President Brown conducted and presided at the assembly which honored distinguished alumni and commemorated the University's birth in 1875.

Dr. William H. Sorensen, president of the alumni association, and Ronald G. Hyde, director, presented the Maeser awards for teaching excellence to Dr. John H. Gardner, Dr. Truman G. Madsen, Dr. Daniel H. Ludlow, and Dr. Clinton L. Oaks. Not pictured are Dr. J. V. Beck, Dr. Hyrum L. Andrus, and Franz M. Johansen, who received Maeser research in creative arts awards; and O. Leslie Stone, who received the Ernest L. Wilkinson Medal.

Mrs. Ethel P. Peterson accepted the Alumni Distinguished Service Award for her son, Maj. Gen. Chesley G. Peterson. B. F. Larson's Maeser Distinguished Teaching Award was received by his wife, Mrs. B. F. Larsen. Others receiving the Alumni Distinguished Service Award are Dr. Leona Holbrook, represented by her student, Miss Glenna Padfield; Mrs. Ora Pate Stewart, Dr. Carl J. Christensen, and Raymond E. Beckham.

Director of the Alumni Relations, Ronald G. Hyde, congratulates Mrs. Ora Pate Stewart as she receives her plaque for the Alumni Distinguished Service Award. Dr. Carl J. Christensen and Raymond E. Beckham, also recipients of the alumni award, look on.

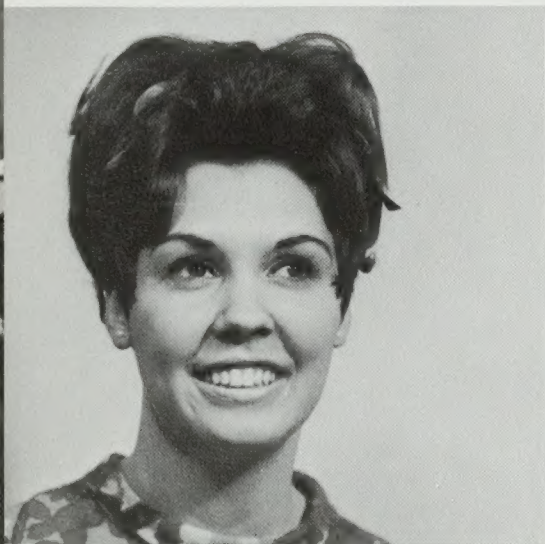

Elder Howard W. Hunter, member of the Council of the Twelve, delivers the keynote address at the Founder's Day Convocation before a crowd of students, alumni, and homecoming guests for the first time in 26 years.

Hinckley Scholarships were awarded to Santiago Garza, Bruce E. Cameron, Ronald Frandsen, Lynn J. Packham, J. Kenneth Mangum, D. To Christofferson, Royal J. Skousen, Brian E. Walton, Lawrence C. Wri, and not pictured, C. Paul Dredge, Stephen R. Gulbrandsen, and J. W. Warner. The twelve scholars were selected from a field of 80 outstanding applicants to receive $750 each. Awarded by the family of Edwin S. Hinckley for the purpose of honoring the former professor and administrator; the scholarships are given annually to encourage academically talented young men to further study at BYU.

Y-STANDOUTS REVEAL SPECIAL PERSONALITIES

Thirteen special girls were selected by A.W.S. to be honored during their special Woman's Week. Nominated by their residence hall or their organization, the Y-Standouts were interviewed by a committee to determine their outstanding qualities. Chosen not for scholastic ability, activities, service or talent, the girls represent a special quality which includes personality, friendliness, sincerity, and their ability to relate to people. It is their special Y-Standout personality.

Representing BYU coeds the Associated Women Students played an important part in initiating new campus organizations to involve women students. Launching into a rewarding year the AWS held an opening reception for freshmen women in September. The biggest event was Women's Week which wove displays, fashion shows, demonstrations, and panel discussions around the theme of "A Man and A Woman." Ettie Lee was presented with the Woman of the Year Award during activities which culminated with the annual Preference Ball and announcement of the Most Preferred Man. From a flurry of swirling fashions and voting a winner emerged from the Best Dressed Girl Contest to be sponsored by the AWS in national competition. Other activities were Sadie Hawkins Day and "Y-Standouts."

AMS Executives: Scott Sly, Even Ginn, Carol Layton, Bill Cole, John Humphrey.

AMS SPONSORS UNIQUE BOOK SALE

Encompassing the male population on campus, the Associated Men Students sought to provide programs where members could work together and experience personal growth, regardless of affiliations. Sponsorship of activities and programs delegated by the student body president offered the opportunities for man-to-man working and personal relationships and for leadership experience. A basic underlying purpose of this organization was to promote Church ideals and spiritual development. Cougar Days roared forth to acquaint students with the ASBYU government, followed by a Turkey Shoot in November. Students found rides home through the Christmas Transportation project, while needy families in the Provo area received clothes and food from the Christmas Drive. A highly successful student book sale was held during semester break. March 18-22 saw the arrival of Men's Week which honored David O. McKay with the Man of the Year Award. Y Day in May and a summer employment project for students ended AMS's year.

In October Editor Jeane Woolfenden attended the National Collegiate Press Convention in Chicago sponsored for all college newspaper and yearbook editors. It was a good chance to see what other colleges were thinking and doing and opened avenues for the new BANYAN editor to compare ideas about the art of producing mammoth college yearbooks.

Soon after her return, however, she found herself in the midst of 30 panicked minds at the first 70 page deadline approached. Section editors ran from group to group, telephone conversations grew strained and wearied as last minute appointments were switched and cancelled. Rushed trips to the fifth floor office to hand in that final revised layout, picture, or copy kept the elevator zooming. The deadline was momentarily met but resented when mistakes were found in the work. The startling reality of "What a mess!" called for alterations in the staff organization. But even with major catastrophes the staff had the wit, sense of humor, and attitude to face emergencies and come out on top. Frequent quotes such as "Do you want anything from the downstairs vending machines? — Yes, get me a 'thing'," accompanied typewriters whenever night work wore on into morning work.

The work slowly began pulling out of the "mess" and the staff rallied. The end was not like a celebration but more like a woozy sigh of relief. Come time for the annual steak-fry, however, and the spirits were high again with returning staff members planning for next year and "asking for it again."

Controversies of communications and critical issues of campus life kept the midnight oil burning in the Daily Universe office. Approximately seventy acting, moving collegiates united their interests in a well-informed campus-body to present their articles of interest and those issues motivating and mobilizing the University. These people dedicated their time to converse and communicate with every corner of circulation on campus; to dig out every morsel of fact and fiction which might be of interest to the individuals of this school. In cooperation with 26 paid staff members there were some 40 volunteers without whom publication of a professional paper such as the Daily Universe would have been impossible. On the average an 8 page issue was run twice a week with a twelve page paper the other three days of the week. As an example of the Universe's success, its circulation was practically parallel to that of the Provo Daily Herald.

Wye, a literary magazine sponsored by the English Department, served as a workshop for student writers and artists. Each semester it published the best student short stories, poetry, and essays. Under the editorship of Thomas Lyle Williams, the magazine was judged "Best Magazine" by the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Association, as in the year past.

The Y Vector magazine staff includes Lynn J. McKell, Carol Lee Stout, and Leland Coleman, (editor), First Row. Second Row: Dan L. Burk, Joseph R. Hilton, Raymond Ward, and Randall L. Taylor.

Y Vector covered Engineering, Chemistry, and Physics departments. The magazine furnished a natural slant toward science. It has a circulation of over 800 and published four editions each self-sustaining from its own advertising. Its editor, Leland Coleman and his associates worked dilligently to make the publications quite unique in their coverages.

Blushing bride, Corie Bratter, blissfully accepts her new apartment.

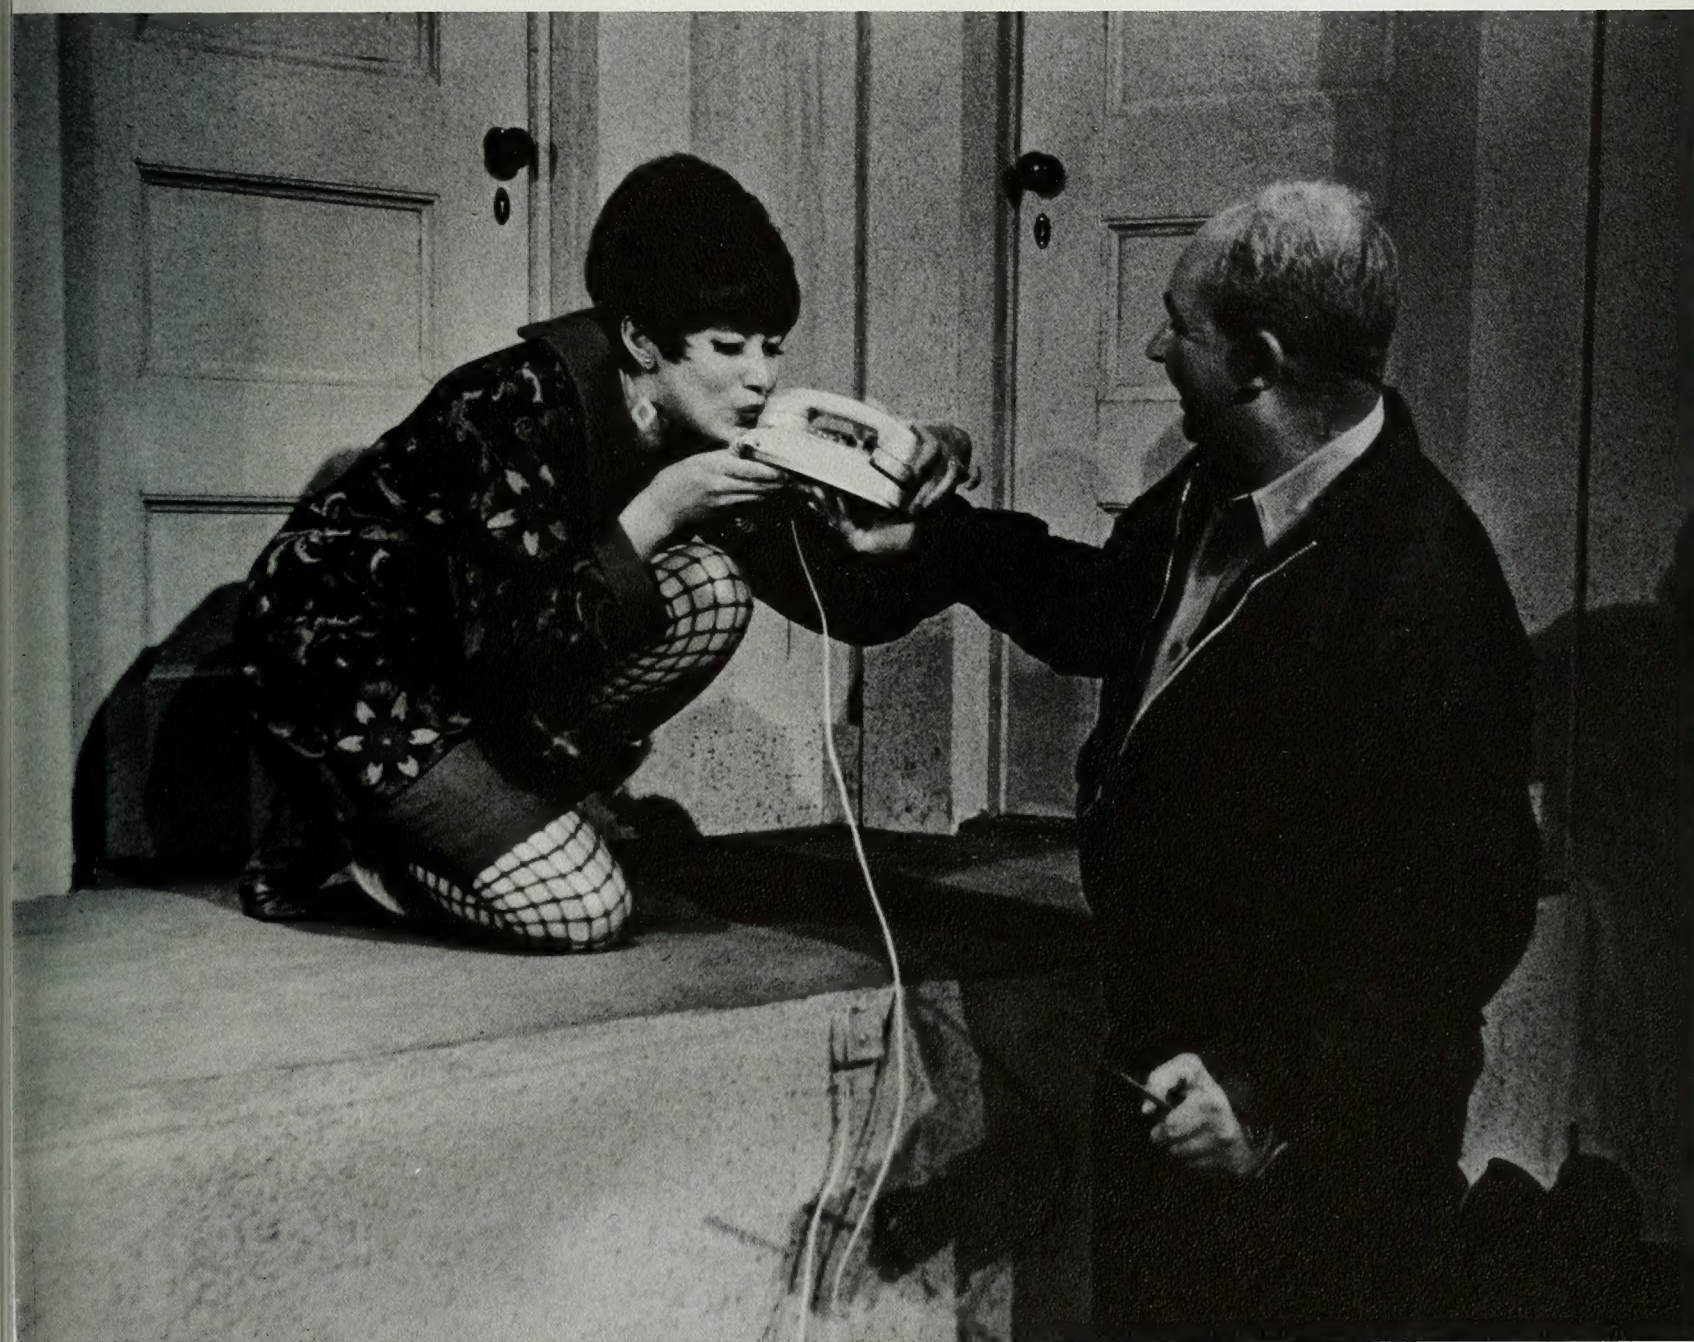

The reassuring bridegroom convinces his doubting bride he still loves her.

Scandal is whispered as Corie's mother finds herself dressed in Casanova's pajamas.

BAREFOOT MARRIAGE: A CHAOTIC ADJUSTMENT

As the curtain rose revealing the world of Corie Bratter, an exhausted figure emerged from a stairway and fell to the floor. He had ascended five flights of stairs to install a telephone in the first home of newlyweds Paul and Corie. Many people climb the stairs and enter into the eventful world of Paul and Corie's paint streaked top floor apartment. Here Paul strives to build his law career while Corie wishes to run barefoot in the park when the snow is falling outside. The result is hilarious conflict. A need for adjustment is generated by the clash between Corie's bare feet and Paul's stuffed shirt. Directed by Dr. Preston Gledhill, a cast performed "Barefoot in the Park," a comedy creating laughter, and inviting understanding. From September 20 through 29, a large BYU audience was invited into the hectic, emotion filled life of newlywed chaos and adjustment.

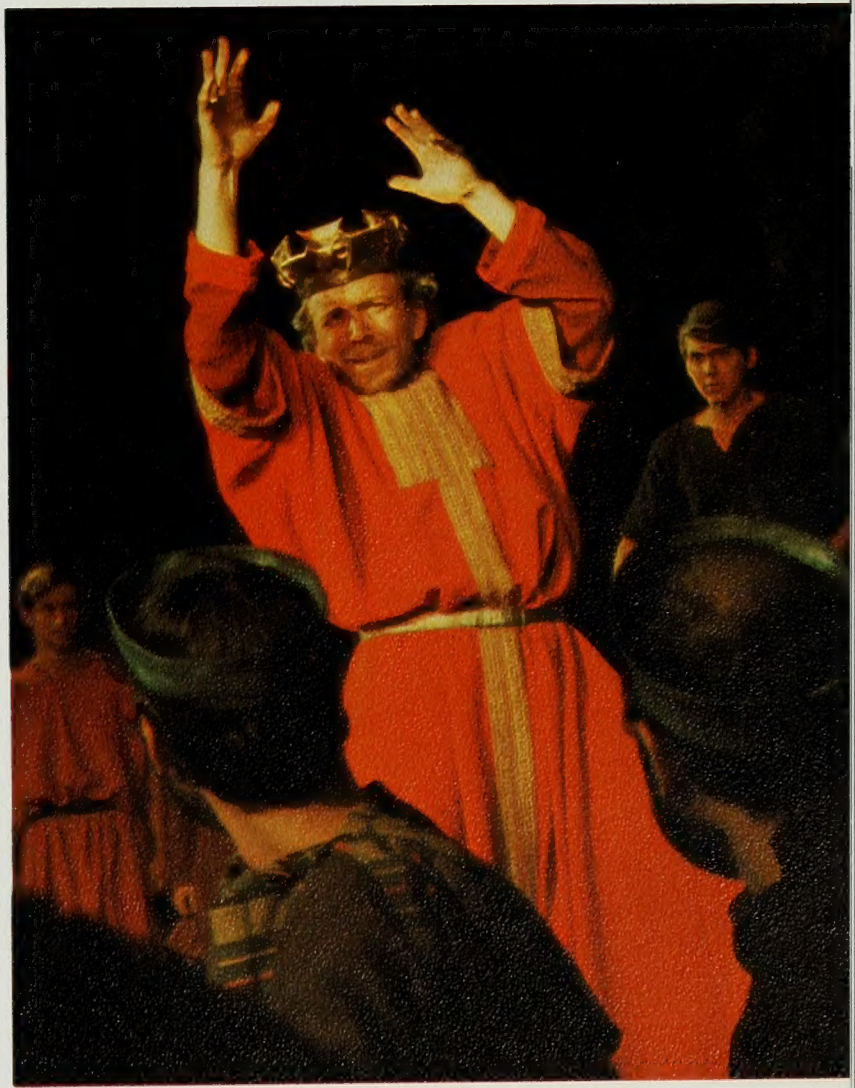

Ecstatic about everything in her new home, Corie embraces her first telephone as the exhausted telephone man stands by in amusement.

AMBITION DESTROYS MACBETH Evil radiated from the Pardoe stage as authentic steel swords clashed out the classic-tragedy of Shakespeare's Macbeth. Directed by Dr. Charles Metten, the play ran December 8th through the 15th.

POETS ADVOCATE ELOPEMENT IN BARRETTS

In the Pardoe Drama Theatre, BYU students, directed by Dr. Preston Gledhill, portrayed the drama of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett. Their meeting at Wim-pole Street are told on stage, the portrayal being the expres-sion not only of their history but of their feeling for one another. Browning's fascination for Elizabeth's poetry and her amazement at his continuous zeal for life, turned to love. The sophisticated performances revealed the actor's sensi-tivity to the feelings of these two prominent literary figures.

DEATH PLOT INTRIGUES AUDIENCE IN MASK BALL

Jealousy, treachery, and sorcery smolder within romantic renaissance Sweden. Elegant Napolenic costumes grace the people loitering within castle courtyards. Then the black evil of plotted murder sifts through the atmosphere of the de Jong Concert Hall. And the excitement is Verdi's opera A Masked Ball. Director, Dr. Don Earl, decided on a double Y cast to add variety and quality to the production. In the opera, King Gustavus III is warned of the assassination plot by his loyal friend, Count Johan, and also by a sorceress. The conspirators triumph and the king dies at his own masked ball. The exquisit opera ran November 30 through December 9.

A MAJORITY OF ONE IS ONE FOR THE MAJORITY

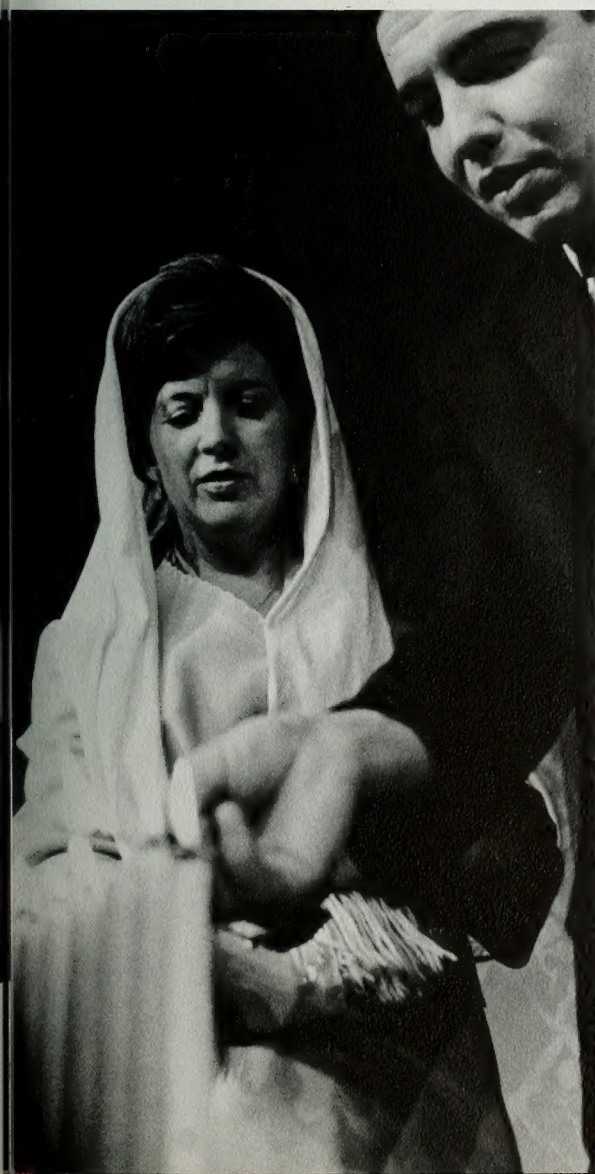

Thoreau's statement "Any man more right than his neighbor constitutes a Majority of One," was applied to the right of parental authority and the right of human tolerance in Leonary Spigelgas's comedy performed on the Pardoe Stage March 1-16. Mrs. Jacoby taught these principles with charming and delightful sagacity and wit to her daughter Alice and son-in-law Jerry Black as they carried their Jewish traditions and contemporary Americanism to Japan. Jerry and Alice, sent by the U.S. foreign service to complete a Japanese business treaty, bring their mother to meet and apparently offend a Zen-Buddhist diplomat, Koichi Asano. However, to their surprise and chagrin, Mrs. Jacoby succeeded in destroying the war's aftermath of hatred, smoothing the path for the business settlement, and uniting the Japanese and Jewish cultures as they "together transcend to the serenity of the enlightened spirit."

Although Mrs. Jacoby finds the home of Mr. Asano very different from her own, she enjoys the Japanese atmosphere. (Upper Left) Alice and Jerry struggle to convince mother that marrying a Japanese would only bring problems; but they meet only opposition when facing the unprejudiced Mrs. Jacoby. (Lower Left) Mr. Asano and Mrs. Jacoby toast to the concerts, balls, and national events.

As Mr. Asano bows his pleasure in meeting one of Mrs. Jacoby's Jewish friends, Mrs. Rubin follows suit with her own traditional "Likewise." (Upper Left) Mrs. Jacoby has shown Mrs. Asano one of her own Jewish customs; that of lighting the candles as a prayer is said. (Lower Left) The home of Mr. Asano depicts the service, devotion and respect the Japanese youth give their elders.

The delightful music created by the Austrian Von Trapp family in the face of Nazi occupation imported its joy to the de Jong Concert Hall when "Sound of Music" was performed February 12-17.

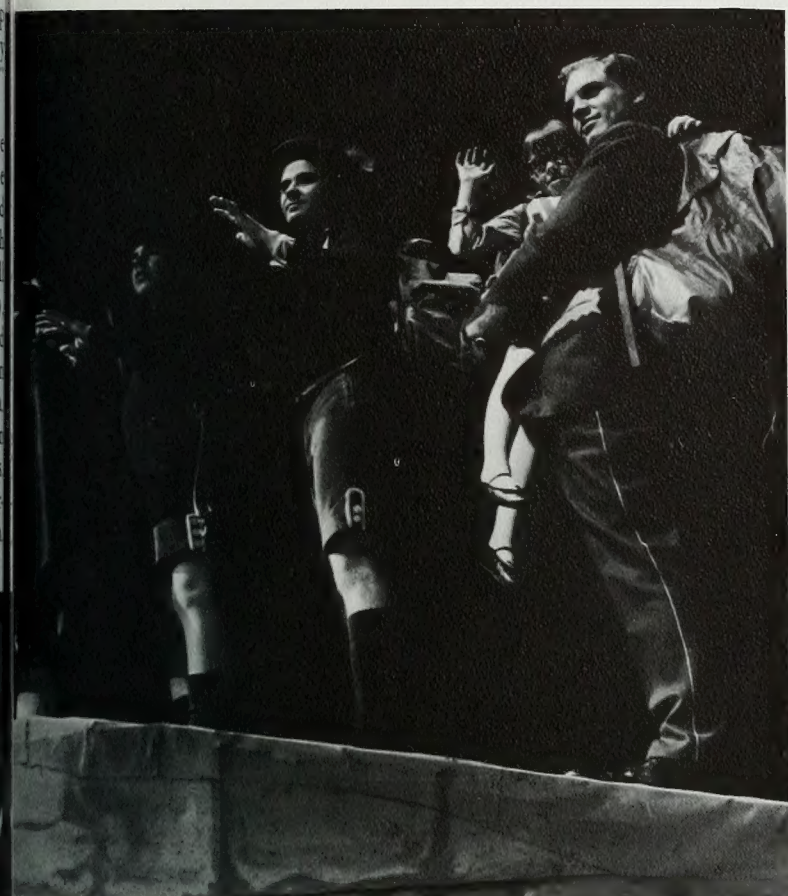

Bubbling with jubilant life Maria (Tamara Fowler) came from a nunnery to the Von Trapp household and relit the flame of love in the hearts of Captain Von Trapp (Jed Nolan) and his seven children, Liesl (Melinda Cummings), Friedrich (Kimbal Jacobs), Louisa (Karen Schneider), Kurt (Bill Bacon), Briggitta (Becci Richards), Marta (Patti Hansen), and Gretl (Annett eDunford). Her vibrant songs banished the stern navy restraint from the family and aided them in defying and escaping from the Nazi invasion of Austria.

OPERA WORKSHOP PERFORMS IN MANY MUSICAL PRODUCTIONS

Backstage in the wings of the de Jong Concert Hall, one could find a lot of hard work, talent, cooperation and devotion to the Opera Workshop in the 60 vocalists who appeared to the public in The Masked Ball and La Perichole. In addition to these operas by Verdi and Offenbach, the troupe brought talent and culture to the area high schools with the one act productions of Sunday Excursion, Telephone, Marva, Prelude to Lohengrin, and In a Graden. These impressive performances were backed by daily rehearsal and practice in addition to private lessons, extra lead-role practice, and late evening practices.

Directing this dedicated musical effort was Dr. Don L. Earl with his assistant Roy L. King. Activities of the "Op Shop" were handled by the officers: Don Jensen, president; Evelyn Rogers, vice president; Linda Steimle, social chairman; Carol Keddington, treasurer; and Gregory Charlton, secretary and publicity chairman. The enthusiasm of these students added extra sparkle to operas.

NATION-WIDE "SPEAKING OF MUSIC" FEATURES

MALE CHORUS

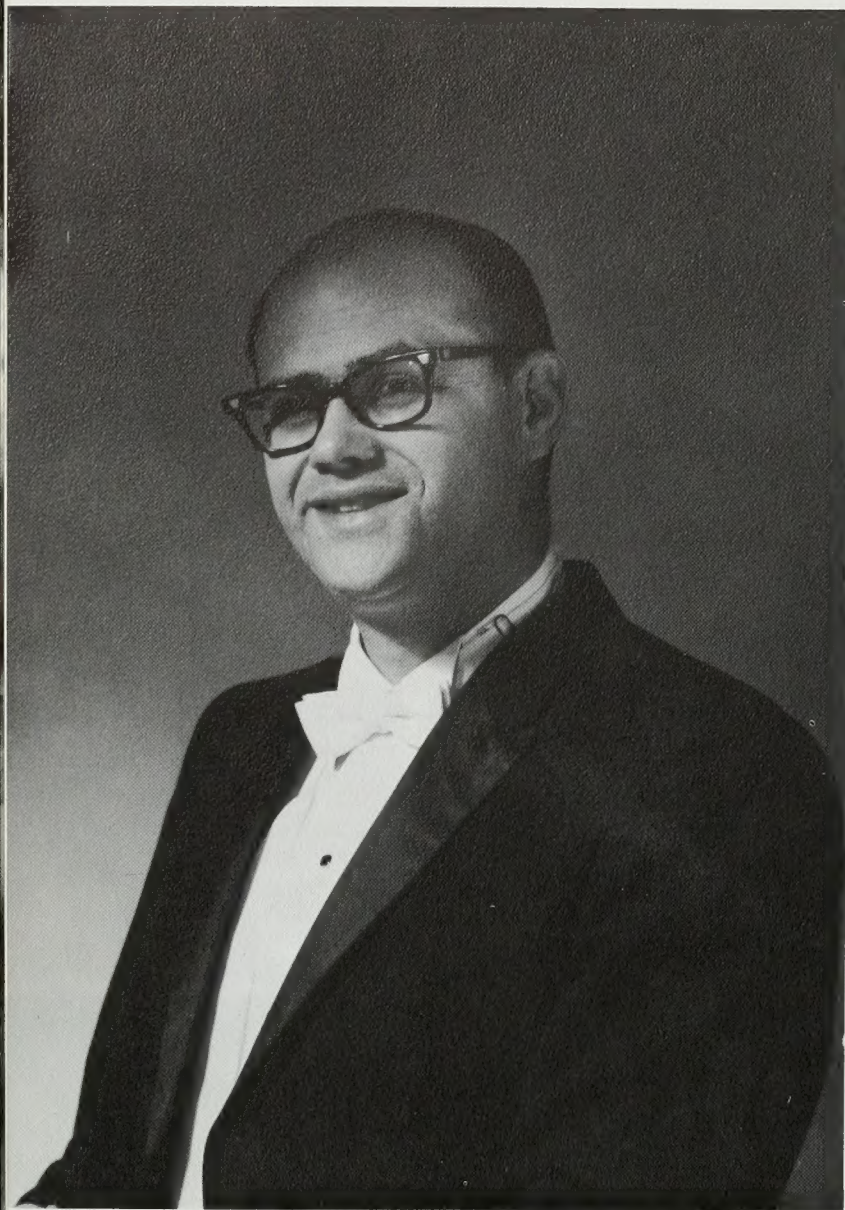

Sharp appearance complements the skilled, trained voices that combine to produce excellence.

The 50-voice Male Chorus, selected from 150 auditions by Dr. Ralph Woodward, highlighted its musical year by a five day tour through Nevada and California in December. Developed from a ROTC chorus adopted by the Music Department, the group participated each Sunday on the ABC radio "Speaking of Music" broadcast. Three concerts — two of which were shared with the Women's Chorus — occupied the agenda along with Devotional, Christmas, and April Conference appearances.

At the head of these activities were President Russ Mouritsen, Vice-President Ray Ashby, Secretary Gary Green, Historian Nick Randall, Tour Chairman Robert Clark, Treasurer Harold Monson, and Publicity Chairman Reed Stewart. Gayle Groo, graduate assistant, and Rosanne Callister, accompanist, also aided their musical renditions of "Oandsighting" by Grieg, "Truth Shall Deliver, by Shuman, "Coro di Morto" by Petrassi, "The West Wind" by Robert Cundick, and selections from "Rise and Shout".

Robert Downs selects only women whose voices blend.

In concert, the faces of young women reflected the simple smile of a song-poem. Its perception was captured in music and conveyed in chorus. Under the able direction and artistry of conductor Robert Downs, 63 auditioned voices were blended and refined into Women's Chorus. "A Girl's Garden," "The Harmony of Morning," "Praise Ye The Name of The Lord," and songs similar to these in tone and beauty revealed the chorus' and conductor's brilliant interpretation of their music; their tribute to Brigham Young University campus life.

A desire to train their voices, to contribute to the culture at BYU,

Two impressive religious works, Te Deum and Book of Mormon Oratorio, were presented by the Oratorio Choir in their first concert in December. Combining with the Symphony Orchestra in a March performance, and the Utah Valley Symphony in performing the Mozart Requiem in April, the Choir concluded its season with an outdoor concert held in the old stadium in May. Directing this talented group of 161 members was Dr. Kurt Weinzinger with President Barry J. Statton and accompanists Mary Beth Reynolds and Jackie Young.

A CAPPELLA PREPARES FOR SUMMER EUROPEAN TOUR

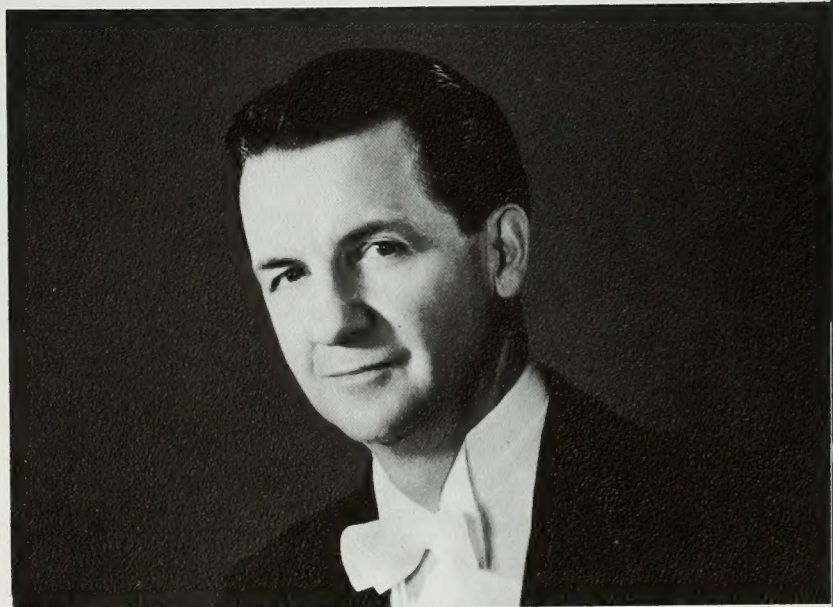

There is beauty in the music of the voice; a simple beauty of song without instrumental accompaniment; a naturalness of feeling in voices singing a cappella. The BYU A Cappella Choir was a body of refinement and excellence in music. Its members, mostly music majors but drawn from all colleges, felt pride in their music and reflect sensitivity in their performances. The artistry and skilled direction of director Dr. Ralph Woodward was recognized in every performance of the choir. Performing in numerous devotionals, the fieldhouse frolics, and the December program, "Gifts of Christmas," the A Cappella Choir demonstrated a standard of refinement. Dr. Woodward's highly select group was prepared for a summer European tour to Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy. The choir performed two major concerts during the year, toured the western states, and recorded the album "Rise and Shout No. 2." The choir's achievements are a source of great pride for BYU.

Intense concentration creates a culmination of individual voices.

Containing an unusually large number of members and featuring the male minority in a unique seating arrangement, the University Chorale sang two concerts this year, one in November and one in April. The 410 chorale members also joined the BYU combined choruses to sing at April conference as well as performing at several devotionals and firesides. The musical repertoire of the chorale included selections from each major musical period: Renaissance, Baroque, Classic, Romantic, and Modern. They also chose from several different languages: Latin, Italian, German, and French.

Under the direction of Kurt Weinzinger, Gayland Thomas, graduate assistant and Rulon Christiansen, the chorale held daily rehearsal, while activities and business matters were under student handling.

SYMPHONY PLAYS AT NATIONAL CONVENTION

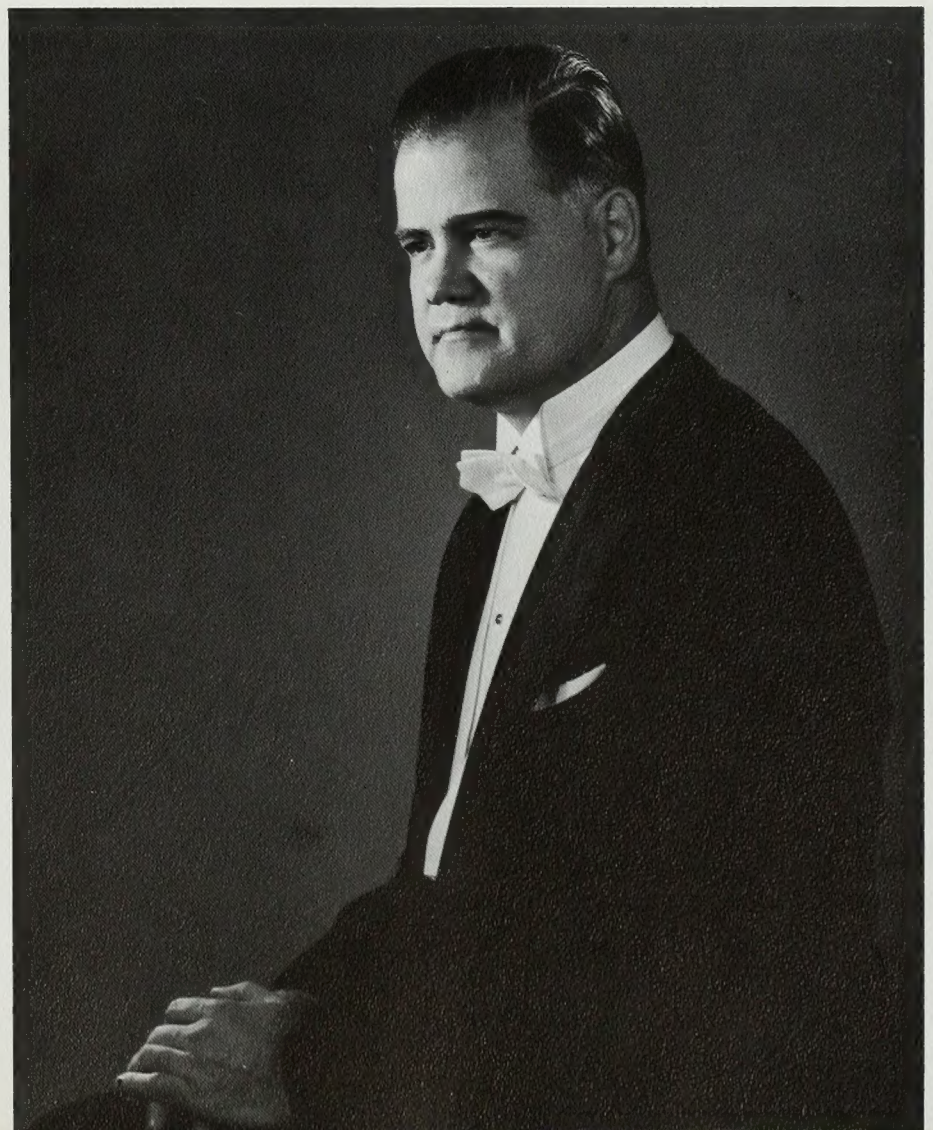

In March Symphony Orchestra made a very successful trip to Seattle, Washington, to play for a National Music Educators Convention.

Members of Symphony Orchestra after providing music for Devotional, listen to speakers.

In a March performance, BYU Symphony Orchestra showed its precision and interpretation as it gave a concert at the Music Educator's National Convention in Seattle, Washington. The only university to be so highly honored with an invitation to perform at the convention, the symphony also toured in Washington, Idaho, and Oregon during the trip. Performances in Utah included a one day tour to high schools in the Salt Lake area and three formal concerts on campus. The orchestra also participated in the nationally broadcasted program, "Speaking of Music," produced weekly by BYU for the American Broadcasting Company.

The one hundred members, led by President Dale Johnson and Secretary Virginia Philips, were all selected by strict auditioning. Director Ralph G. Laycock, selected this talented group, which played sixteen different instruments, to create an extensive repertoire which included the orchestration of the operas and oratorios presented on the BYU campus.

Then strains from "Pentland Hills, Concert March" pierced the stillness to begin the combined Concert and Symphonic Band Concert on January 15. Alternately led by Director of Bands, Richard E. Ballou, James Mooney and Robert Campbell, the 75-member Concert Band also performed for various forum assemblies and for the Tourch of Freedom program in November. The B. F. Larsen Art Gallery in December provided the setting for "Christmas Music at Mid-day." This first successful year for two performing concert bands closed with the future holding a place in the bands for everyone who participated.

LARGE PARTICIPATION IN TWO PERFORMING CONCERT BANDS

Andante, C minor, half rest . . ." following such instructions, the 70 members of the Symphonic Band presented a cross section of all types of music throughout the year. Members auditioned for positions and played at the Fieldhouse Frolics during Homecoming. December saw a contact tour of high schools in Utah County, while in February the band left for performances in Nevada and California. The annual Ricks College Concert Band and BYU Symphonic Band combined concert was held on February 16 in the Salt Lake Tabernacle. BYU hosted the annual CBDNA convention during the first week in March. Culminating the series was a combined concert May 13.

THE INCOMPARABLE COUGAR MARCHING BAND

Incomparable, hard working, stylish, colorful and thrilling were adjectives that described the 1968 Cougar Marching Band. Performing at football game half-times, members came from 18 states and a foreign country. These dedicated members were under the direction of Prof. Richard E. Ballou with Grant C. Elkington assisting. Severin Johnson was drum major, Rosemary Robinson, solo majorette and lead Brighamettes.

LYCEUMS BRING GREAT ARTISTS TO BYU CAMPUS

As an extension of an ancient Greek custom, the Lyceum series has brought outstanding musical culture to BYU. The colorful fascination of Mexico was enacted by the Fiesta Mexicana troupe which opened the season in October. In November, Soviet pianist Valdemir Ashkenazy presented a "solidly classical" piano concert which was followed by the "twenty-fingered string quartet" piano duo of Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale in January. Bella Rudenko, a people's artist of the USSR, performed in February. Additional Soviet talent appeared on the Pardoe stage as Valery Kilmov performed on his violin. Two concerts of the Utah Symphony Orchestra, one directed by Hans Richter-Haaser, concluded the 1967-68 series.

CREATIVITY IS THE KEY TO ARTISTIC ENJOYMENT

Man fancies a dream, creates a vision, in painting. Through the delicate tips of his fingers he portrays the fine lines of truth and beauty in his life. He feels the color of blue in her eyes, he senses the warm soft blush that rises on her neck as he paints. The sound of hailstones pattering in the rain barrel is heard in the strokes of his stormy days in summer.

A rainbow of oils remains as a dormant spring. That bread of life by which he lives lays motionless, unnoticed until the Master feels his gift of perception tingle his fingers. Suddenly with a flourish of human excitement he strokes the first image of life upon a blank and whitened piece of canvas.

Long hours of smudging, retouching, and recaptivating reproduce that living, moving life of man now found hanging in his World of Art. His dreams are realities; his visions are truths. He has created another world—the world he perceives as being his own.

WORDS AND CLAY REVEAL AMERICAN ARTS

The artist and the art are created by the imagination of another greater than themselves. A time to think; a time when the hand becomes the master of the imagination. Life becomes intermingled with art; and then remains but an imitation. The finished product, once conceived in the mind is now the artist's pride.

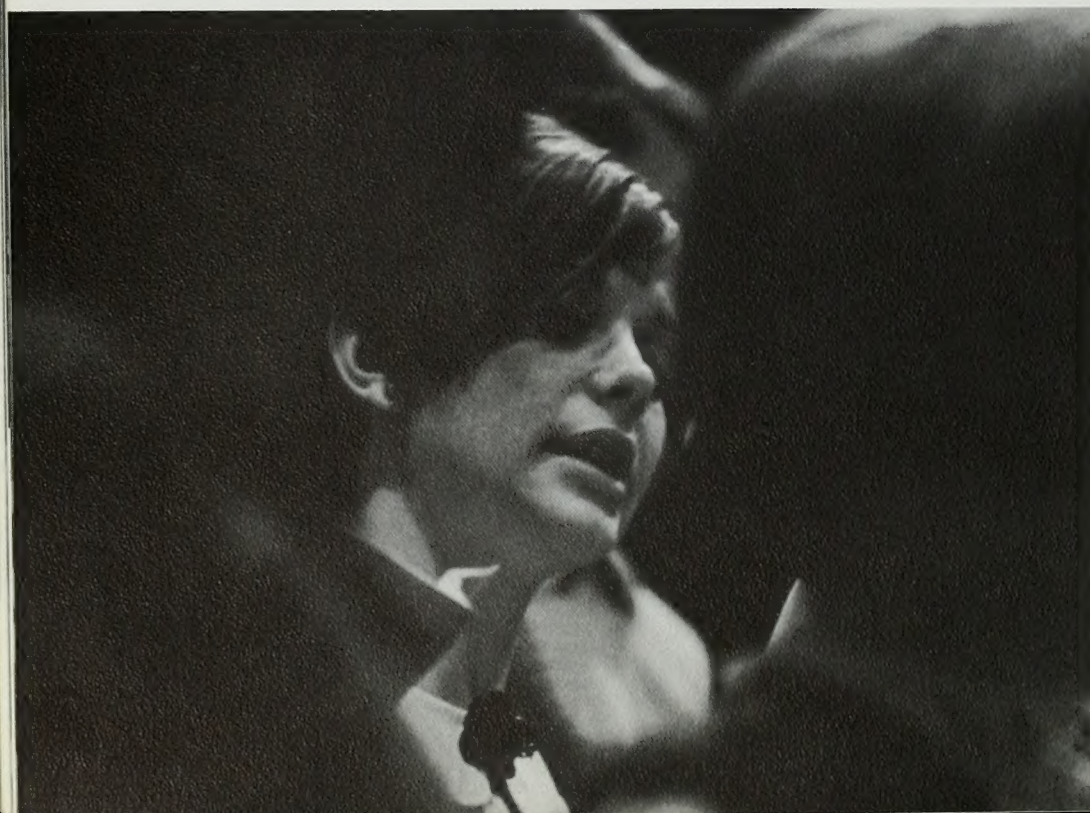

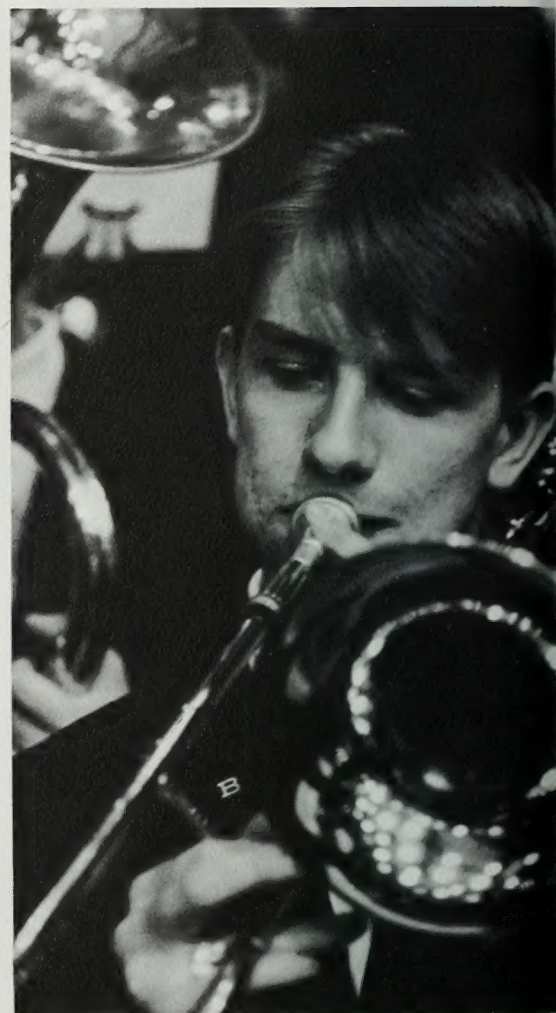

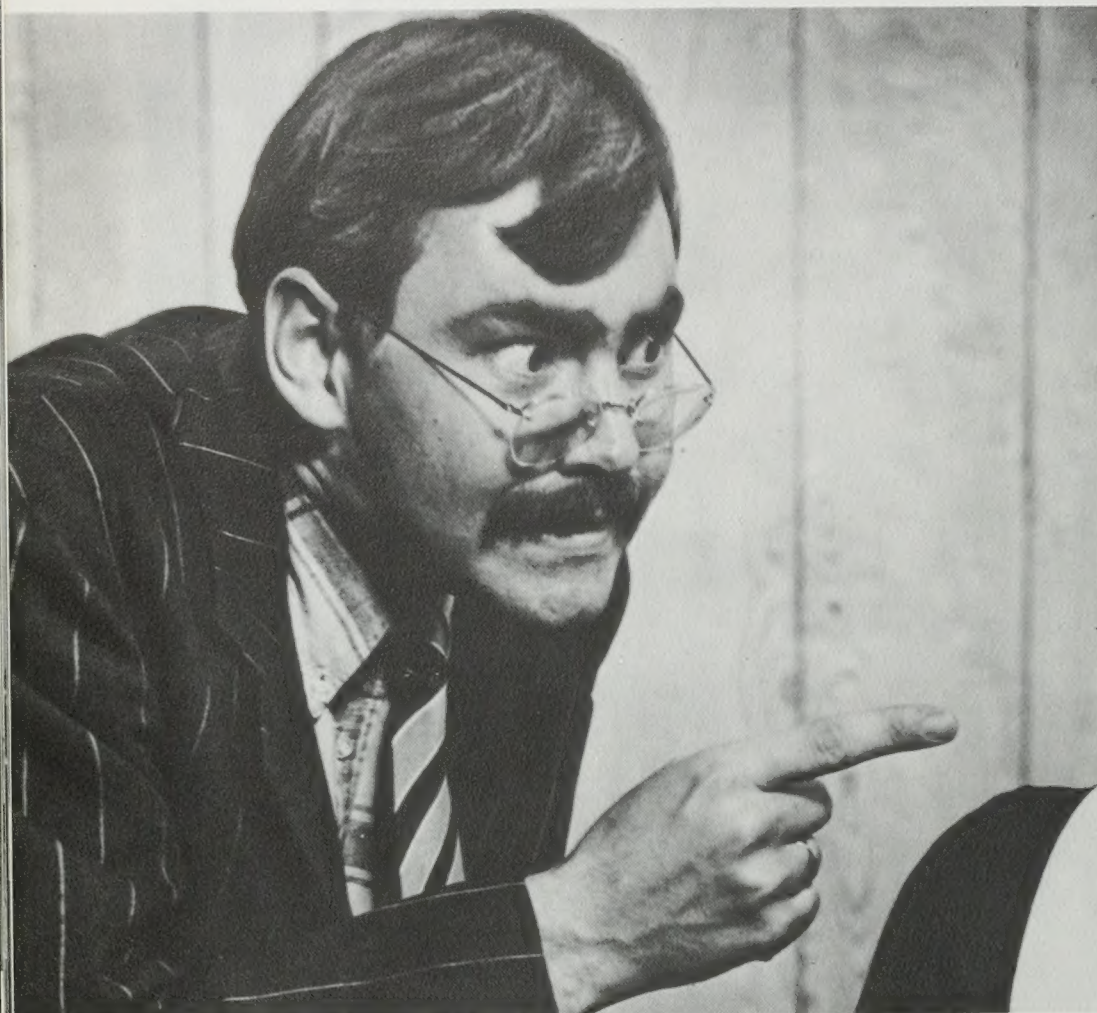

The touch transforms the meaningless into a seeable object of art. Life becomes this art when transfiguring the real into the preceived. When man searches for and forms with his hands his image of what the creator designed in the beginning, he too, creates reality. An artist takes pen in hand and causes human tears to flow or hearts to laugh through words filled with ache or joy. He feels, sees, and smells through the images man portrays by phrases and through passages. Aside from expressing response to his environment, man, too, becomes the skilled, the fine instrument of our mechanized world as he attempts to construct more understandable products than those which he copies. Those long tiring sessions and swollen eyelids prove the dedicated obsession for his writing and his art as the young master completes the last curve of the woman, once clay, or the concluding testimony as he sums up his written portrait of life. The child created from a small incomplete figment of his imagination to the fullness of a fully formed, beautifully developed figure of man.

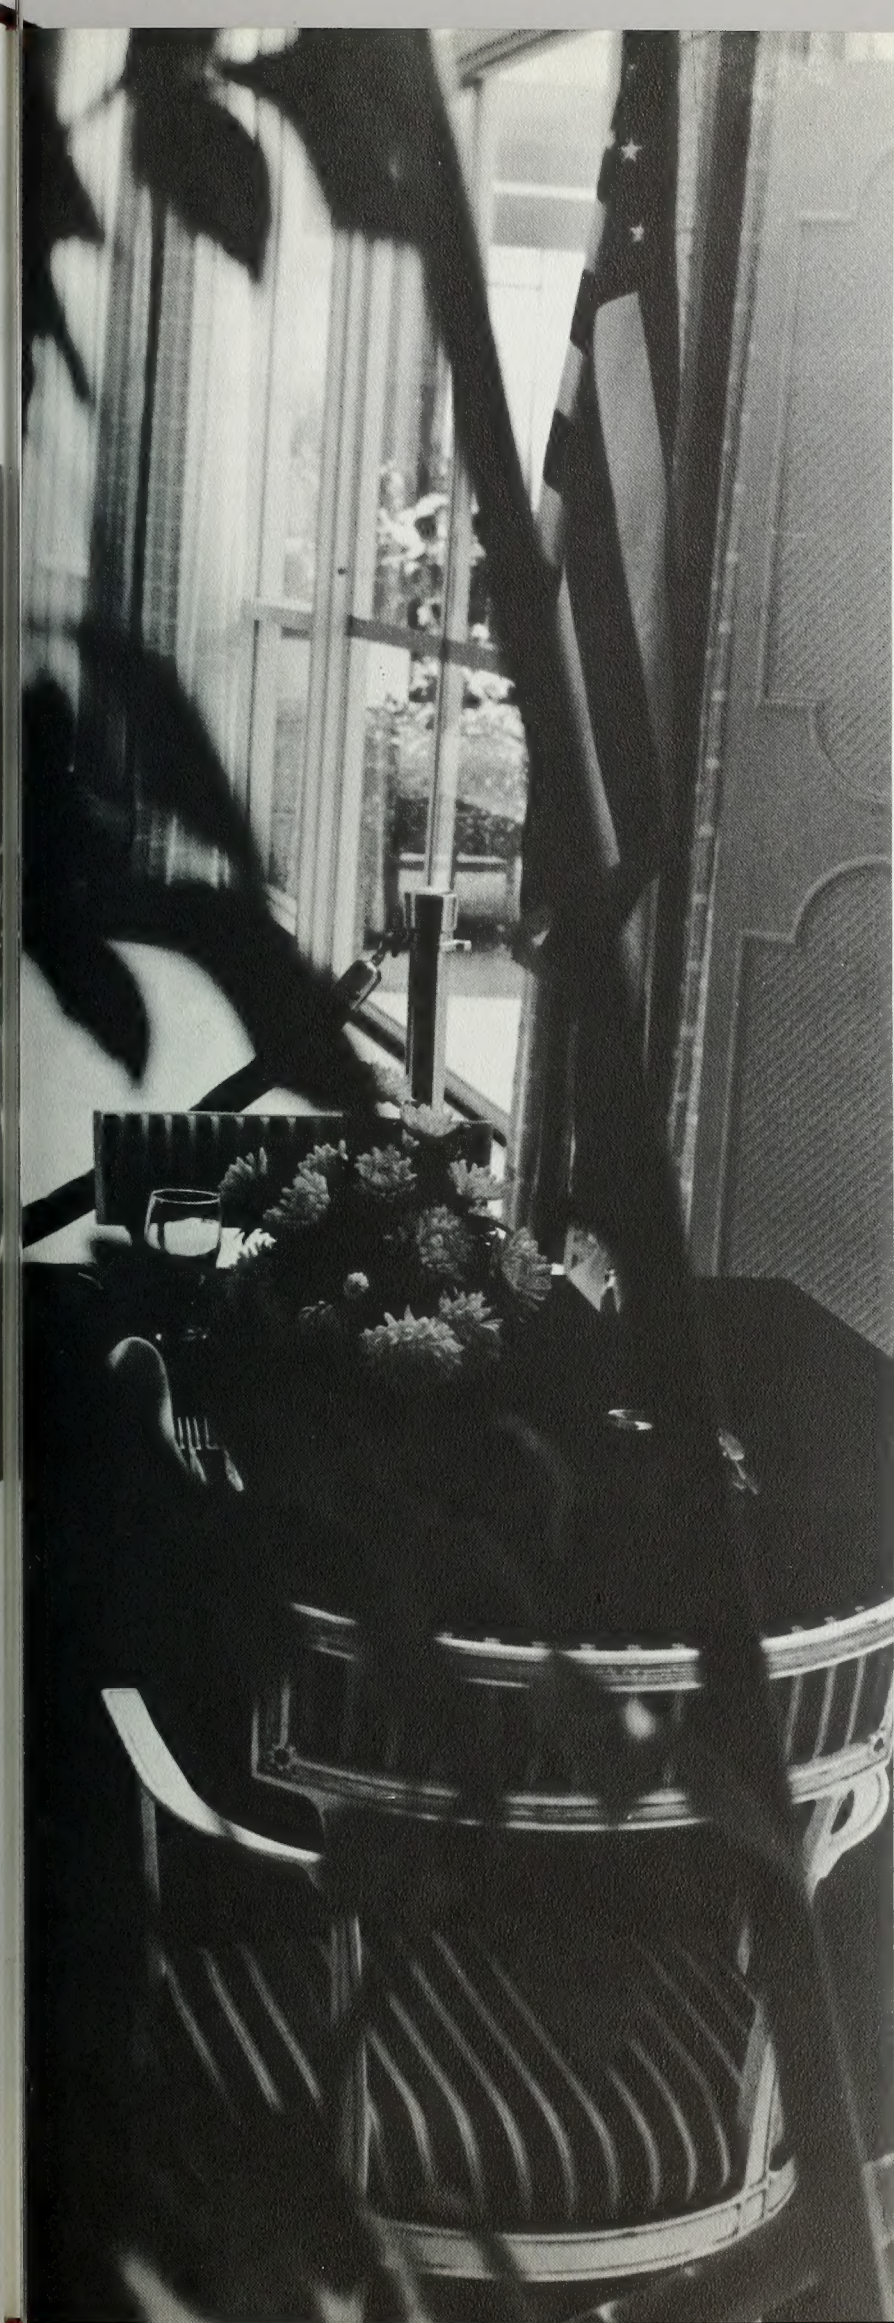

FINE ARTS FOCUS BYU'S RESERVOIR OF TALENT

Fine Arts is a symbol of life. . . life caught up in action and preserved in a word, a note, a hue, a texture. A symbol spanning the void between human souls with a unity of expression of individual self with all mankind.

SOCIAL EVENTS

LEARNING TO BECOME LEADERS

Invigorating mountain air, shimmering aspens, and crisp nights provided the setting for the annual Leadership Conference held at Aspen Grove from September 4-8. Approximately 100 BYU student leaders assembled to learn about administrative behavior and procedures and to apply behavioral science to management problems. In-between acquiring skills in creative use of executive time and in problem-solving techniques, the delegates enjoyed the facilities for swimming, ping-pong, and tennis. "T" groups afforded the opportunity to build personal relationships and to analyze Self-Renewal and Antigone. Conference speakers included Truman Madsen, Steven Covey, and Marion D. Hanks. Culminating the convention were skits and a sizzling steak fry before student leaders returned to face the 1967-68 school year with enthusiasm and a firmer dedication to their various positions.

Groups discussed the qualities of an effective leader.

REGISTRATION 1967 "FIELDHOUSE FROLICS"

Striking in various degrees, the highly contagious biannual attack of registration reached epidemic proportions on the BYU campus for two days this fall, affecting a record 21,824 students. External symptoms included frequent trips to consult with advisers continued revision of schedules, and podiatric problems either from miles of walking or from waiting in endless lines. A daytime enrollment of 20,375 students topped all previous records. For the first time students who attained senior status during the fall semester were allowed to register first along with the returning seniors in the spring. To minimize the amount of time spent in meeting advisers, pre-registration advisement forms were available for spring semester.

COUGAR DAYS PROMOTE VICTORY SPIRIT

Come on Cougars, it's up to you! The fighting spirit of football and fall literally took hold and lunged the Cougars onward to victory and the old college try. AMS stepped in to rally forth the 20,000 fans of BYU and to strike up the roaring flame which undoubtedly helped to carry our men over the goal line to success. Cheers of "Come On Cougars," "Claw, Claw, Claw," could not provide the last ounce of determination needed to carry that ball through a line of grizzlers but who can doubt it's support and strength. This spirit of support was the aim of the annual Cougar Days held in the late fall by AMS.

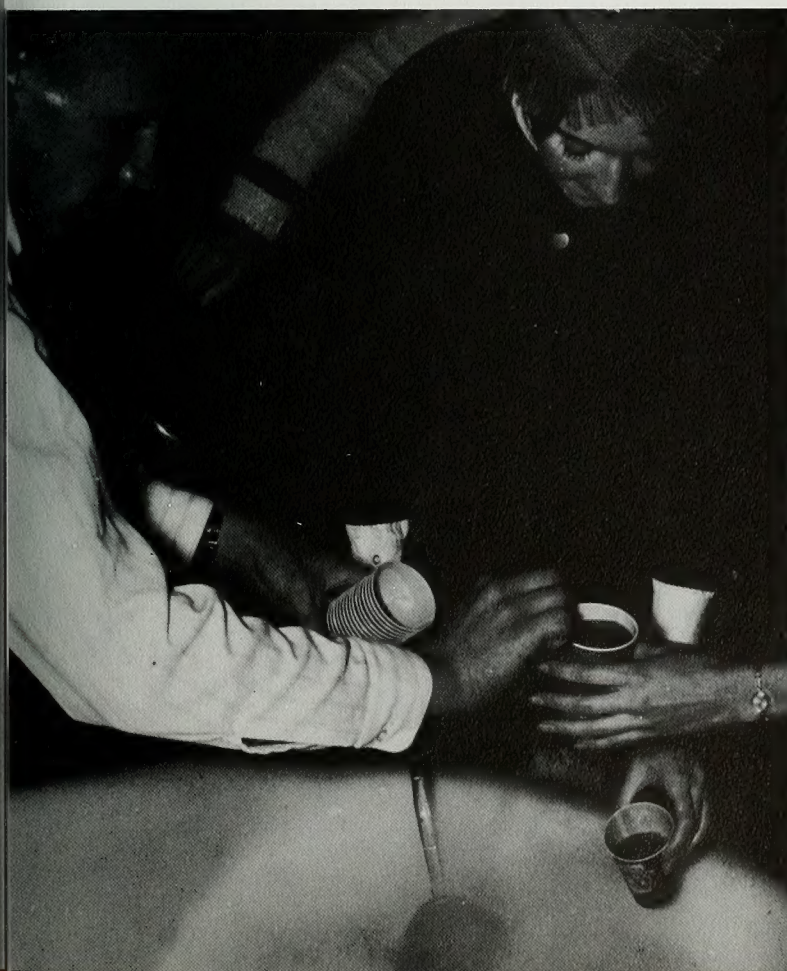

Campus corners jived as the Sounds of Freedom sang out "A New Tomorrow" while Cougars stomped to the music of a combo, one of the many found on campus this year. Jailbirds are a rare sight on BYU territory but when Anti-Red Day struck all guilty red wearers paid the penalty of supporting, even in color, that team to the north. The "jail" was guarded all day by AMS sheriffs who strictly enforced their law and order in the land of only Blue Cougars preparing for the slaughter of their University of Utah opposition.

HICK'S HAPPENING CATERS TO THE COUNTRY SET

In hill-billy attire, many students attended Hick's Happening, which was held September 29, 1967 in a picturesque Provo barn. The event was sponsored by the Senior Class to give students the opportunity to get acquainted. Activities adding to the ozark atmosphere were hayrides, refreshments served from a bath tub and a genuine country quartet. Dancing, of course, was part of the evening's events and students danced to the swing country sounds of the Carl William's Quartet.

AMERICAN WEEK

Americans, congratulations! This is what I call a demonstration!" Greeting the 15,000 people assembled en masse for the Torch of Freedom Spectacular in the Smith Fieldhouse, Paul Harvey launched his address from "the threshold of the most magnificently exciting era in the history of the world." This prize-winning radio commentator and columnist was the featured speaker at an assembly that highlighted American Week at BYU, December 4 through December 8.

According to Paul Harvey, the new era was far from being "no work and all ease—all honey and no bees," for it is here on earth that we have to establish our worthiness to be in Paradise. This life here is furthermore to be plagued by storms in the shape of a military holocaust, an economic catastrophe, a prolonged flood, or a protracted drought. What is promised in this testing time is that "we individually and collectively, are going to get precisely what we deserve." In comparing our earth to a house, Paul Harvey felt "with good housekeeping with our national policy and international policy, maybe we will find our tedious chores in Korea and Vietnam a little less exasperating."

Upon examining opinions of various experts from among social scientists, psychologists, psychiatrists, criminologists, and educators on the cause of riots, Mr. Harvey emphasized the elementary fact that "we all feel like rioting sometime. Hardly a days goes by but what each of us—each of us—becomes exasperated to some degree . . ." What counts is "how much you can take; how many times you can pick yourself up when you fall down; how much crow you can eat; how many times you can turn the other cheek and somehow keep on keeping on." In other words, self-discipline is what the problem involves.

The example of our long public relief rolls was used to express that "we are not guided nearly so much by how we know as by how we feel. That is why a lot of pretty good Americans go around these days preaching free enterprise and voting for Santa Claus." Because of the limited time, effort, energy, and resources for housecleaning, "let's not worry about the wrong things first . . . I am not nearly so anxious about the lousy communists as I am about the lazy Americans."

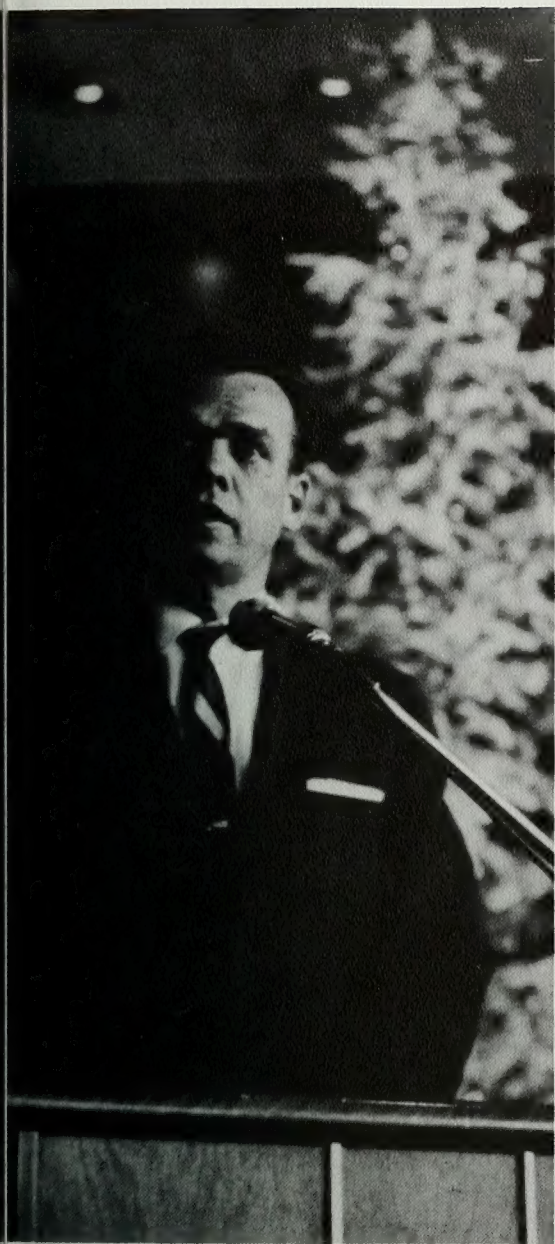

At this point the news commentator made the following plea to BYU students: "Oh please, oh please, try in your hearts to comprehend the magnificence of an opportunity which gives you such a splendid headstart in an educational institution which does not confine itself to refining your intellect, but also to the discipline of your emotions. But don't come here, please, because this dares to be an uncommon institution, and then make it over into something it is not."

President Ernest L. Wilkinson's earlier remarks that "America was great because she was good" prompted Paul Harvey to comment that "rather than exhaust ourselves, we had better figure out what it is that makes a nation strong, strong enough to keep its people free." The limit to which we as a nation must exhaust ourselves in cleaning up the earth is not to the extent of spending ourselves poor, as history has shown with the great nation-states.

Turning to the credit side of the ledger after this examination of the frustration and exasperation of the present generation, Mr. Harvey expounded that "being an American is still worth dying for; it is worth working at!" In reality our problems are not worse today; "we are more actually aware of them, and communications are largely responsible for that awareness." America's progress and gains in retail sales, construction awards, salaries, and government income were all emphasized. There is "no other nation on this ball of mud with such delightful problems as too many cars and too much wood." In this nation there is a mass demonstration every Sunday when 49 million Americans march out into the streets to go to church. This nation has people standing in line waiting to get in instead of dying trying to get out.

Paul Harvey's conclusion reminded the audience that through threats of communism, dollar erosion, wanton crimes, and such, "our generation spawned this upcoming one. Our generation dug itself out from under one of the most cruel depressions that any nation in history ever survived; our generation managed such medical progress that every young man and woman in this room tonight is reasonably assured of additional, useful, pain-free years. Wherever our self-interest is menaced to the degree that we must fight, then we should fight to win." To his listeners was aimed this closing challenge: Young Americans, you, you get no apology. You get yourselves a country that is mostly civilized, and an economy that is still mostly free, a church door that is still opened. And you get a new broom, a new hoe, and a new chance to preserve and protect and defend and deserve these things." There was an enormous applause given; the audience stood with an ovation to demonstrate its united respect; a prayer was given. Thus, came to a close American Week on December 7th, Pearl Harbor Day.

POLYNESIANS IGNITE ENTHUSIASM

Exotic Polynesia—the sounds of the waves splashing on the shores of white beaches, and dances of the faraway, sun-drenched islands, were all brought to life for the students of BYU during the annual Polynesian Week. Hawaii was featured Monday with local artifacts and an authentic pageant depicting its colorful history. The eternal green islands of Samoa were spotlighted Tuesday with leather-like tapa cloth and shell leis. New Zealand displayed its Maori life on Wednesday with poi dances and hakas. The award-winning Thursday assembly included dances from the islands. Romantic Tahiti with its colorful dancing exhilarated Friday. A luau, with kalua pig and poi, concluded the week.

INTERNATIONAL WEEK---BYU

From all corners of the earth, students come to BYU. For the eighth consecutive year BYU's foreign students have combined their efforts to present International Week. Held during the week of February 12th, this years theme was "Expo BYU." During the week tables depicting foreign countries of the world were displayed in the Y Center. Contributing to the international air was the daily entertainment provided each day in the Wilkinson Center lounge by different foreign countries. Climaxing the week, was the first world wide tricycle race, which was won by the ASBYU Executive Council, who demonstrated tremendous driving skill.

HOMECOMING CASTS A COUGAR SHADOW

BYU's Mr. Alumni, President Wilkinson, leads the parade.

By 4 a.m. a line of students went from the north door of the Wilkinson Center to the south door of the Library. At 5 a.m. 5,000 early birds dozed in line waiting to purchase tickets for homecoming events. Thus, as the sun peeked over the mountain tops during early morning hours, a shadow was cast that soon lengthened to endure a week and to usher in Homecoming at BYU.

Music permeated the nippy air as pop and folk tunes were presented daily in the ELWC. To help "Cast a Cougar Shadow," the 75-member military band, NORAD, presented a "Cavalcade of Music," while before 8,000 spectators at the fieldhouse Roger Williams lent keyboard magic to the Homecoming Concert.

Out of the 106 hopeful girls, three were chosen to reign at Homecoming Royalty and crowned at the Forum Assembly by last year's queen to the theme of "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever." Judged on a different basis, one turtle out of 125 hopefuls merited the sweepstakes trophy in the

In sports, organizations amassed points toward the Homecoming Supremacy Trophy in the men's and women's field and track events. Meanwhile only triumph awaited the Cougars as they defeated the University of Arizona 17-14 by a shadow of a score in a tense gridiron game.

Founder's Day was reinstated as a part of traditional Homecoming activities with the conferment of Alumni Distinguished Service Awards, Karl G. Maeser Awards, and the Ernest L. Wilkinson medal upon recipients. A campus tour and banquet ensued.

Provo became alive with colors to compete with the fall hues of the mountains, as over 51 housing units contended in the decoration contest. On Saturday one of the largest parades on record, over 50 floats, glided down University Avenue. Culminating a week full of memories and new experiences for all were the Fieldhouse Frolics, the lighting of the Y, and the Homecoming Ball.

RING OUT THE OLD BRING IN A COUGAR NEW YEAR

Confetti, noisemakers, streamers, and balloons were all a part of BYU's Cougar New Year, celebrated in the Wilkinson Center ballroom. Providing music for the event was the Paul White Band. 1968 arrived with the releasing of balloons, confetti, and singing of "Auld Lang Syne." Dressed in top hat and tails, Cosmo made a midnight appearance, distributed prizes and wished all a Happy New Year.

SING A SONG OF SUNSHINE

On March 22, the fieldhouse was filled with sounds of sunshine, as the 1968 Songfest was held. Performing that night in competition were the ten finalist wards and clubs. All of the songs performed were original compositions and were based on the Songfest theme, "Sunshine A Soalin!" Providing intermission entertainment were the religion faculty, who sang "You Can't Get to Heaven Without a Ph.D.," and the "hippie" football team, who did their version of "Walkin' the Dog." The first place trophy was awarded to the Japanese Club, 71st Ward placed second and 23 Ward, 3rd.

Women's Week, November 27-December 1, was one designed to be different. Thursday Ettie Lee, a California school teacher, was honored as Woman of the Year at the forum assembly. To especially develop the theme of "A Man and A Woman," two panel discussions examined the nature of womanhood. One comprised of Dean Cameron, Lynn McKinley, J. Joel Moss and Paul Gilbert discussed "Man Views Women." The other panel of Ettie Lee, Alice Wilkinson, Maxine Cameron, Carol Lynn Pearson and Glora Beckstead examined the topic "Woman Views Woman." Before the Preference Ball, the International Folk Dancers performed "Christmas Around the World" in the concert at the fieldhouse. At the end of the concert the Preferred Man on campus was announced as Paul Gilbert, ASBYU president.

BELLE OF THE Y QUALIFIES AS THE MOST IDEAL

Cherchez la Belle" (look for the beautiful) will long be remembered as the theme and purpose of the 1968 'Belle of the Y' Week.

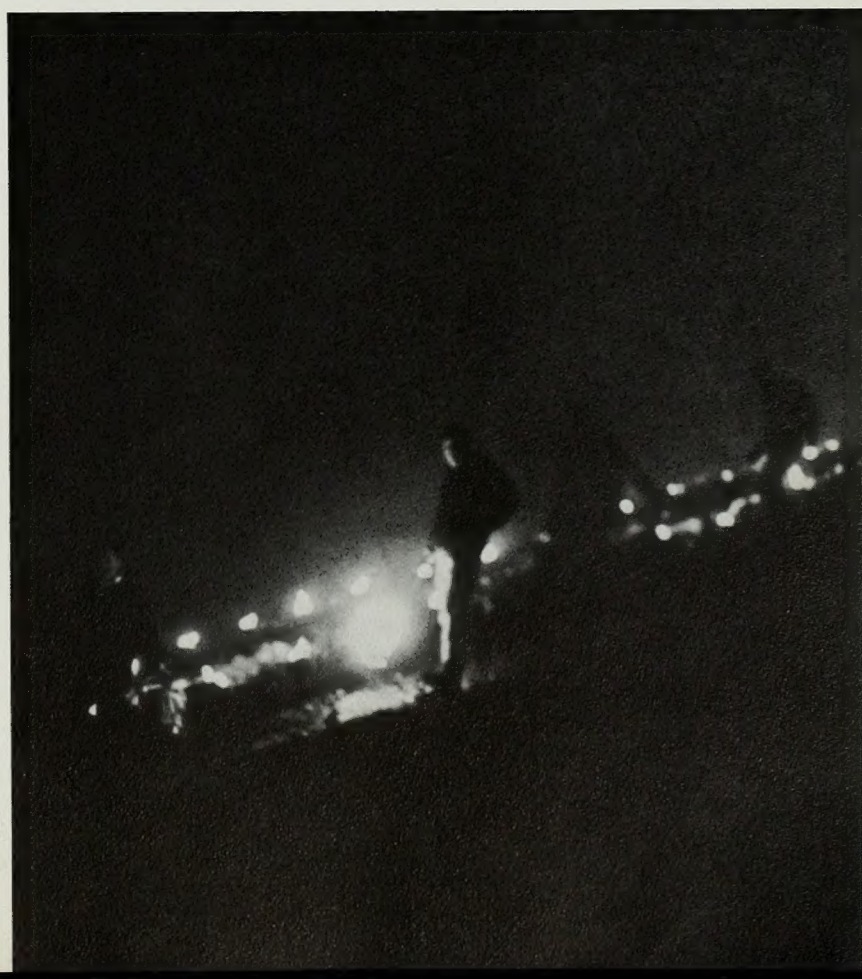

From start to finish the week was truly a search. 135 girls entered the Belle of the Y Contest and on the orientation night they were told to put away their books, be themselves and face the week with enthusiasm and desire to represent themselves well in the contests ahead.

Beauty was well represented by the girls: tall girls, short girls, blondes, brunets, blue-eyed girls, brown-eyed girls each with an individual way of being herself with others; each with the talent of being an individual.

Then the contests began . . . applications to complete: Arts and Crafts Contest. What shall I do . . . a painting, a quilt, a sweater, what would represent me best.

Friday night as the dance was being held to crown the Belle, the I.K.'s climbed the mountain to light the Y and write in flaming letters the initials of the "Belle of the Y". Clouds hid the mountain from time to time and at ten o'clock the Y was lit while the initials "S.S" burned alongside. And no sooner had the "S.S.'s" been lit when the clouds covered it again.

ROYAL COUPLE REIGNS OVER CARNIVAL

Now Queen Jan Lindsey from Tremonton, Utah, and King Tag Taggart of Cody, Wyoming, led the BYU students in "thinking snow;" as the 1968 Winter Carnival turned the green campus into a "Russian Winter." Ten large dump trucks imported the snow which the various organizations and housing units turned into sun-sparkled sculptures. Delta Phi Kappa built "A Russian Cosmonaut" which won the competition for them; their third straight win. Daily competition braved the lack of snow with a dogsled race, a snowshoe race, broom-ball hocky, a tug-of-war, a straw ski meet, as well as an authentic ski meet at Timp Haven.

An eight-stake fireside opened the festive week with Hugh Nibley as the speaker. Thursday evening brought the noted quartet, the Brothers Four, to the Smith Field house to serenade the student body. Their concert of comedy and singing delighted the audience with the talent that won them success and fame with the recording of "Greenfields."

The theme "Russian Winter" featured the icy winds and blizzards which sweep across Siberia, in the Winter follies and the Friday evening dance where royalty Tag and Jan were honored with their attendants Ann Collins and Mike Stevens, and Sue Smith and Rick Wiseman.

BRITTANY PROM FOLLOWS YARBROUGH CONCERT

Backs stiff, chin up, bayonet at attention, the palace guards flanked the towered entrance as Junior Prom guests entered the world of Merry England. Suddenly, Big Ben chimed the hour and the British redcoats marched up to execute the changing of the guard beneath the Tower of London. Music of the Jack Reeves orchestra came from the Tower Bridge for the dancers at the "Brittany Ball." The Lions of England floated from the bannered balcony where street lamps lighted the paths of couples coming from the prom concert to the London Park. It was Glen Yarbrough's second concert at BYU. And the students again enjoyed his lovely ballads, his meaningful lyrics and his sensitive readings of Rod McKuen's poetry. Glen's talent and personality drew the audience to empathize with the intense moods of his songs which he performed at the Junior Prom Night.

Glen Yarbrough's subtle intensity brings to vivid life the mood and message of Rod McKuen's well loved "Stanyon Street."

COLORFUL BYU'S WEEK-LONG VOTE MARKET

Twenty-six candidates vied for nine top positions in ASBYU 1968 elections. Candidates got into the swing of campaigning with posters, slogans, promises and music, music, music. They answered questions from their constituents in a two-hour session on the west patio of the Wilkinson Center before primary elections began.

With a thirty-six per cent primary turnout, eight candidates were eliminated. The margins were now limited and prospective leaders concentrated on platforms and their images before the public eye.

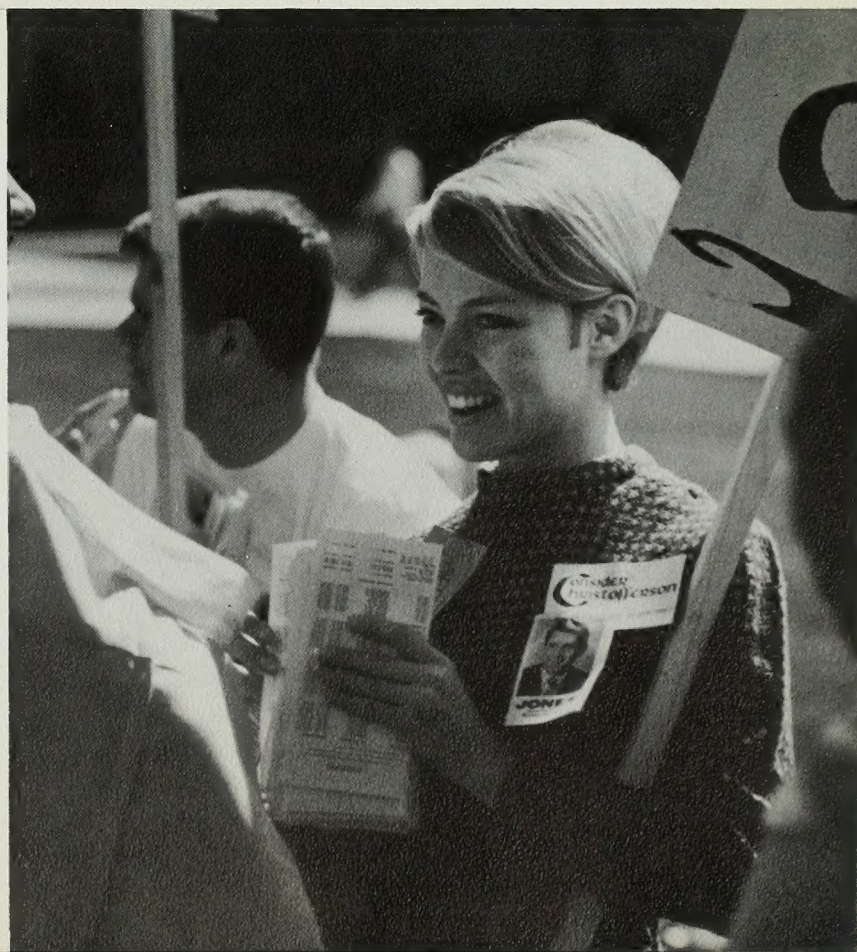

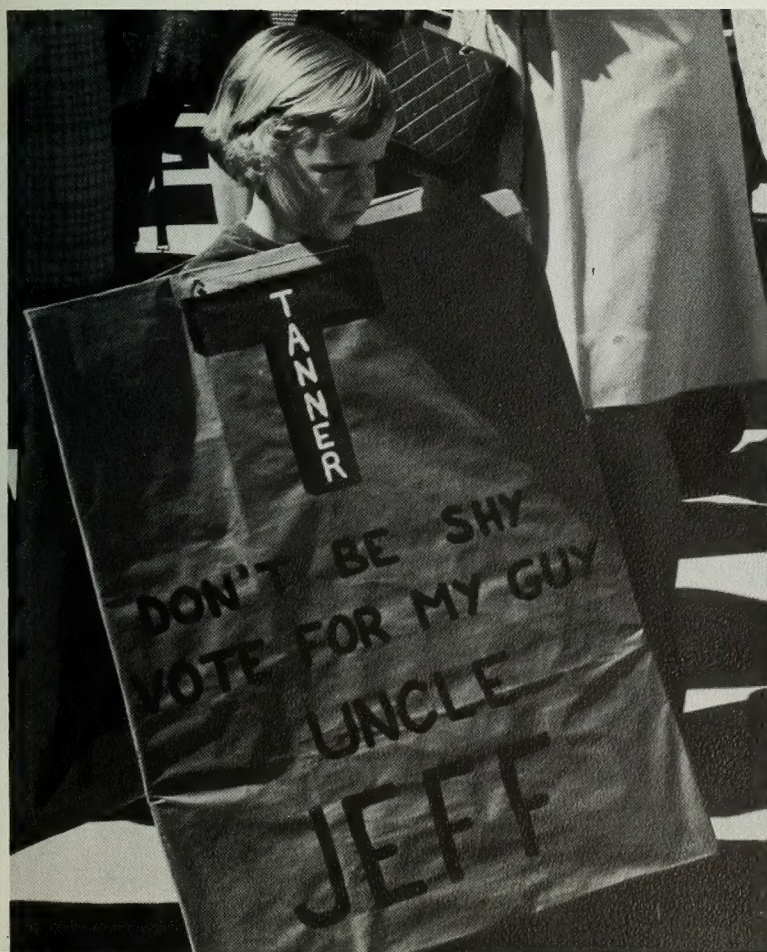

An elections assembly was held in which candidates aired their views and personalities. Presidential candidates were further interviewed on April third on KBYU-TV'S weekly program "Conversations With . . ." hosted by Lavar Rockwood.

After many limitless hours of time, handshakes and smiles, the final days dawned—April second and third. Those in search of offices rested their case before the jurors.

As in all elections some were losers and some victors. For the losers it was not all loss but an incentive to strive for the next election and the victors simply rejoiced. Grant Richards, an Animal Science major from Pleasant Grove received 5050 votes to 4027 for Merwin Grant. Enthusiasm bubbled over as each new officer planned for a successfull 1969 ASBYU year.

PRESIDENT MCKAY RECEIVES EXEMPLARY MANHOOD AWARD

The week of March 18th was strictly for the men. Sponsored by AMS, Men's Week activities included a fight night, a talent night and a ski meet all of which were restricted to male competitors. The highlight of the week was the presentation of the Exemplary Manhood Award. This year the award went to President David O. McKay and was received on his behalf by his son, Edward McKay, at Tuesday's Devotional assembly. Guest speakers for the occasion were Edward McKay and Marion D. Hanks, who praised President McKay for his many achievements.

Traditionally the Y has been a symbol of truth and light, but the gleaming white or flaming gold letter enthroned 2,000 feet above the campus embodies much more than this during Y-Day festivities. Resting on the ruggedly beautiful Wasatch mountains and viewing a panorama of the splendid BYU campus, the block Y is the center of the honorable traditions, unselfish service, diligent work, cheerful companionship, light-hearted fun, and the exuberant joy which infests each BYU student on Y-Day. Assaulting the mountain with 5,000 pounds of lime, 50 gallons of water, and 500 pounds of salt, hundreds of bucket passing hands fought to rescue the cherished Y from the disgrace and oblivion of creeping sagebrush and dirt. Since 1960, when the Y was first placed on the mountain and the annual spring pilgrimage began, the whitewashing attack has shared its day with a city wide clean-up effort. While their classmates sling whitewash on the hillside, groups of students invaded the area's parks, cemeteries, campsites, and playgrounds to sling the littering trash into cans and haul it away.

After the morning battle against unsightly debris triumphed in a spring cleaned city, the weary fighters rejuvenated themselves with a gigantic meal which stuffed even the hungriest workers. The afternoon was devoted to the fun and exciting recreation which suits a spring vacation day. Undaunted by the strenuous work of the morning, the students threw all their exuberance into a gay round of games, contests, parties, and general merry-making. The beach at Utah Lake was the scene of skiing, boating, swimming, and a variety of spontaneous water high-jinks. Events at the stadium included various races, competition and games which tested the talents of the participants and delighted the cheering spectators with their antics. The popular sounds of the Tiajuana Brass entertained the weary but happy students as they concluded the 76th annual day exemplifying the Spirit of the Y.

CAMPUS REVERTS TO DOG PATCH WORLD SADIE HAWKINS DAY

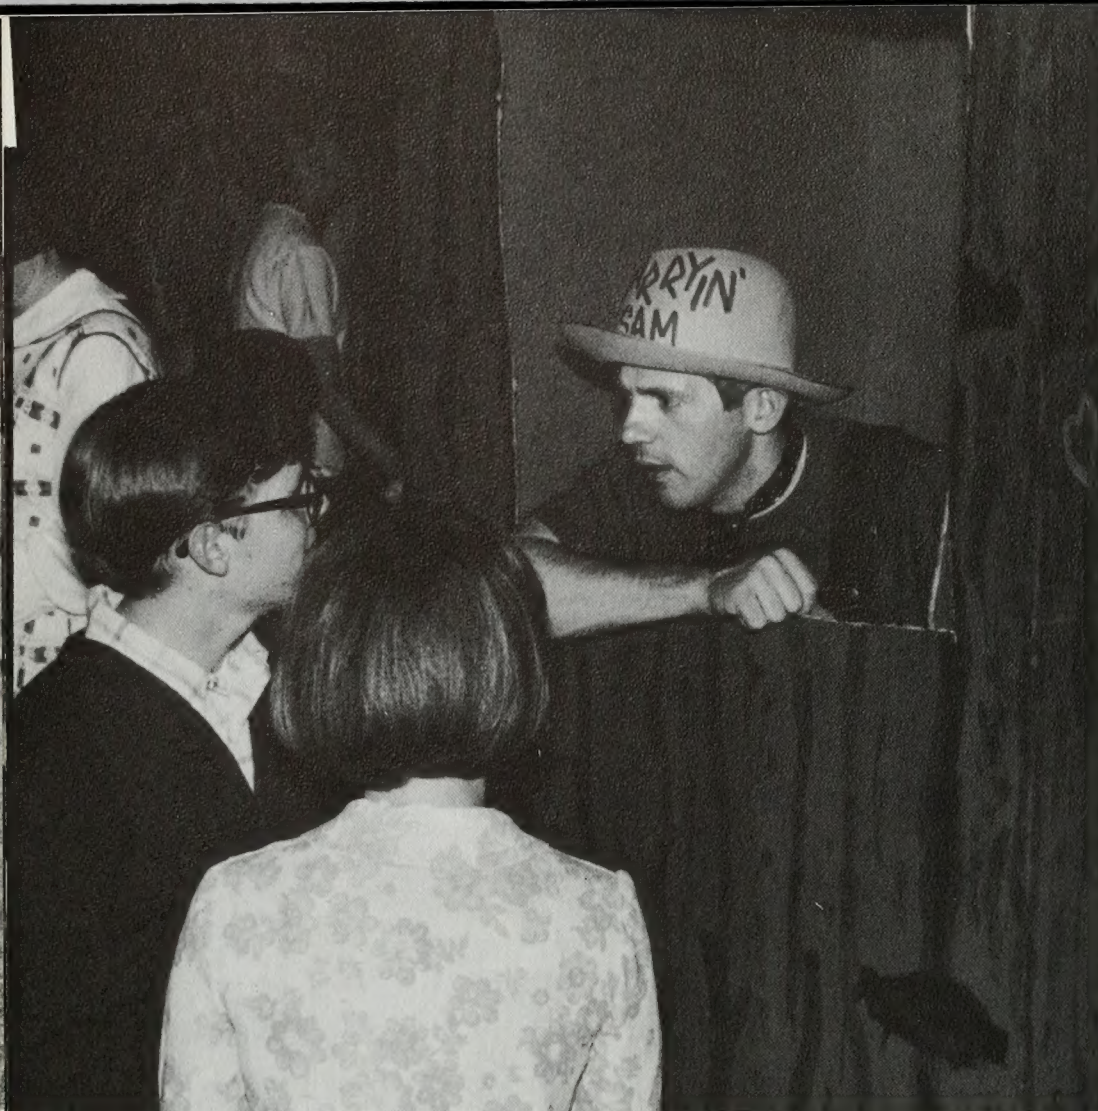

Sadie Hawkins—the day when the men on campus relaxed, while the women ran to every beck and call shining shoes, giving expert professional-like back rubs, and serving refreshments.

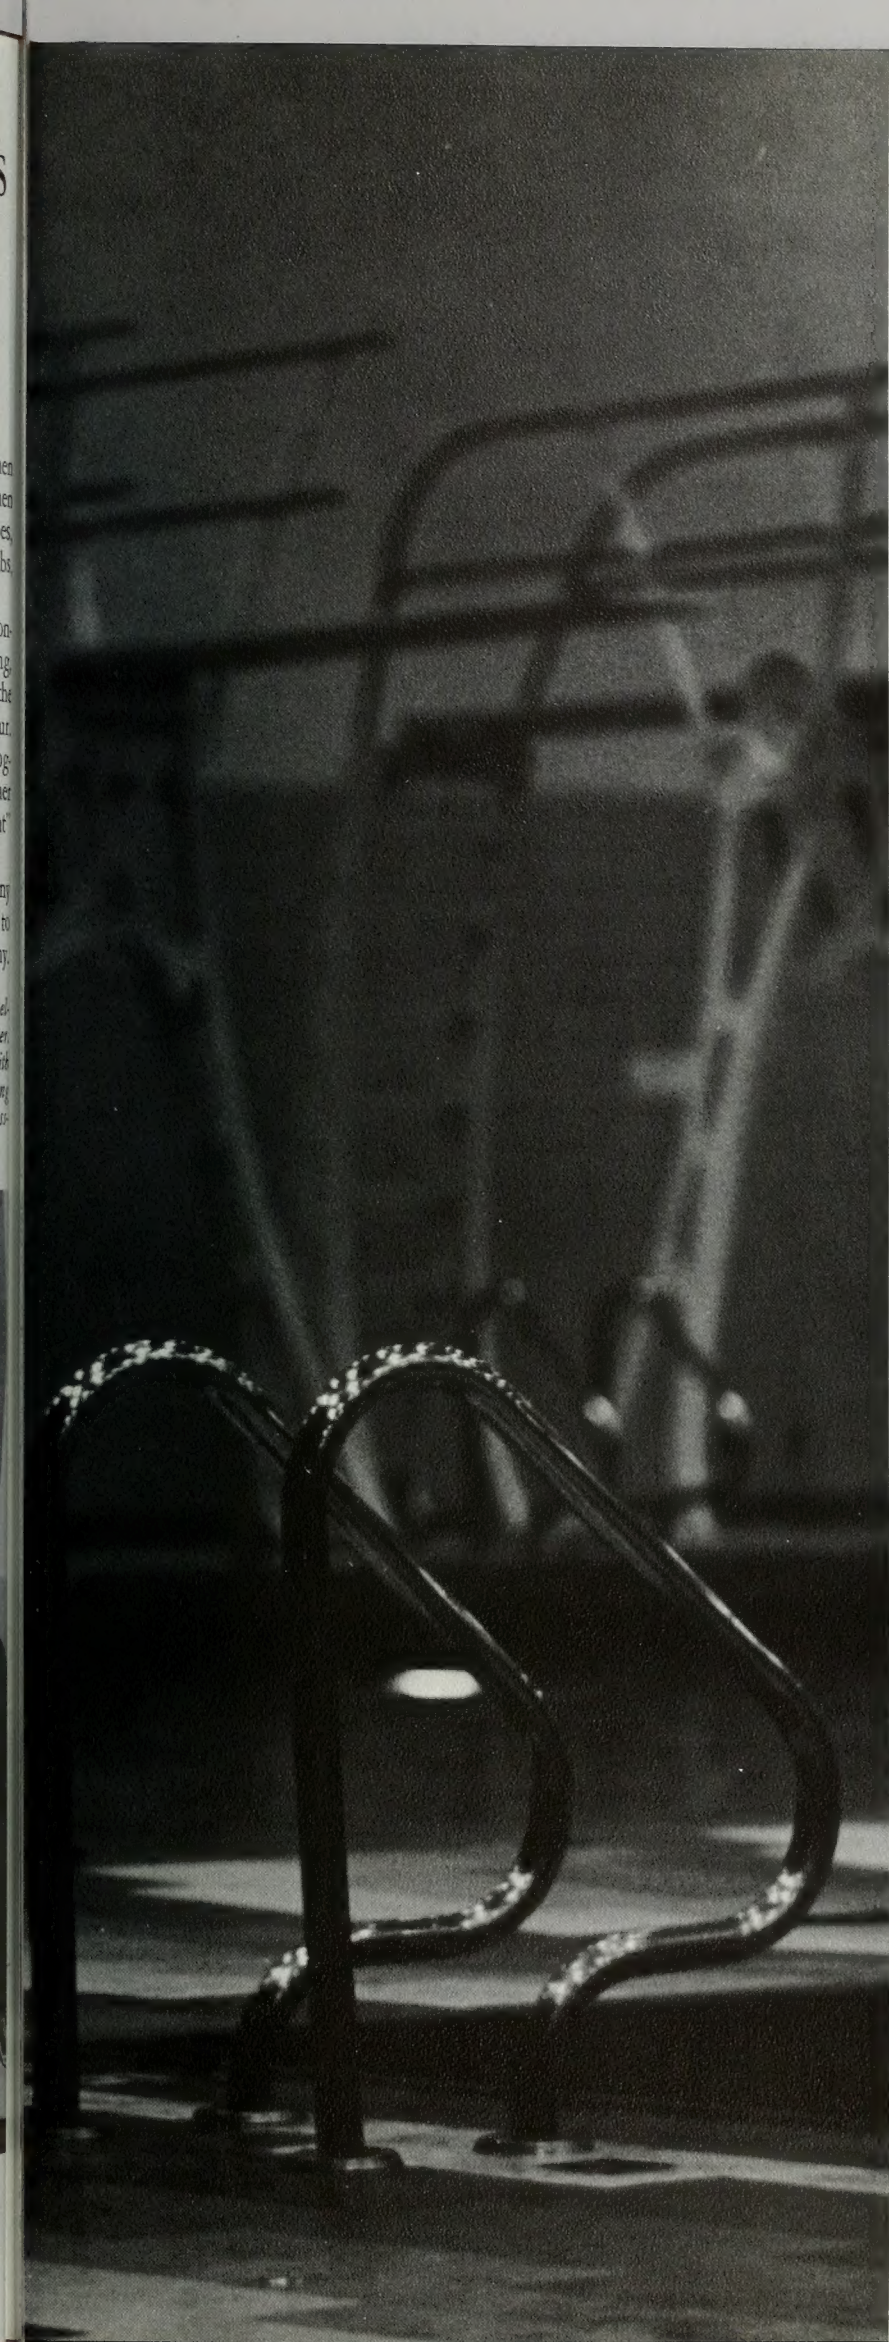

Every male was competing in the moonshine drinking, balloon stuffing, pie eating, and marshmallow mess contests because the winners received slave girls for one hour.

Later in the ELWC Ballroom the Dogpatch Dance delighted many Little Abner and Daisy Mae's as the "Twelfth Night" Band played some good square dances.

A little dizzy and out of breath many wandered toward 'Marryin' Sam's Booth to wind up the evening with a little ceremony.

(Left) Marryin' Sam found himself even counseling his newly-weds before the night was over. (Lower Left) "Sir; the polish is coming off with the shine." (Below) This is the next best thing to heaven thinks one male student as he blissfully erlaxes for a massage.

SEE-SAW SEASON FINDS COUGARS IN THIRD PLACE

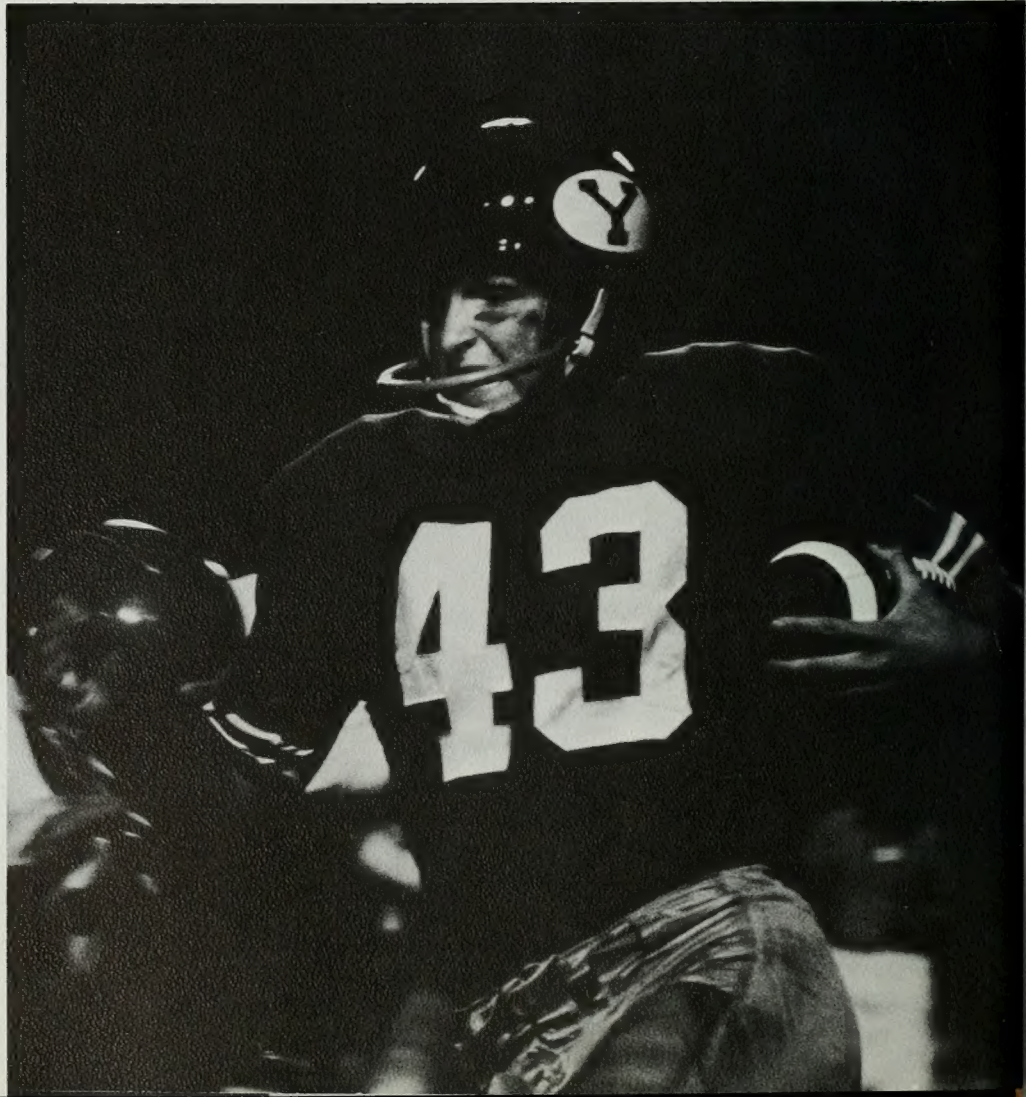

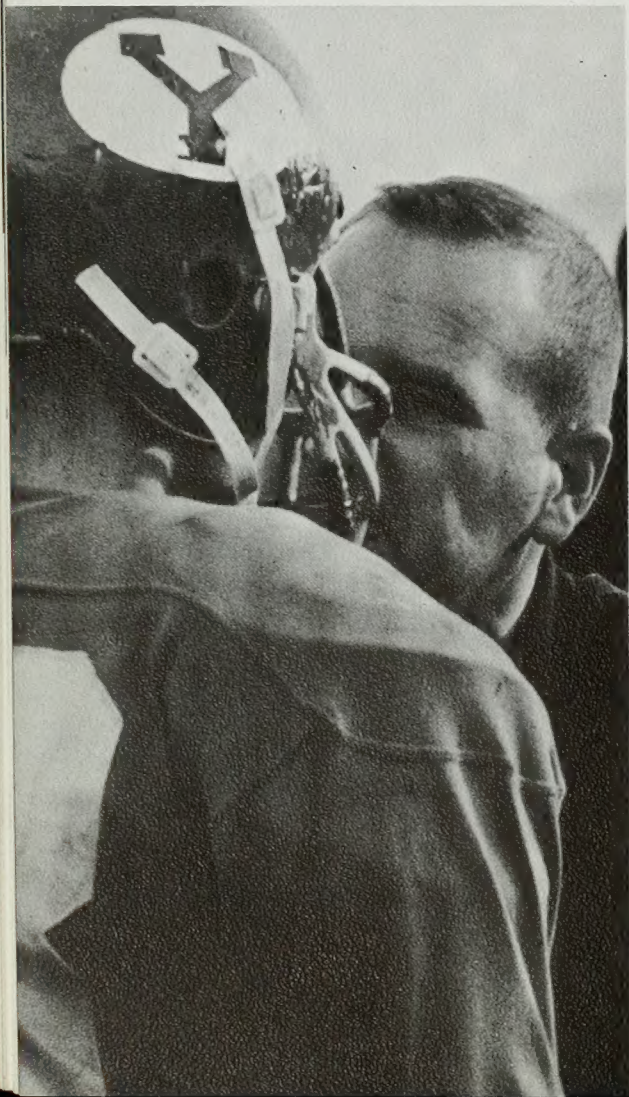

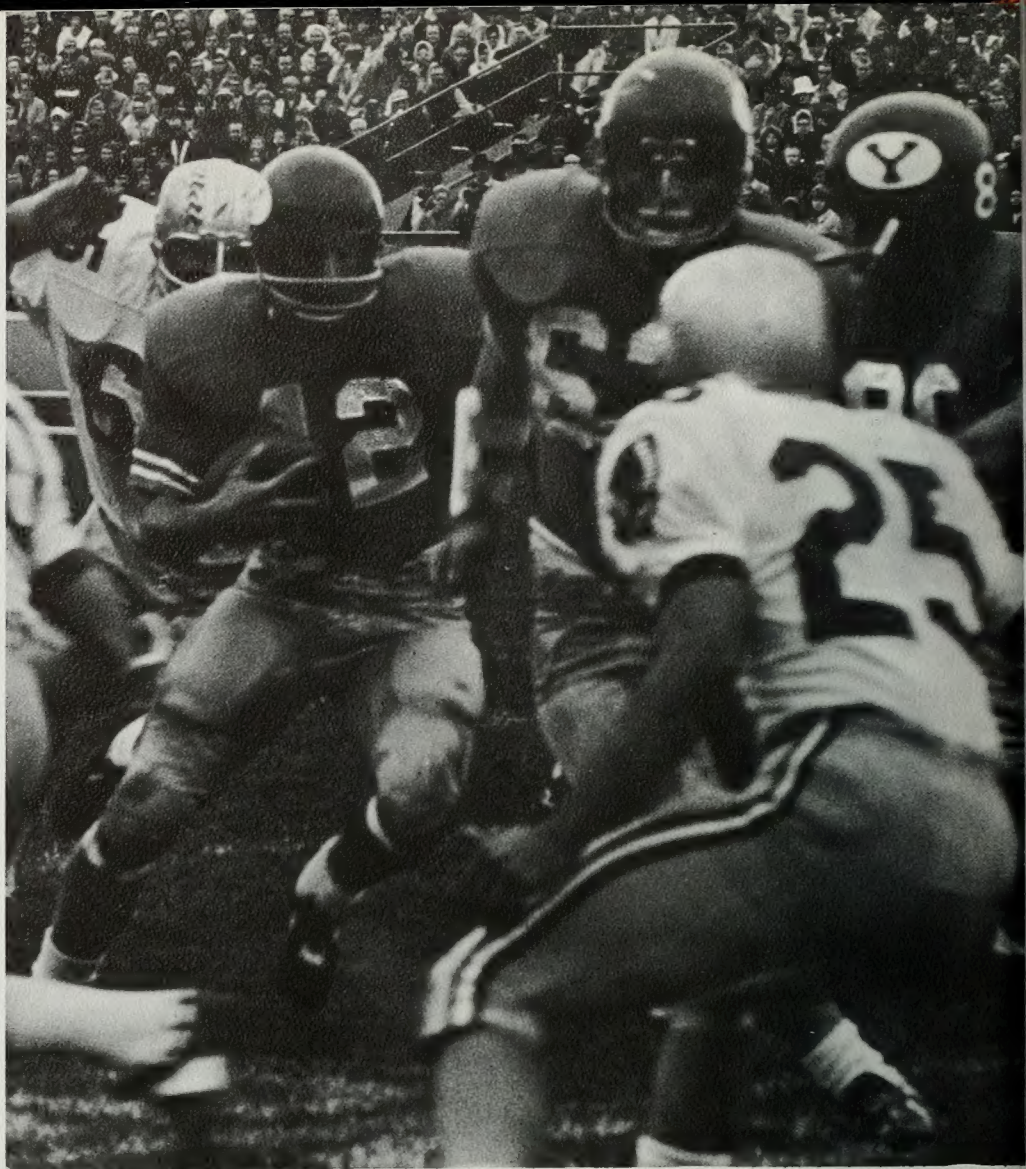

Football fever overtook BYU as the Cougars anticipated gridiron clashes with such formidable opponents as Oregon State, Texas Western and Wyoming. Before crowds averaging 19,000, the BYU Cougars under Coach Tommy Hudspeth combined a potent offense with a hard-nosed defense to defeat Oregon State 31-13. Against rival Utah the Cats rolled up 377 yards, the largest single-game rushing figure in WAC history. Although harrassed by injuries, the Cougars demonstrated their ability as they completed the season with a 67-8 lashing against San Jose State College to retire with a 6-4 record and third place in the Western Athletic Conference.

Determined fans bring out colorful umbrellas (right) as BYU battles with the University of Utah. Coach Hudspeth (above) appears elated as he watches Jack Sanders (left) surge away from San Jose State defenders and place the Cougars in good gridiron position which lifts Frosh hope for yet another touchdown.

CATS SEND FIVE PLAYERS TO WAC

Coach Tommy Hudspeth and his group of assistants despite injuries to key starting offensive and defensive players, filled all vacancies and molded the team into a noteworthy unit. Defensively, the Cougars maintained their strength and capably held the most potent offensive opponents to minimal yardage. After terminating the season with the monstrous win over the San Jose State, the Cougars trained for preparation for the tough 1968 season.

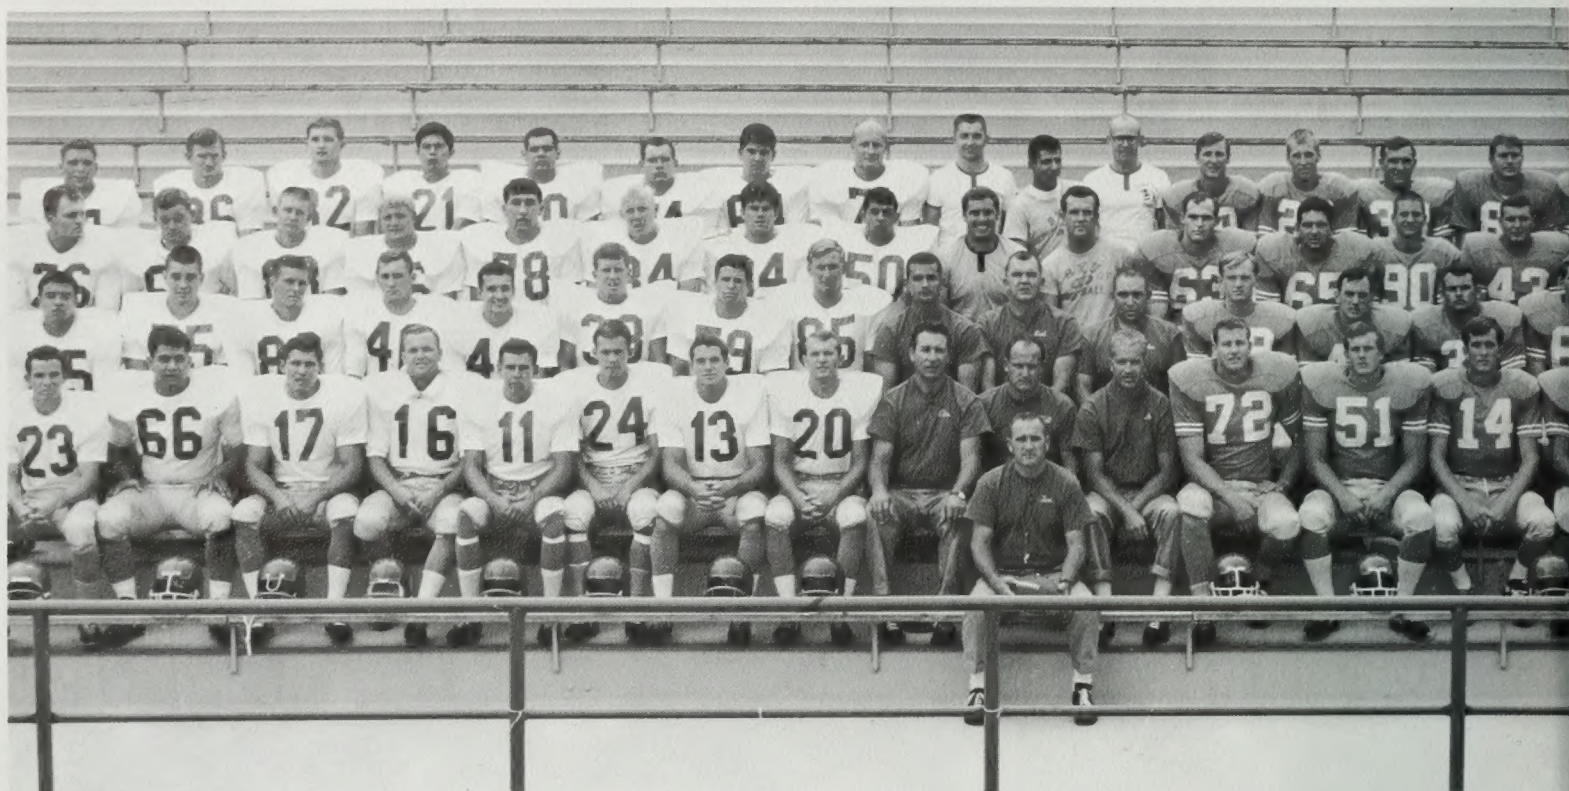

All American candidate, Phil Odle, known for his desire to win, waits for the defense to secure the ball.

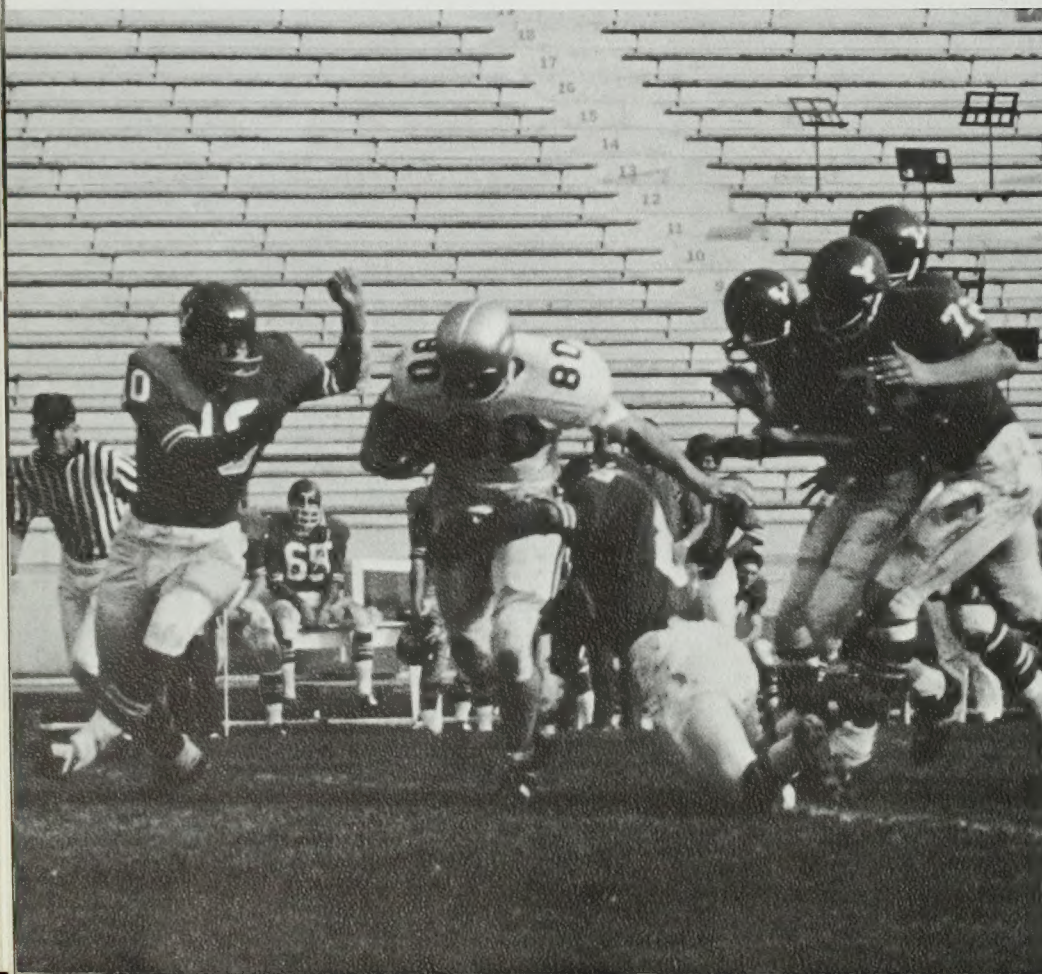

The skillful hands of split end Phil Odle wrap around the pigskin as he aids the Cougars in 44-14 trouncing of the hapless Western Michigan Broncos.

Under direction of coach Dick Felt, the Freshman football team turned up a 3-1 winning season. The single loss occurred at the hands of the Falcons of the Air Force Academy as starting quarterback Rick Jones suffered a broken ankle. The Kittens romped the Utah State Ramblers 29-9 and sent the University of Utah Freshmen limping home with two crushing defeats, one 55-13 and the other 65-13.

MID-SEASON POLISH PROVIDES BOOSTER FOR COUGAR'S CONFERENCE CHALLENGE

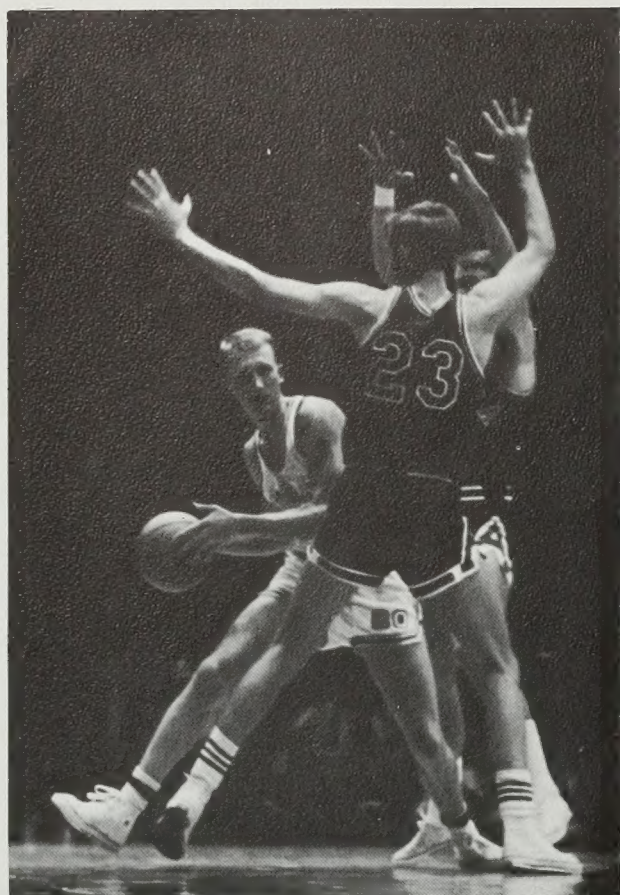

By trouncing the Texas Tech. Red Raiders 72-58, the Cougars won their twenty-fifth consecutive home game, the second games of the 1967-68 season. During Christmas the Cats stomped the tough Xavier University and Virginia Tech. hoopsters to win an impressive second place in the 32nd All-College Basketball Tournament in Oklahoma City. Star Cougars Kari Liimo and Marty Lythgoe were then named to the All-Tournament team. Cougar tactics worked well in the Utah State University games as is evident by the 104-98 victory. Scott Warner netted 24 points to become top Cougar

COUGAR CAGERS PLACE SECOND

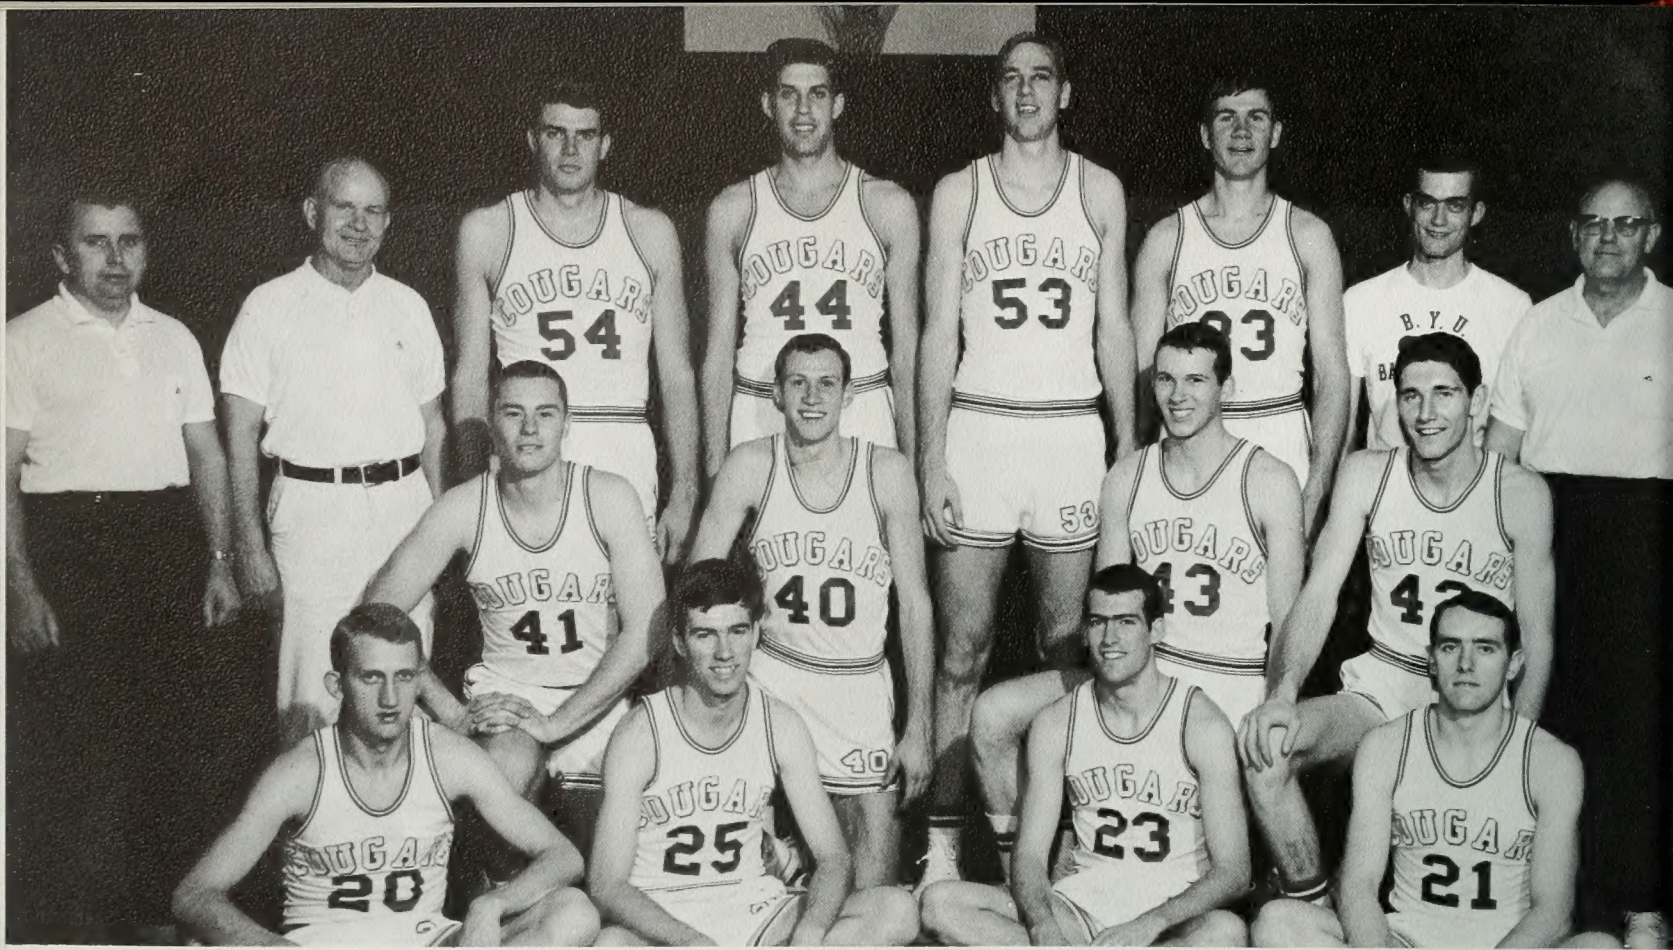

Reserve guard Lynn Parsons sparks the team to life as he dribbles past a Utah State defender (top left). Randy Schouten, (left) leaps beyond the reach of the Texas Western opponent and arches the ball into the net for an easy two points. Number 22, Gary Foster, (above) raises the ball over his head and out of the reach of the hard pressing opponents. Standout sophomore, Doug Howard (right) maneuvers his way into the basket for another field goal. Scott Warner (far right) hooks a high jumper for two more.

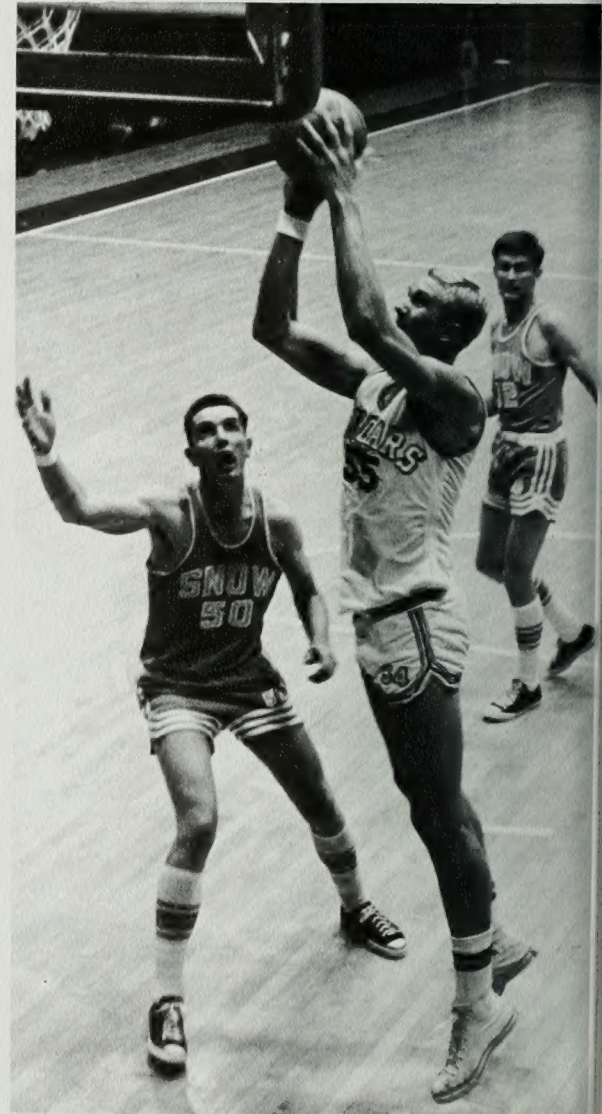

IN OKLAHOMA TOURNEY

With decisive victories over non-conference opponents including Utah State University with a high scoring 115-103 win led by hoopsters Kari Liimo, Randy Schouten and Jim Eakins, the Cougars sharpened their claws for WAC play. Brigham Young's two point loss to the University of Utah, 91-89, placed the team in the precarious position of having to win the last five games to remain as strong contenders for the league title. The Lobos of the University of New Mexico, fifth ranked team in the nation outscored the Cougars during the second half, 76-67. BYU cagers finished with a winning record and hopes of spring and summer improvement.

KITTEN QUINTET HAS WINNING 9-5 SEASON

Freshman basketball fans thrilled as they watched the Kittens develop into a team capable of scores over the century mark. At the beginning of the season, there were individual standouts in Bart Johnson, a 6-6 forward who averaged 30.5 points a game. Veikko Vainio from Finland a 6-9 center, averaged 10.5 points and was vital in the rebounding game. Jim Miller, a 6-5 guard, before receiving a torn tendon aided the Kittens with fine ball control tactics and a good 10.5 shooting game. At mid-season, coach Gary Earnst and his assistant, Gary Hill, filled positions left by Johnson and Miller. Near the end of the season the Kittens again started to click as a balanced unit. After defeating the University of Utah, on the Ute's court, the Kittens returned home and finished the season with a loss to the Redskins and a 9-5 record.

COUGAR GRAPPLERS SNATCH WAC TITLE

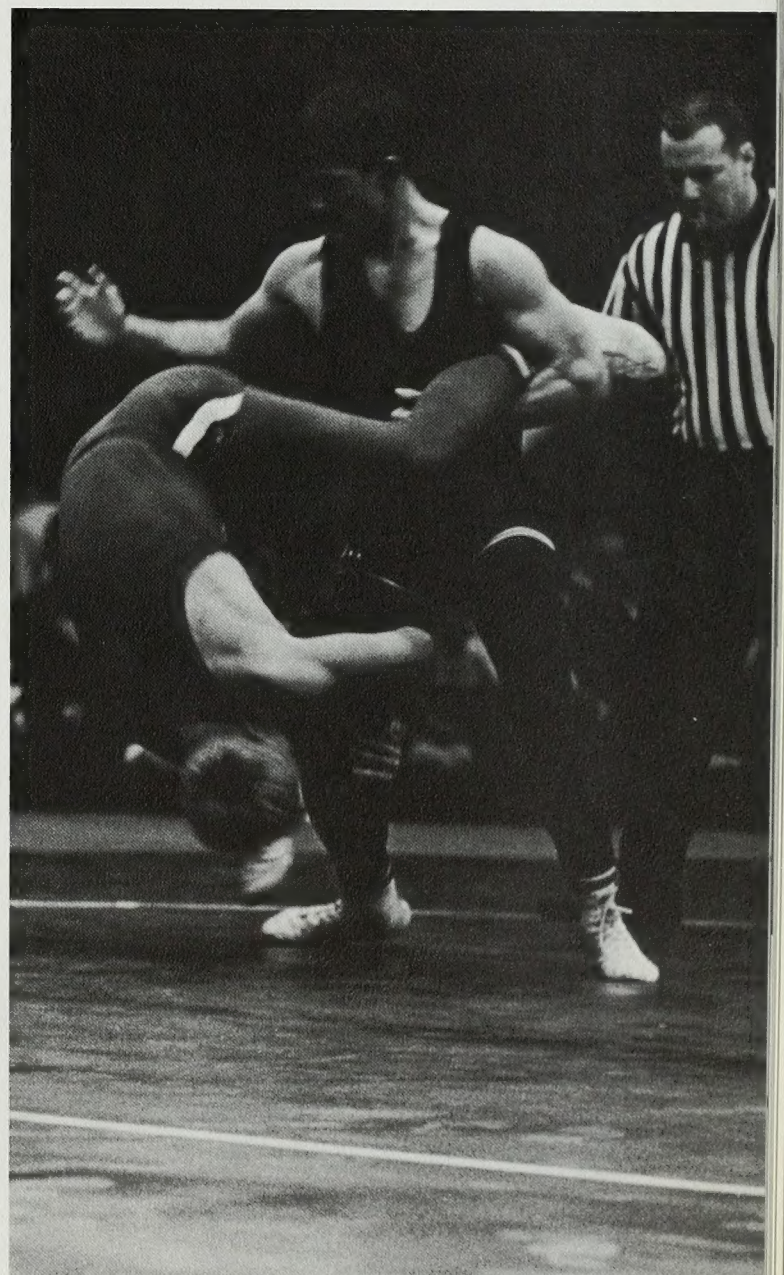

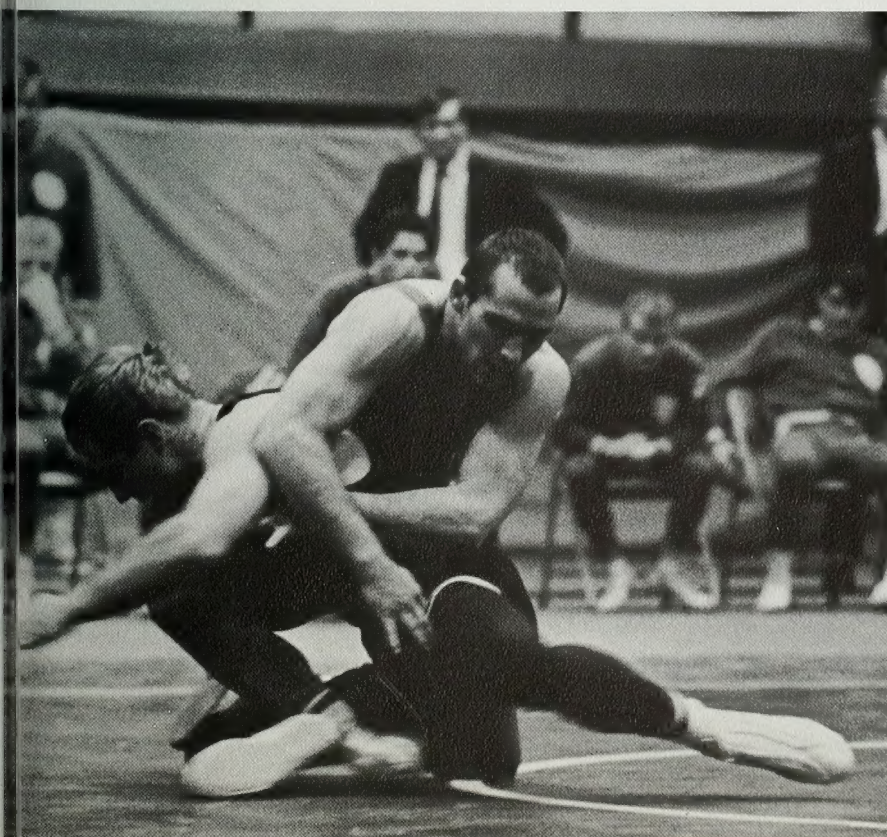

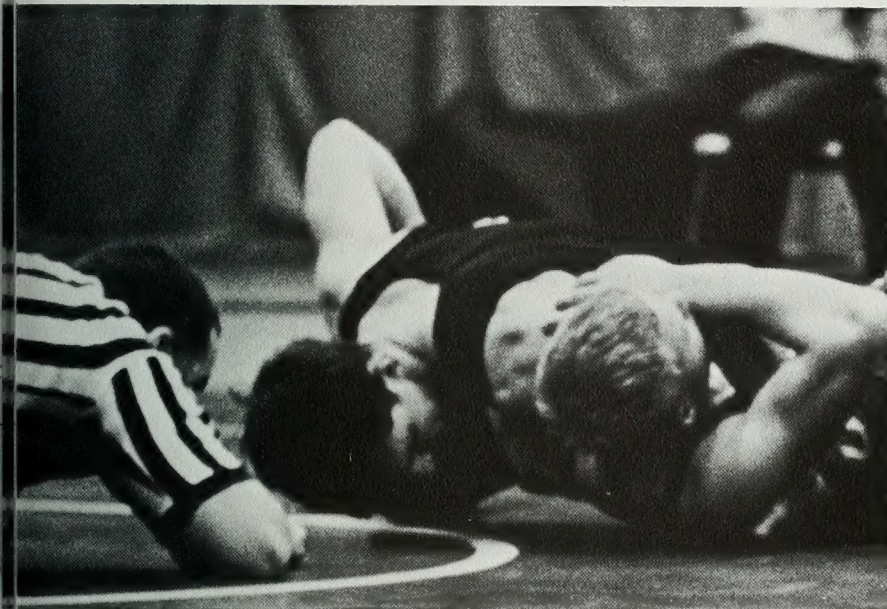

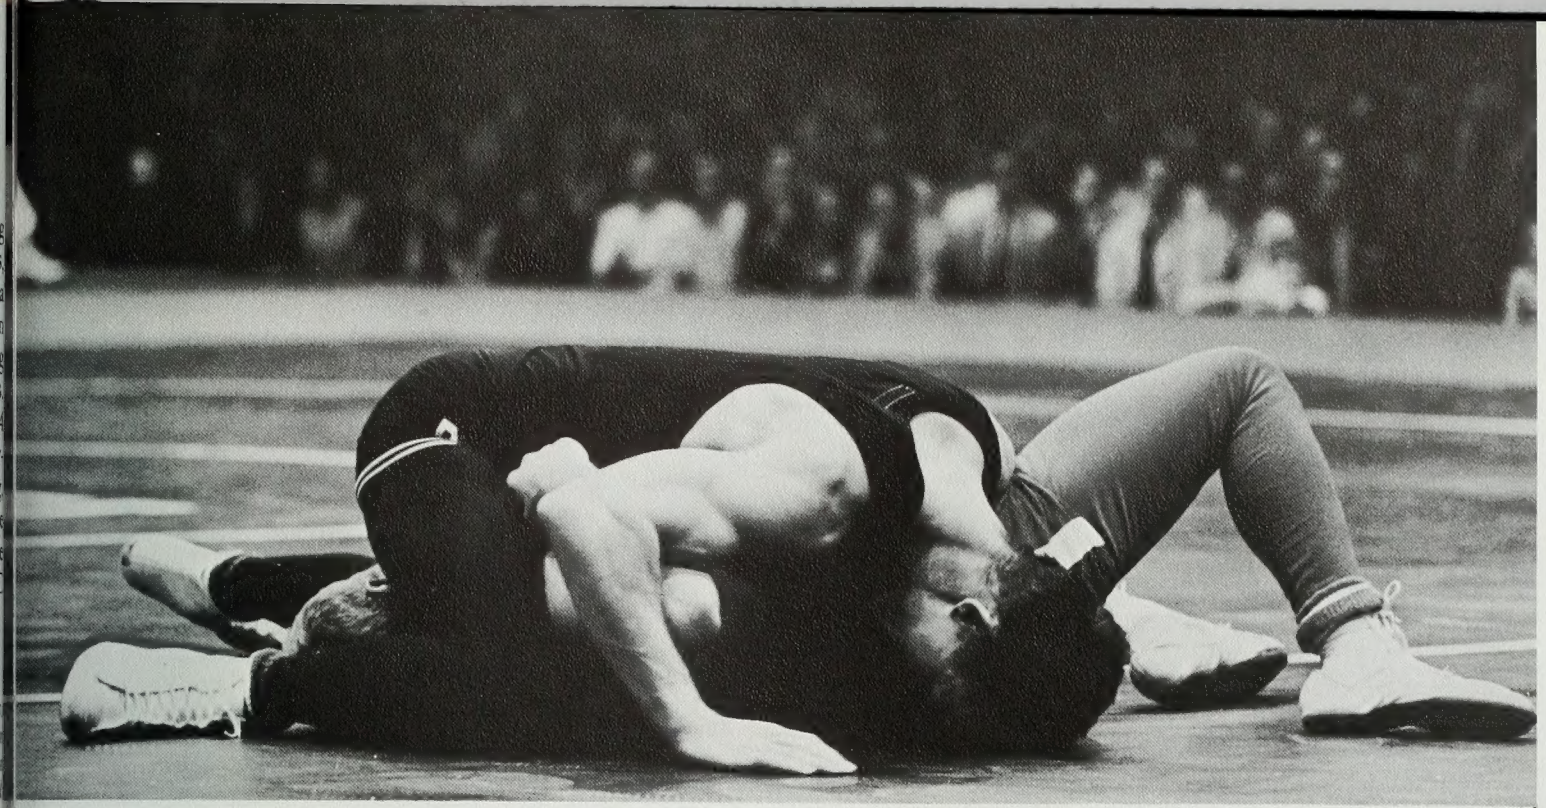

After stating that the 1967-68 wrestling squad was the best seen in three years, coach Davis directed his team into a schedule against five of the toughest teams in the nation and into four invationals including the Oklahoma State and UCLA tournaments. Ending the regular dual meet season with a 15-4 record and wins over New Mexico, Utah, University of Arizona, Arizona State, and Wyoming, the grapplers took the WAC crown for the third consecutive year by a 59-58 edging of the Utes. Cougar wrestlers put four into WAC finals while the Utes placed six matmen.

SWIMMERS SECURE SECOND PLACE IN WAC

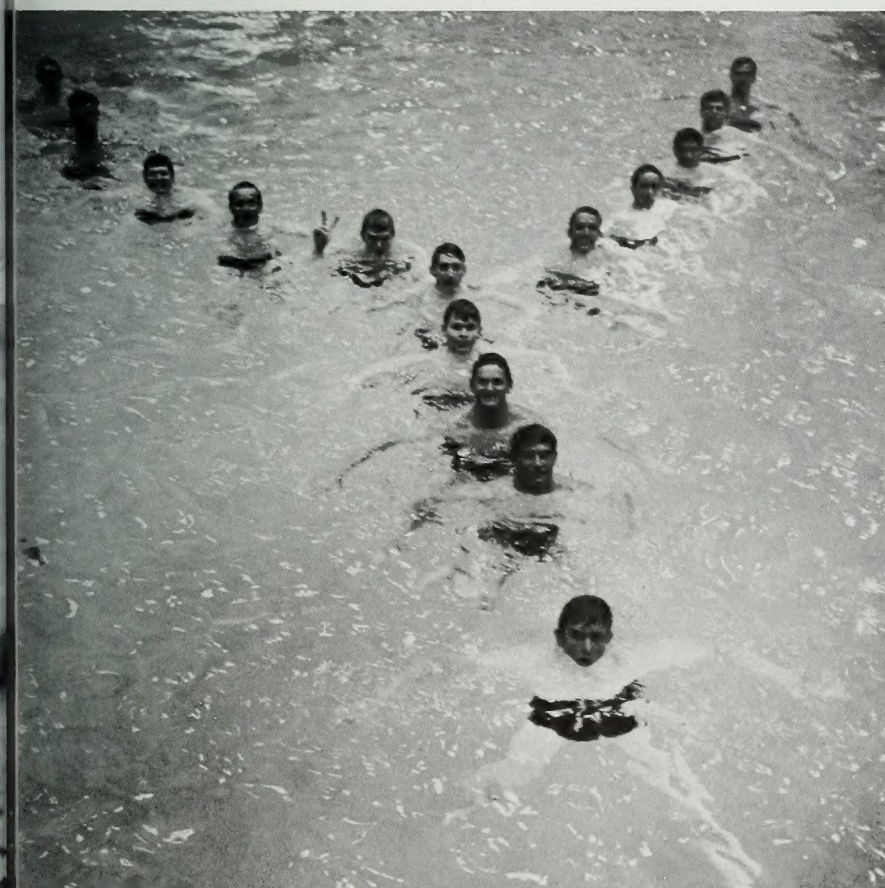

The Y swim squad won over 20 dual meets during the 1967-68 season. After four away meets in three days the tankers had a perfect record. Strong opponents were the Universities of Wyoming and New Mexico and Texas Tech. At home, Universities of Oregon, Denver, and Colorado State sunk under the tanker's defense. In the pre-season relays in Denver and Utah the swim team proved very strong. New records were set and new stars were born. Glenn Yamashita did a tremendous job and proved to be a strong backer next season. Overall the Cougars had great strength and able depth which enabled them to be top competitors.

CAT NINE DEFENSE GIVES TOUGH COMPETITION

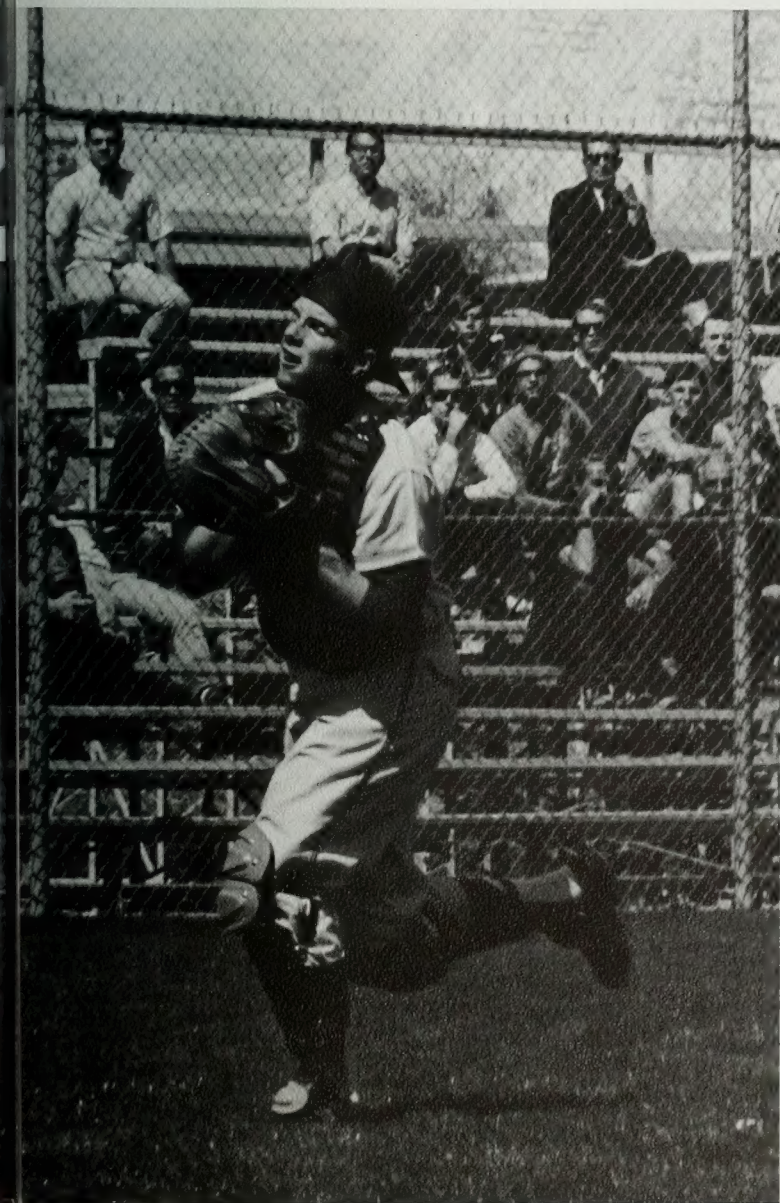

Y baseballers were concerned not only with winning championships, but also with building character and promoting Christian ideals in its athletes. They proved this philosophy in the Riverside Tournament where they whipped Mississippi State 3-1 and USC 7-0. As a solid foundation ten lettermen returned from last year's winning team. Coach Glen Tucket, with eight years of Y baseball experience, gave the Cat Nine a defensive team workout during the busy season. Co-captains and seniors Steve Davis and Gary Pullins entered this year's team as strong anchors with .318 and .242 average respectively. During the 42-game season, pitchers Ken Crosby (ERA 2.61), Duane Gustafson (ERA 2.25) and Fred Caviglia (ERA 2.86) gave battling opposing teams strong competition which took the BYU baseballers to top Western Athletic Conference tournaments.

THIN-CLADS SEND 7 TO NCAA

Cougar trackmen ranked high in several invitational throughout the country. The season began with a challenge at the Portland Invitational Indoor in Portland, Wash. Thin-clads placed second in the New York Athletic Club Indoor Track and Field Invitational. High jumper Ed Hanks turned in one of the finest performances of the meet by jumping 7 feet-one-half inch. In Albuquerque at the Western Athletic Conference Indoor Championships the trackmen again placed second and several team members, including long jumper, Jim Blaisdell, miler Gary Tipton, Doug Peterson and Ralph Mann, triple jumper, John Konihowski, pole vaulter Altti Alarotu and high jumper Hanks qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championship in Detroit. High jumper Hanks and long jumper Bob Hanrahan, both past NCAA stars, excelled in the San Jose meet. Meets against the Universities of Arizona, Arizona State and other high-ranked teams at challenging invitational and relays put the spotlight on the individual and team strength of the Cats.

GOLFING TEAM

Constant winners was the phrase used to describe the 1967-68 golfing team. The Fall season found the BYU linksters winners of three major tournaments. The most significant one, held in Albuquerque, New Mexico, was the William H. Tucker Inter-Collegiate Tournament in which Brigham Young University overpowered the NCAA champions, Houston, by one stroke to take top honors. The Beehive Invitational, held in Logan, Utah, was won by BYU for the fifth consecutive year while the Weber State Invitational also fell prey to the Cougar golfing team. Individual honors for these tournaments went to All-American golfer from BYU, John Miller. Spring found the golf team pitted against such opponents as Weber State, the Alumni All-Stars, California State, Colorado and the regular WAC teams. The linksters competed in the Pikes Peak and Western Collegiate tourneys as well as in the Sun Devil Classic in Tempe, Arizona. In May the Cougars held their Cougar Classic and later went to the WAC play-offs in Denver, Colorado.

BYU GYMNASTS

Gymnastics fans were well rewarded as they watched the Cougars' young, inexperienced gymnasts take on some of the big powers in the country including the University of Arizona and Arizona State University. Also included in the BYU schedule were such foes as Denver, Eastern Montana, Colorado State, New Mexico, and Utah. At the BYU Invitational where only individual scores were tallied, Dennis Ramsey and Mike Gordon placed first in their events for the Cougars, but the U of A, five time winners of the WAC, dominated the meet. Later in the year however, the Arizona squad was defeated by the BYU team in a dual meet. On a trip to California the gymnasts met the teams from the University of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles State College. The 1967-68 season proved closer than most had expected. Y gymnasts gained the needed experience to be strong contenders.

TENNIS SQUAD TRAVELS TO VITAL TOURNAMENT

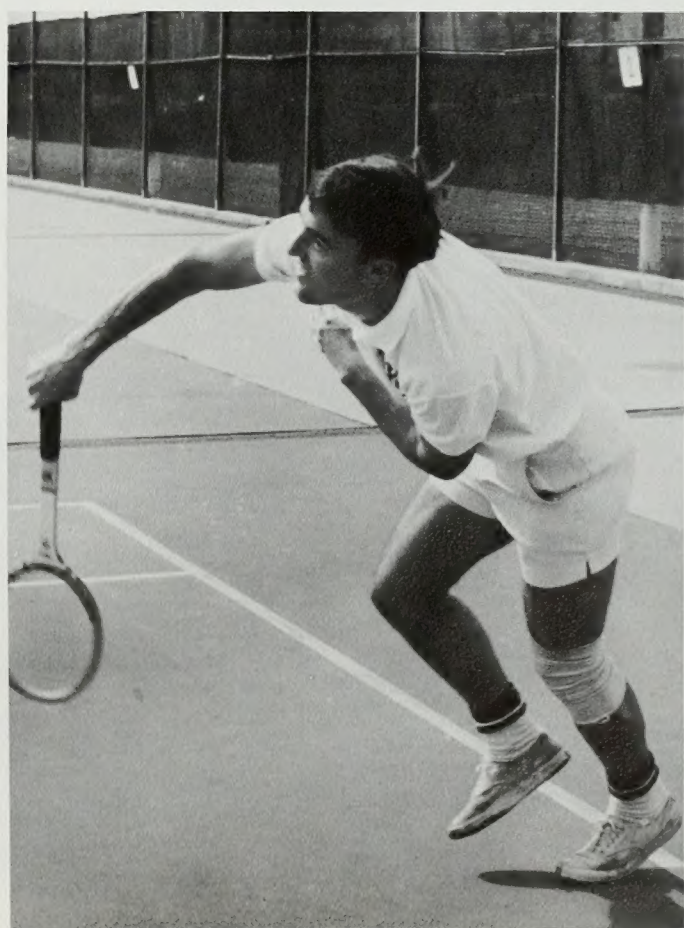

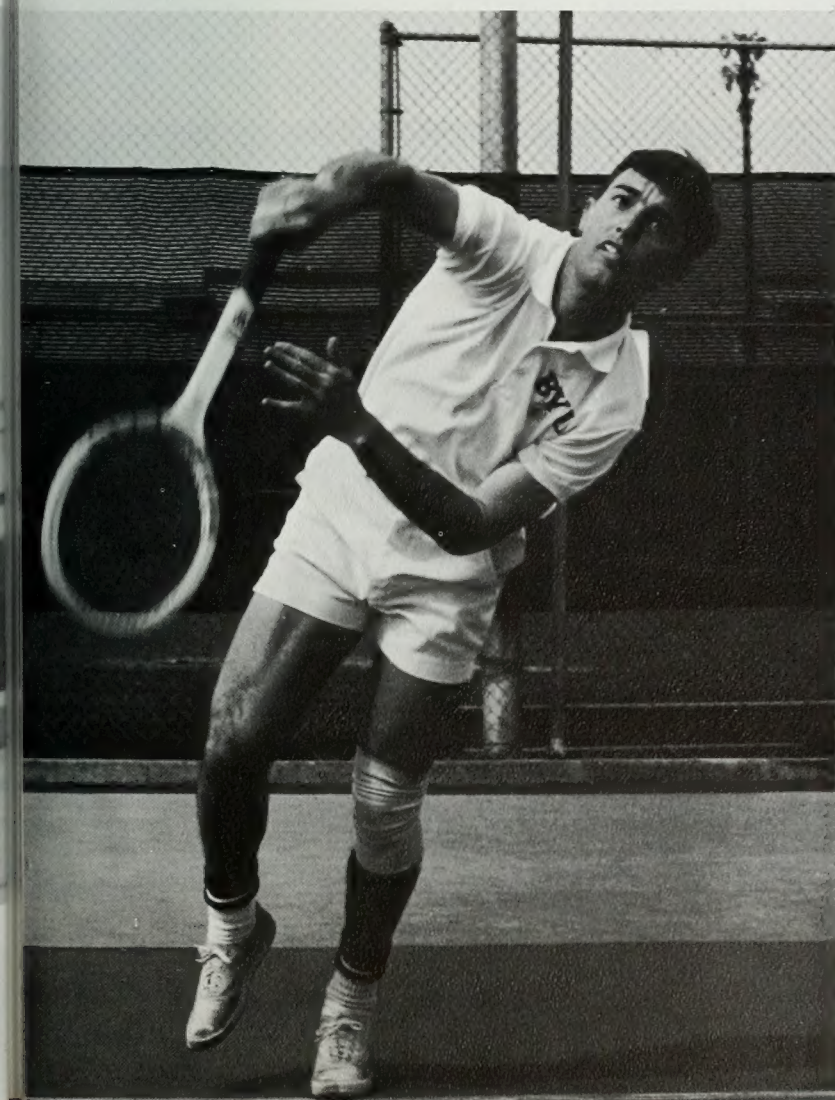

Ynetters traveled to Long Beach, Calif., for the Long Beach Tennis Classic. Because of a year's absence the Cougars were anxious to enter the Classic which they won the two previous years. Following the tournament the netters battled USC, Arizona State, Arizona, and New Mexico. Senior, two-year letterman Keith Nielson, was the number one singles player for the third consecutive season. Competition was keen as Zdravko Mincek, and Larry Hall challenged Nielson for number one position. Other strong team members were John Fort, Erick Baer, Chuck Pate, Dave George, and Randy Trane. Netters also entered the Western Indoor Tennis Championships at the Salt Lake Tennis Club, which is the best in Utah. Outstanding Y players competed for the championship with outstanding teams from Arizona, UCLA, USC, Utah, and Stanford. The tennis squad practiced both indoors and out to develop their "depth" which helped them rank among the top collegiate teams in the season.

SKIES CHALLENGE TOP TEAMS

With the first snows, the ski team under the direction of coach-competitor Loren Moench, began training for big skiing invitational held throughout the winter months. The 1967-68 season didn't have as many meets for the Y skiers, as had previous years, yet the competition engaged in was some of the best. The U of U, a strong competitor on the slopes barely edged BYU at the Timp Haven-BYU Invitational. At the Fir Rorce Invitational, the team finished strong against some of the best teams in the nation. The team promises to be stronger next year.

KEGGLERS COMPETE ON AMATEUR BASIS

Cougar kegglers entered various tournaments throughout the year and sponsored the annual BYU Tournament in April. Foremost among the tournaments was the ACUI Invitational in Greeley, Colorado, and the Albuquerque Invitational in New Mexico. The 1967-68 season marked the first year that BYU bowlers competed strictly on an amateur basis. Participation in the matches was determined by bi-weekly practice averages. Captain Roy Barraclough had a high 242-game and a 646- series.

SOCCER TEAM STOMPS FOE

Excitement mounted as the Y soccer team began both its spring and fall seasons in the school year. Competition was great, but they have never lost to the U of U in the three years nor to northern rival USU in the four years they began playing each other. Tough opponents for the A team were the Peruvian, Inca, and German Allemania clubs, but they still gleaned a 5-2 season. B team was proud of its 7-1 fall record which included stomping Leyton and playing the Dutch, Hillandia team. Other competition included Weber State, the Air Force Academy, Colorado State, and Idaho State. Always ready to find competition, the Y soccer team continually searched for new opponents. Travel to California for games with San Jose and Stanford broadened the team's experience. Team members, from 12 foreign countries, included: Scotland, Israel, and Peru, and from 11 states coast to coast.

RUGGERS RANK HIGH

Excitement-filled 1967-68 season gave ruggers opportunity for experience and travel. A sixth place in the Stanford Invitation Tournament at Palo Alto, California, boosted the position of the team. Competition was heated as thirty-nine teams battled at the top-ranked meet. Cougars traveled to Southern California for games with USC, Loyola, and San Fernando Valley State to receive a win, tie, and a loss. Numerous injuries befell ruggers, but the experience was valuable.

CAT WRANGLERS HOST NATIONAL RODEO

Y wranglers faced tough competition in the second annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo event against Montana, Washington, Oregon, Utah, and Canadian teams. A team composed of six men who competed in calf roping, bareback and saddle bronc riding, Brama bull riding and bulldogging. BYU girl wranglers placed high in the barrel racing events.

SPIKERS TROUNCE TEAMS

Volleyball fans anticipated the 1967-68 season as the team faced the toughest schedule they had ever encountered. The Cougars made six trips this year to play in the keenest competition in the U.S. The team did well in these outings by defeating Santa Barbara, San Diego, Southern California and the defending Canadian champions, British Columbia. The Cougars sponsored two invitationals. They met and defeated teams from Salt Lake and other local areas and then edged the Oakland Fourth Ward team 3-2 to win both meets.

PEP SQUAD PUSH

Brigham Young University, recognized for its athletic prowess, was also noted for its spirited home crowds sparked into action by the pep units of 1967-68. The pep squad included the cheerleaders, song leaders, and flag-twirlers along with the Cougar mascot, "Cosmo." Noted for his antics throughout any contest, "Cosmo" helped build enthusiasm by mingling with the crowds and participating in yells. The cheerleaders aided "Cosmo" in the pranks portion of the games and were remembered for their five man "collapsing tower" and their Cougar spell-out. The flag-twirlers and songleaders thrilled audiences with their swift moving, synchronized routines. The pep groups traveled out of state with various teams to boost moral and to act as representatives of BYU. They were selected for their genuine enthusiasm, appearance and capability.

INTRAMURALS

Students had wonderful opportunities to develop their physical bodies through active participation in Intramurals. As was expected, competition was greater this year than before. Many fine teams fought for the championship in football, basketball, skiing, and other sports. Intramural trophies were given to the winners.

GRADUATE CLASS

Graduates dipped into activities early in the year with a Splash at Utah Lake. Their wives also entered into many of the activities of the class with a few special things of their own such as a luncheon with Dr. Smith as the guest speaker.

Those with families were offered free babysitting facilities by the clubs Thea Alexis and Spurs; but frequently the children joined their parents at the free movies for popcorn and candy.

A new learning experience came to even the graduate as he listened to lectures given by Dr. Carol Channing and Dr. Lloyd A. Garrison. They also enjoyed an I.B.M. Symposium which spent an evening demonstrating computers and their various applications.

SENIOR CLASS

I will graduate in May. I will graduate in May. I will graduate . . ." Only a Senior can realize the importance of repeating that slogan at least three times a day. Even though most of the fourth year students were buried deep in determination to make this last year a satisfying one academically, they still had time to make 1967-68 year a memorable experience. The foremost accomplishment was the purchase of a statue of President Wilkinson, which they presented to the school as their class gift. Inventing a new twist to the Y-Day clean-up campaign, the seniors showed up en mass at Utah Lake and scoured the harbour area for garbage and debris. It was, class President Harry Johnson that said later, "a challenge to the powers that be to improve the bay as they have promised." The academic supremacy of this year's graduating seniors can easily be demonstrated by the fact that 75% of the students had jobs offered to them before graduation.

Senior Class Presidency: Douglas G. Hamilton, Vice-President; Mason D. Harrell, Jr., President; Phyllis Nuttall, Secretary.

JUNIOR CLASS

Off to a bad start at the first of the year with a low level of participation, the class of '69 finally snapped out of it. They successfully sponsored an Academics Emphasis Week, a Vietnam Inquiry Week, and a Make the "Y a better Place to Live" day. Coeds of the class served as guides for the parents and church officers who were visiting the campus during Conference week. The high point, however, was the production of the Junior Prom, the annual class ball in the spring of the year.

Junior Week entertains students with impromptu music.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Although weighted down by the traditional Albatross known as the "Sophomore Slump," the class of '70 had a tremendous year. The Sophomore Cotillion was termed a "resounding success" by class president Steve Mann. The class entry in the Homecoming Parade was built on a revolving truck bed which won a unanimous first place victory. The class demonstrated their humanitarian character when it sponsored the "Clothes for Orphans". Everyone who saw it will remember it was an amateur night of satire on Decent-American style of living.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The 1967-68 year will be the "year of the Frosh!" shouted the Orientation Week signs. They must have had some effect. The Freshmen managed a second place trophy in the Homecoming parade with their entry depicting a Cougar dancing on the grave of a wildcat. This was followed by an overwhelming victory in the class competition week, the high point of which was a win over the seniors in the annual tug-o-war contest. Although the official class entry in Skits-o-Frantic failed to take top honors, it was a well written and executed satire on women suffrage. Probably the most well-remembered event of the year was the Frosh picnic, a new innovation that is bound to stay on the social events calendar. This has been the year of the Frosh!

(Left) Steve Wilcox, Executive Administrator; Dave Sanderson, Business Manager; Lyn Burmeister, Executive Secretary to President; Dave Clemens, Executive Adviser. (Below, Front Row) Andrea Gentry, Social Activities; Chris Boxwell, Senator; Randa Berrett, Historian; Susan Broadhead, Girl's Athletics. (Second Row) Steve Margetts, Boy's Athletics; Bob Elliot, Special Projects; Paul Thompson, Lyceums and Forums; Jeff Cain, Academics. Surround the self with a multi-faceted and modern academic mileu,

Loosen the manacles of the mind with diversion, and beauty,

And the man will emerge as a harmonious whole.

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

The Universe photographers for their help in completing the book at the final deadline:
Stan Macbean, Mike Robinson, Wayne Robinson, Cal Hoe, Robert Holt, Jeri Bowen, Brent Archibald (lab technician), and Pierre Hathaway.

Jeff Delia, Craig Fotheringham, and James Vorrhies for photography help.

Orson Haynie, Beverly Robertson, Elizabeth Galloway, and Leona Yea for their help in copy, secretarial work, book sales, and distribution.

Don Thorpe, photo director, for his photography especially in the introduction and conclusion and of course the most important picture taken—the cover.

Dwight Miller for doing most of the picture printing and lab work.

Kathryn Lewis for help with copy in the introduction and conclusion and Colleen Allen who was directly responsible for that copy.

Deseret News for the pictures of General Authorities and First Presidency, pages 28-29.

Lance Turner and Graphic Arts for their help on the cover.

Jack E. Garrard, Editor of the Deseret Church News for his consideration.

Wheelwright Lithograph for the color separations.

Mountain States Bindery for making our cover.

Nilan Beardall and his staff of Data Processing for their work both in the classes section and the index.

The BYU Press for limitless patience: Frank Haymore, Delvar Pope, Dale Howells, Bill
Stone, Charles Pope, Reid Pulver, Larry Bohner, Ina Roberts, D. E. Alexander, Bill
Butler, Theron Mitchell, Kenneth Dowd, Robert Unversaw, LeRoy Barkdull, Dean Cox, Marvin Anderson, and Gary Griffin.

Muriel Thole and the Cashier's Office and Bill Sampson and the Registration Office for their help in the sales of our book.

The Photo Studio: Nancy Gardner, Jim Walker, Jerry Rogers,
Lucille Taylor, Lynn Palmer, Mike Lauritzen, Crystal Dunn, Leon Woodward, Marge
Neuherth, Julie LeBaron, Mary Ellen Ferrin, Marjorie Norris, and Martin Empey.

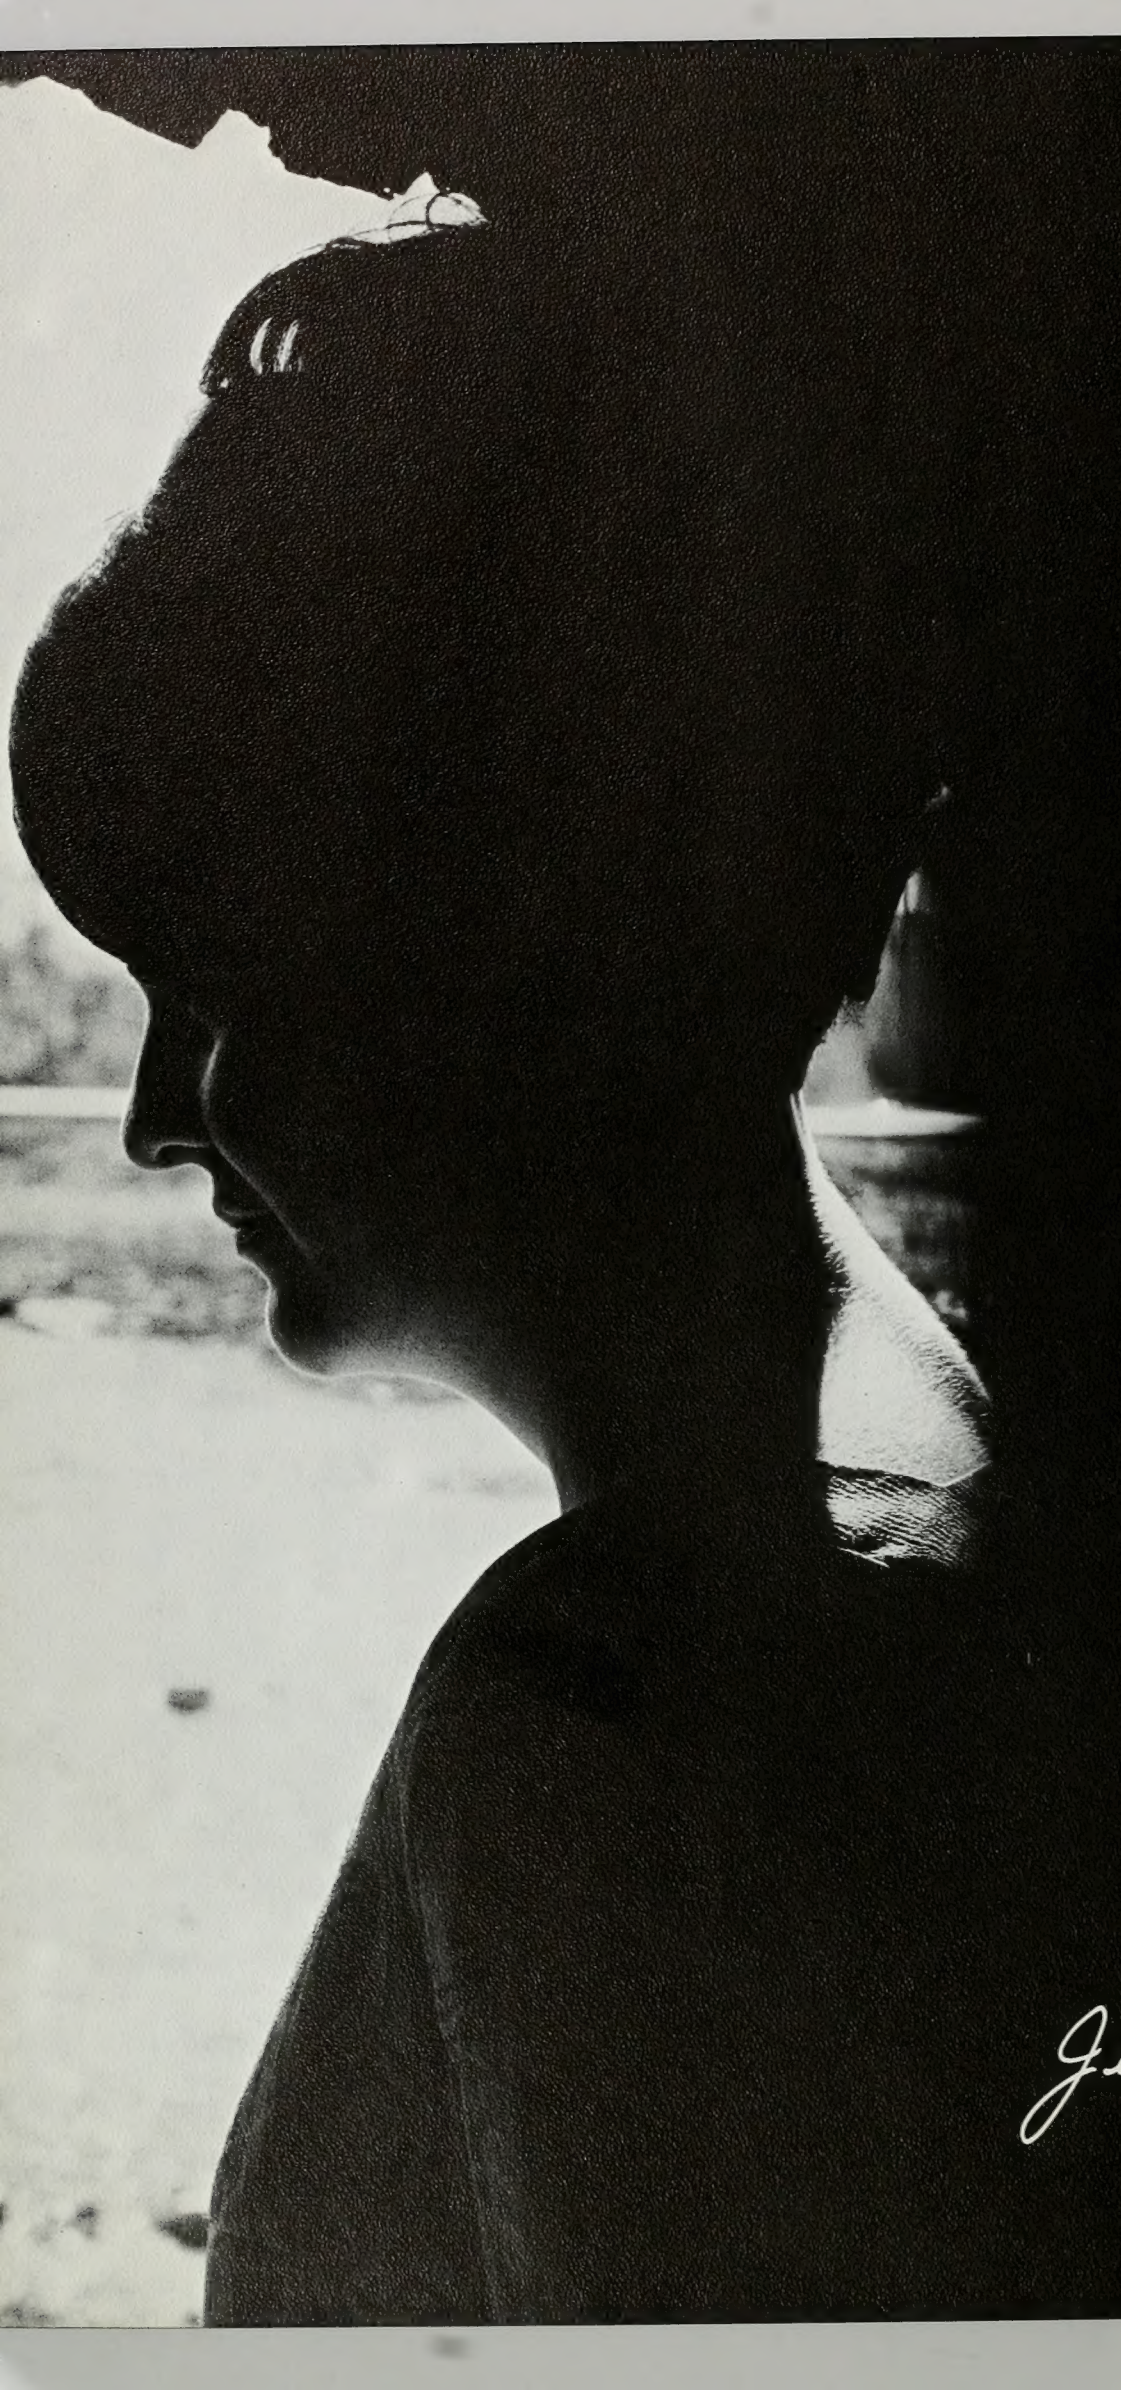

Sondra Grisard and Marilyn George for financial help, contracts, and paper work.

The night watchmen for their cheerfulness when we needed it: Gordon Platt and Ralph Rolley.

Wally Barrus for the special effect photography on the endsheets and the table of contents

The friends, family, roommates, and staff of the editor for tolerance and endurance.

NOTES FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK CALENDAR:

Sept. 29: Talk to Bro. F. about budget. Oct. 2: Deadlines—minutes from last meeting and agenda for next—page cards to Sondra. Oct. 5: I love photographers, it's people I can't stand. Oct. 8: Grads out of order alphabetically—change them. Oct. 31: All American story in Universe. Nov. 15: Cover due. Nov. 26: Note to Max Wheelwright about color. Dec. 13: Progress report meeting missed—layouts for organizations due by Friday, Dec. 15: First deadline—64 pages. Jan. 3: Letter head design at Graphic Arts. Jan. 4: My birthday—talk to Bro. F. about L.C.'s pay-check—check with Jamie, Kim, Marilyn, Leone, Liz, Susan about staff meeting. Jan. 5: Wonder if I should see a counselor. Jan. 11: Memo to Lance Turner and Frank Haymore. Jan. 26: Registration badge for Don—We've lost the color slide of the Brigham Young statue. Jan. 29: B. Young statue—where is it?! Color to press. Jan. 30: Why doesn't any of our copy fit? Jan. 31: Classes start. Feb. 2: B. Young statute for introduction? Feb. 6: Note: Ron F. in the Fielhouse, U of U for tickets for Gary S. Feb. 12: Color pix of statue. Feb. 14: Let Don take a gander at the ROTC pix. Feb. 15: Ask Don about color B. Young statue. Feb. 16: R.M.C.—Mt. States Bindery. Feb. 27: HELP! Feb. 28: Call Mt. States. Mar. 7: Call F. Haymore about the cover. Mar. 11: Cover. Mar. 26: Go to SLC to find B. Young statue. Mar. 27: Found B. Young statue!! mixed up with conclusion. April 1: Good grief—it's April. April 5: When will it ever end?! April 12: The presses are finally rolling.

That's it in a nutshell—the disappointments, the unorganization, the worries, the countless details, the frustrations, the unappreciated work, the pressures, the classes failed, the arguments . . . But, oh, what a good experience! There was more than enough compensation for the hard struggle of sending a 496-page book to press. There was the staff, everyone of them different, talented, tempormental, and loony—they had to be loony to stay up all night, night after night, and work on a yearbook that is going to sit on a shelf for 100 years. There was the satisfaction of having a job done—not perfectly—far from perfectly—but as perfectly as we could make it. Then there was the contribution of the book itself, one which I sincerely hope represents BYU and its dedication to the "Education of the Whole Man."

That's all I can say except a final thanks to those who helped in the production of this publication.

Jeanne Woolfenden
